Implementing Outcomes Assessment Promise And Perils:

Implementing Outcomes Assessment Trudy W. Banta and Associates, 1988-09-30 The assessment planning committee is usually not granted the luxury of sufficient time to satisfactorily resolve all its questions and concerns The pressure to do something is too great to permit long delays in beginning to collect some kind of data on program effectiveness We have used ad hoc procedures and invalid instruments because we have not had the time to seek a strong theoretical base for our work It is time now near the end of the initial decade of implementation to take stock of where we have been what we have accomplished and where we should go next in strengthening our approaches to assessment Several of the authors in this volume of New Directions for Institutional Research have written previously about the promise of reassessment We have not lost sight of that feature But herein optimism is tempered with realism Along with the promise some of the perils surrounding assessment are identified and discussed This is the 59th issue of New Directions for Institutional Research For more information on the series please see the Journals and Periodicals page

The Professoriate: Challenges and Promises Paul V. Bredson, Jay Paredes Scribner, 1998-04-28 The 1995 NCPEA Yearbook is organized into five major sections The first The Landscapes of Change Challenges for Professors of Educational Administration contains four chapters that frame the major themes and issues of the 1994 conference In Section 2 Educational Leadership and Development Program Theoretical Perspectives the authors explore theoretical lenses for examining the preparation of educational leaders and the development of educational administration programs Section 3 Responding to New Realities Program Development in Educational Administration contains detailed descriptions of emerging educational realities that have begun to trigger program changes and innovations in departments of educational leadership at six institutions Rethinking and Revisioning Teaching and Learning to prepare Educational Leaders Section 4 offers five excellent vignettes of changes and challenges for professors in creating new teaching and learning environments for themselves and their students In the final section Policies Programs and Practices Investigations in Educational Administration six chapters relate the finds of researchers using very different research designs and methods The implications for professors of educational administration and for all educational stakeholders are discussed Enhancing Assessment in Higher Education Tammie Cumming,M. David Miller,2023-07-03 Assessment and accountability are now inescapable features of the landscape of higher education and ensuring that these assessments are psychometrically sound has become a high priority for accrediting agencies and therefore also for higher education institutions Bringing together the higher education assessment literature with the psychometric literature this book focuses on how to practice sound assessment This volume provides comprehensive and detailed descriptions of tools for and approaches to assessing student learning outcomes in higher education The book is guided by the core purpose of assessment which is to enable faculty administrators and student affairs professionals with the information they need to increase student learning by making changes in policies curricula and other programs The book is divided into three sections overview assessment in higher education and case studies The central section looks at direct and indirect measures of student learning and how to assure the validity reliability and fairness of both types The first six chapters the first two sections alternate chapters written by experts in assessment in higher education and experts in psychometrics The remaining three chapters are applications of assessment practices in three higher education institutions Finally the book includes a glossary of key terms in the field A Co Publication with AAC U and AIR Using Evidence of Student Learning to Improve Higher Education George D. Kuh,Stanley O. Ikenberry,Natasha A. Jankowski,Timothy Reese Cain,Peter T. Ewell,Pat Hutchings,Jillian Kinzie,2015-01-20 American higher education needs a major reframing of student learning outcomes assessment Dynamic changes are underway in American higher education New providers emerging technologies cost concerns student debt and nagging doubts about quality all call out the need for institutions to show evidence of student learning From scholars at the National Institute for Learning Outcomes Assessment NILOA Using Evidence of Student Learning to Improve Higher Education presents a reframed conception and approach to student learning outcomes assessment The authors explain why it is counterproductive to view collecting and using evidence of student accomplishment as primarily a compliance activity Today s circumstances demand a fresh and more strategic approach to the processes by which evidence about student learning is obtained and used to inform efforts to improve teaching learning and decision making Whether you re in the classroom an administrative office or on an assessment committee data about what students know and are able to do are critical for guiding changes that are needed in institutional policies and practices to improve student learning and success Use this book to Understand how and why student learning outcomes assessment can enhance student accomplishment and increase institutional effectiveness Shift the view of assessment from being externally driven to internally motivated Learn how assessment results can help inform decision making Use assessment data to manage change and improve student success Gauging student learning is necessary if institutions are to prepare students to meet the 21st century needs of employers and live an economically independent civically responsible life For assessment professionals and educational leaders Using Evidence of Student Learning to Improve Higher Education offers both a compelling rationale and practical advice for making student learning outcomes assessment more effective and efficient

Assessing Communication Education
 William G. Christ, 2013-11-05 Designed as a handbook this text provides media speech public speaking interpersonal small group and organizational communication and theatre educators with both the theoretical and practical ammunition to fight the assessment battles on their campuses The philosophical implications of accountability are balanced with concrete specific and usable assessment strategies Stressing student faculty course program department and institutional assessment this book's aim is to provide in one place information that will help diverse and complex communication programs face the growing challenges in assessment The book is divided into three sections background and foundational information for assessment broad assessment strategies that apply to a variety of media speech and theatre courses and programs and context specific assessment strategies While covering a host of topics it provides an overview of assessment and suggests how it might impact communication education discusses the elements of program assessment and how linkage of mission statements with outcomes can lead to strong innovative programs compares and contrasts regional association requirements and presents a specific how to strategy for writing outcome statements discusses teaching evaluation and argues that we need to identify the what of teaching before we try to measure the how looks at creative ways for formative and summative course evaluation that starts with the creation of an explicit syllabus discusses the use of capstone courses as a way of evaluating not only their major but also how students have integrated their total educational experience suggests the variety of ways that interpersonal communication can be assessed and calls for future research that stresses the knowledge component of learning reports on a strategy for developing small group communication assessment measures and provides media speech and theatre faculty and administrators with the background understanding and tools to build stronger programs and develop better courses and educational experiences for their students

