Bonebakker, M. Fishbein, 2012-12-31 A Reader of Classical Arabic Literature is one of a very small group of resources in English for the teaching of intermediate and advanced level classical Arabic Based on his lecture notes the late Seeger Bonebakker designed a superb teaching text which he then asked his UCLA colleague Michael Fishbein to help him annotate and augment The result is a truly valuable reader one used widely in the United States and Europe featuring judicious and instructive selections from such works as Ibn al Qifti s Inbah al ruwat al Tanukhi s al Faraj ba d al shidda and al Dhahabi s Siyar a lam al nubala among others Quranic Arabic Marijn van Putten, 2022-02-14 What was the language of the Quran like and how do we know Today the Quran is recited in ten different reading traditions whose linguistic details are mutually incompatible This work uncovers the earliest linguistic layer of the Quran It demonstrates that the text was composed in the Hijazi vernacular dialect and that in the centuries that followed different reciters started to classicize the text to a new linguistic ideal the ideal of the arabiyyah This study combines data from ancient Quranic manuscripts the medieval Arabic grammarians and ample data from the Quranic reading traditions to arrive at new insights into the linguistic history of Quranic Arabic The Topkapı Qur'ân Manuscript H.S. 32 Rami Hussein Halaseh, 2024-09-02 This study presents a comprehensive and systematic examination of a revered Qur n manuscript commonly attributed to the third Islamic Caliph Uthm n b Aff n d 35 656 housed at the Topkap Palace Museum in Istanbul T rkiye identified as H S 32 Halaseh offers a meticulous analysis of the manuscript s codicological paleographic and orthographic characteristics explores its emendations production date and traces the manuscript's journey first to Cairo and then to Istanbul. Additionally, the study examines and categorizes its textual variants including what are considered today as non-canonical and some that are not previously attested in the major Qur'anic literature. This work not only sheds light on the transmission of the Qur'anic text but also establishes a comprehensive framework for researching Qur'anic manuscripts. By integrating methods for examining these manuscripts as both physical artifacts and scriptural texts, Halaseh presents a holistic methodological approach to their scholarly study.

The Qur'ān Karim Samji, 2018-03-19. The corpus coranicum eludes familiar categories and resists strict labels. No doubt the threads woven into the fabric are exceptionally textured, varied, and complex. Accordingly, the introductory chapter of this book demonstrates the application of form criticism to the text. Chapter two then presents a form critical study of the prayer genre. It identifies three productive formulae and addresses distinct social settings and forms associated with them. The third chapter begins by defining the liturgy genre vis-à-vis prayer in the Qur'an. Drawing a line between the hymn and litany forms, this chapter treats each in turn. Chapter four considers the genre classified as wisdom literature. It identifies sapiential formulae and sheds light on wisdom contexts. The fifth chapter examines the narrative genre writ large. It also surveys narrative blocks of the long saga. The subsequent chapter on the proclamation genre inspects a set of vocative formulae which occurs in the messenger situation. The concluding chapter looks at the corpus through synchronic and diachronic lenses. In the end, Qur'anic genres encapsulate the form-critical elements of formulae, forms, and settings, as well as an historical dimension.

What the Koran Really Says Ibn Warraq, 2010-10-29. This excellent collection of critical commentaries on the Koran brings together outstanding articles by noted scholars from the beginning of the 20th century to recent times These important studies as well as the editor's own lengthy introduction show that little about the text of the Koran can be taken at face value Among the fascinating topics discussed is evidence that early Muslims did not understand Muhammad's original revelation that the ninth century explosion of literary activity was designed to organize and make sense of an often incoherent text and that much of the traditions surrounding Muhammad's life were fabricated long after his death in an attempt to give meaning to the Koran Also of interest are suggestions that Coptic and other Christian sources heavily influenced much of the text and that some passages reflect an essential background reaching back to the community of the Dead Sea Scrolls This valuable compilation will be a welcome resource to interested lay readers and scholars alike

Textual Criticism and Qur'an Manuscripts Keith E. Small, 2011-04-22 This unique work takes a method of textual analysis commonly used in studies of ancient Western and Eastern manuscripts and applies it to twenty one early Qur'an manuscripts Keith Small analyzes a defined portion of text from the Qur'an with two aims in view to recover the earliest form of text for this portion and to trace the historical development of this portion to the current form of the text of the Qur'an Small concludes that though a significantly early edited form of the consonantal text of the Qur'an can be recovered its original forms of text cannot be obtained He also documents the further editing that was required to record the Arabic text of the Qur'an in a complete phonetic script as well as providing an explanation for much of the development of various recitation systems of the Qur'an This controversial thought provoking book provides a rigorous examination into the history of the Qur'an and will be of great interest to Quranic Studies scholars

