The Adult Learner Malcolm S. Knowles, Elwood F. Holton III, Richard A. Swanson, Petra A. Robinson, 2020-12-21 How do you tailor education to the learning needs of adults Do they learn differently from children How does their life experience inform their learning processes These were the questions at the heart of Malcolm Knowles pioneering theory of andragogy which transformed education theory in the 1970s The resulting principles of a self directed experiential problem centred approach to learning have been hugely influential and are still the basis of the learning practices we use today Understanding these principles is the cornerstone of increasing motivation and enabling adult learners to achieve The 9th edition of The Adult Learner has been revised to include Updates to the book to reflect the very latest advancements in the field The addition of two new chapters on diversity and inclusion in adult learning and andragogy and the online adult learner An updated supporting website This website for the 9th edition of The Adult Learner will provide basic instructor aids For each chapter there will be a PowerPoint presentation learning exercises and added study questions Revisions throughout to make it more readable and relevant to your practices If you are a researcher practitioner or student in education an adult learning practitioner training manager or involved in human resource development this is the definitive book in adult learning you should not be without Learning in Later Life Trish Hafford-Letchfield, 2016-06-17 Within the UK and Europe government legislation and policies concerned with demography have asserted a paradigmatic shift towards the increased engagement of older people with public services The philosophy of user involvement and co production within these contexts has become integral to finding ways in which to improve the wellbeing of older people and their experiences of ageing well Whilst this area has been steadily emerging within the educational field in relation to the lifelong learning of older people there has been a relative under theorization and a lack of empirical research however into the lifelong learning needs opportunities and experiences of those older people using social care who are typically marginalized from these debates and developments This book address this gap by paying specific attention to examining what opportunities might be present within care services and public services in general for older people using social care to capitalize on the skills and knowledge they might need to achieve more person centred support Through developing a debate and argument for the convergence of the lifelong learning agenda with social policy and social care its core argument focusses on the challenge of sustainability of the care and support of older people The author explores how social care could engage more meaningfully with concepts such as social capital and the challenges associated with achieving a genuine co productive approach towards the quality of experience of older people using social care This book will be an essential read for professionals working with older people in health and social care as well as those engaged with gerontology and ageing studies in education and practice