Assessment and Accountability in Reference Work
 Susan Griswold Blandy, Lynne M. Martin, Mary L. Strife, 2019-12-05 This book first published in 1992 explores the issue of library assessment methods and the impact of accountability on the delivery of reference services It is a call for librarians to actively adopt performance measures and learn how to work with the results It analyses a wealth of assessment methods that librarians can use to collect data and create standards that are valid practical and useful in accounting for reference services Some of the methodologies described include quantitative measures qualitative measures patron surveys questionnaires interviews case studies peer review unobtrusive testing and even updating the library's policies and procedures manual as a way to evaluate services A variety of assessment methods for reference services are applied to all types of libraries Chapters in Assessment and Accountability in Reference Work describe how a small town library defends the relevancy of its services at a town meeting how a special library documents the value of its services to cost conscious management and how academic libraries can become involved in university and college level assessment programs Librarians seeking to develop their own assessment methods will benefit from practical advice on assessing diversity in the library and helpful suggestions for improving reference services through training workshops peer coaching and changes in organizational climate Assessing Learners in Higher Education Sally Brown, Peter Knight, 2012-12-06 This study examines the factors influencing the changes in teaching assessment at the higher education level and studies the range of techniques and methods available to the assessor It evaluates the effectiveness of certain methods and discusses their implementation Building a Scholarship of Assessment Trudy W. Banta and Associates, 2002-10-16 In this book leading experts in the field examine the current state of assessment practice and scholarship explore what the future holds for assessment and offer guidance to help educators meet these new challenges The contributors root assessment squarely in several related disciplines to provide an overview of assessment practice and scholarship that will prove useful to both the seasoned educator and those new to assessment practice Ultimately Building a Scholarship of Assessment will help convince skeptics who still believe outcomes assessment is a fad and will soon fade away that this is an interdisciplinary area with deep roots and an exciting future Handbook of Research on Assessment Technologies, Methods, and Applications in Higher Education Schreiner, Christopher S., 2009-05-31 This research publication accommodates in depth studies that elucidate both the prospects and problems of learning assessment in higher education Provided by publisher National Assessment of College Student Learning Addison Greenwood, 1993 This report explores the issues and concerns related to the development of a process to assess college student learning Its primary focus is the attainment of National Education Goal 5 5 by the year 2000 which reads The proportion of college graduates who demonstrate an advanced ability to think critically communicate effectively and solve problems will increase substantially The primary source of information for this report came from a set of 15 papers commissioned as background for a study design workshop held in November 1991 45 reviews of the papers and the proceedings of the study design workshop National Assessment of College Student Learning Issues and Concerns Chapter 1 addresses what it means to undertake a national assessment of college student learning and raises issues inherent in such a national assessment Chapter 2 considers what specific skills should be assessed critical thinking skills assessment in the workplace assessment in the colleges basic skills and general intellectual skills literacy and writing assessments and necessary research Chapter 3 raises six standards and other measurement issues 1 relationship of standards to the task of defining a national assessment of college student learning 2 historical context for standards 3 relationship of standards of National Assessment of College Student Learning to the overall charge of Goal 5 4 the testing of subject specific content domains 5 reasonableness of a single set of standards 6 and the debate over portfolio assessment and its relationship to standards and values issues Contains over 450 footnotes GLR Assessing Media Education William G. Intelligence Policy Angela Browne-Miller, 2012-12-06 The author examines the numerous facets of implicit intelligence policies those unspoken directives that often profoundly influence social and educational policies and their impact on policies regarding measured and actual mental ability

The States and Public Higher Education Policy Donald E. Heller, 2011-09-01 Affordability access and accountability have long been among the central challenges facing higher education and they remain so today Here Donald E Heller and other higher education scholars and practitioners explore the current debates surrounding these key issues As students and their families struggle to meet rising tuition prices and as state funding for higher education dwindles policymakers confront issues of affordability within state and institutional budgets Changing demographics and challenges to affirmative action complicate the admissions process even as colleges and universities seek to diversify enrollments And issues of institutional accountability have forced the restructuring of higher education governing boards and a reexamination of the role of public trustees in governance This collection analyzes how issues of affordability access and accountability influence the way in which state governments approach monitor and set public higher education policy The contributors examine the latest research on pressing challenges explore how states are coping with these challenges and consider what the future holds for public postsecondary education in the United States Media Education Assessment Handbook William G.

Christ,2020-07-24 Assessing media education is a formidable task because both assessment and media education are complex and controversial concepts Assessment which can take place at the individual student class sequence program department or unit and university levels is questioned in terms of reliability validity relevance and cost Media education which has been challenged at a number of schools finds faculty and administrators in the midst of soul searching about how to clearly articulate its missions and purposes to a broader audience Departments are under increasing national state and institutional pressure to get assessment procedures carried out quickly but there is an obvious danger in rushing to implement assessment strategies before establishing what is essential in media education In communication education in general the what of assessment is often discussed in terms of skills attitudes affect values and knowledge People assess students to determine what they know think feel value and can do Here it is suggested that one of the places to start defining what students should learn from their media education is by identifying outcomes Outcomes can be assessed in a variety of ways but first they need to be developed and clearly articulated Assessment for Excellence Alexander W. Astin,Anthony Lising Antonio,2012 Assessment for Excellence introduces a philosophy of assessment based upon the talent development concept Colleges and universities prioritize developing the talents of students and faculty rather than gathering the most resources and status for their institutions The Input
