Rawdon Wilson, 2002-05 Imagine a disgusting experience Now think about your response What was it about the moment that made you turn your head that led your lip to curl and nose to wrinkle Disgust has many triggers some obvious others less so What disgusts us is never irrevocably fixed and certain It changes from culture to culture and even at times within a culture This fluidity makes the term disgust at once deadly simple and extremely complex In The Hydra's Tale Robert Rawdon Wilson treats the experience of disgust not from the perspective of the disgusting object in the world but from its representation Disgust marks either a slip over the border of the socially sanctioned or a struggle to keep someone or something from crossing that border Working through the spectrum of human response culture and art Wilson teases out the assumptions that underpin the disgust response The Nazi Hydra in America Glen Yeadon, 2008 This book exposes how US plutocrats launched Hitler then recouped Nazi assets to lay the post war foundations of a modern police state Fascists won WWII because they ran both sides Lays bare the tenacious roots of US fascism from robber baron days to Reichstag fire to the WTC atrocity and Homeland Security with a blow by blow account of the fascist take over of America's media Fighting Hydra-like Luxury Emanuela Zanda, 2013-11-20 From the Old Testament to Elizabethan England luxury has been morally condemned In Rome sumptuary laws laws controlling consumption seemed the only weapon to defeat hydra-like luxury the terrible monster that was weakening even the strongest citizens The first Roman sumptuary law the Lex Appia declared that no woman could possess more than a half ounce of gold wear a dress of different colours or ride in a carriage in any city unless for a public ceremony Laws listed how many different colours could be worn by members of different social classes peasants could wear one colour soldiers in the army could wear

two army officers could wear three and members of the royal family could wear seven A law passed by Emperor Aurelian stated that men couldn't wear shoes that were red yellow green or white and that only the emperor and his sons could wear red or purple shoes A variety of other laws limited how much people could spend on parties and how many people they could invite In this book Emanuela Zanda explores the purposes behind the enactment of such legislation in Rome during the Republic She engages with the historical literary polemic against luxury and focuses on government intervention in matters of extravagance by taking into consideration not only sumptuary laws but also other measures that dealt with self indulgence She addresses and answers a number of questions about what exactly the ruling class was trying to achieve about its real motivations and about the significance of the ideological discourse surrounding the enactment of these laws