Language Contact, Colonial Administration, and the Construction of Identity in Ancient Israel Samuel L. Boyd, 2021-02-15 In Language Contact Colonial Administration and the Construction of Identity in Ancient Israel Boyd addresses a long standing critical issue in biblical scholarship how does the production of the Bible relate to its larger historical linguistic and cultural settings in the ancient Near East Using theoretical advances in the study of language contact he examines in detail the sociolinguistic landscape during the Assyrian Babylonian and Achaemenid periods Boyd then places the language and literature of Ezekiel and Isaiah in this sociolinguistic landscape

Language Contact Colonial Administration and the Construction of Identity in Ancient Israel offers the first book length incorporation of language contact theory with data from the Bible As a result it allows for a reexamination of the nature of contact between biblical authors and a series of Mesopotamian empires beginning with Assyria The Harvard Semitic Monographs series publishes volumes from the Harvard Museum of the Ancient Near East Other series offered by Brill that publish volumes from the Museum include Harvard Semitic Studies and Studies in the Archaeology and History of the Levant <https://hmane.harvard.edu/publications>

Life and Mortality in Ugaritic Matthew McAfee, 2019-06-07 While topics such as death funerary cult and the netherworld have received considerable scholarly attention in the context of the Ugaritic textual corpus the related concept of life has been relatively neglected Life and Mortality in Ugaritic takes as its premise that one cannot grasp the significance of mwt to die without first having wrestled with the concept of yy to live In this book Matthew McAfee takes a lexical approach to the study of life and death in the Ugaritic textual corpus He identifies and analyzes the Ugaritic terms most commonly used to talk about life and mortality in order to construct a more representative framework of the ancient perspective on these topics and he concludes by synthesizing the results of this lexical study into a broader literary discussion that considers among other things the implications for our understanding of the first millennium

Katumuwa stele from Zincirli McAfee's study complements previous scholarly work in this area which has tended to rely on conceptual and theoretical treatment of mortality and advances the discussion by providing a more focused lexical analysis of the Ugaritic terms in question It will be of interest to Semitic scholars and those who study Ugaritic in particular in addition to students of the culture of the ancient Levant

Hardy II, Matthew McAfee, 2024-02-01 Learning any language is no small task not least one that sounds as unusual as Hebrew does to most English speakers ears Going Deeper with Biblical Hebrew primarily aims to equip second year grammar students of biblical Hebrew to read the Hebrew Scriptures Using a variety of linguistic approaches H H Hardy II and Matthew McAfee offer a comprehensive and up to date textbook for professors and students

The Cross of Christ W. Richard Oakes Jr., 2020-10-06 The Cross of Christ Islamic Perspectives takes an in depth look at all of the classical Muslim scholars considered to have affirmed Jesus crucifixion Each chapter provides the important historical and intellectual context for the commentators As well critical new translations of key texts are provided offering important access to vital documents The author argues that rather than affirming the historicity of the crucifixion the Isma'ilis tend to assume its historicity in order to advance important Isma'ili doctrines The author also contends that the commentators who explored ways to affirm the crucifixion nonetheless made extensive use of traditional substitution legends that deny the crucifixion In order to orient the reader the book starts by introducing the reader to the Jesus of the Qur'an. It then compares Him to the Jesus of the New Testament and the Jesus of para-biblical literature. Upon this Qur'anic skeleton the author layers a myriad of details found in seventeen works of classic Islamic literature so that a truly unique, authentic and authoritative Jesus of Islam emerges.

Expect the Unexpected Stefano Cotrozzi, 2010-04-29 This monograph on biblical linguistics is a highly specialized pragmatic investigation of the controversial question of foregrounding the deviation from some norm or convention in Old Testament narratives. The author presents and examines the two main sources of pragmatic foregrounding: events or states deviating from well-established schemata; structures of reader expectation that can be manipulated by the narrator to highlight specific chunks of discourse and evaluative devices which are used by the narrator to indicate to the reader the point of the story and direct its interpretation. Cotrozzi critiques the particular evaluative device known as the historic present, a narrative strategy that employs the present tense to describe past events. He tests two main theories that support this device by using a cross-linguistic model of the historical present drawing upon a variety of languages. Cotrozzi ultimately refutes these theories with a thorough examination and detailed refutation. He concludes with a study of a particular Hebrew verb as a particular marker of represented perception, a technique whereby the character's perceptions are expressed directly from its point of view.

Time: Language, Cognition & Reality Kasia M. Jaszczolt, Louis de Saussure, 2013-05-02 This book considers linguistic and mental representations of time. Prominent linguists and philosophers from all over the world examine and report on recent work on the representation of temporal reference, the interaction of the temporal information from tense, aspect, modality, temporal adverbials and context, and the representation of the temporal relations between events and states as well as between facts, propositions, sentences and utterances. They link this to current research on the cognitive processing of temporal reference, linguistic and philosophical semantics, psychology and anthropology. The book is divided into three parts: Time, Tense and Temporal Reference in Discourse; Time and Modality and Cognition; and Metaphysics of Time. It will interest scholars and advanced students of time and temporal reference in linguistics, philosophy, anthropology, psychology and cognitive science.
