Turner,2006-05-17 Sociology is experiencing what can only be described as hyperdifferentiation of theories there are now many approaches competing for attention in the intellectual arena From this perspective we should see a weeding out of theories to a small number but this is not likely to occur because each of the many theoretical perspectives has a resource base of adherents As a result theories in sociology do not compete head on with each other as much as they coexist This seminal reference work was brought together with an eye to capturing the diversity of theoretical activity in sociology specifically the forefront of theory Contributors describe what they themselves are doing right now rather than what others have done in the past The goal of this volume is to allow prominent theorists working in a variety of traditions who wouldn't usually come together to review their work The chapters in this volume represent a mix of theoretical orientations and strategies but these theories are diverse and represent the prominent theoretical discussions in sociology today Some areas included are Section I Theoretical Methodologies and Strategies Section II The Cultural Turn in Sociological Theorizing Section III Theorizing Interaction Processes Section IV Theorizing from the Systemic and Macrolevel Section V New Directions in Evolutionary Theorizing Section VI Theorizing on Power Conflict and Change Section VII Theorizing from Assumptions of Rationality This handbook will be of interest to those wanting a broad spectrum and overview of late 20th early 21st century sociological theory Thinking History Globally Diego Olstein,2014-11-04 The book brings together many recent trends in writing history under a common framework thinking history globally By thinking

Comparative and Global Framing of Enslavement Stephan Conermann, Youval Rotman, Ehud R. Toledano, Rachel Zelnick-Abramovitz, 2023-09-05. The study of enslavement has become urgent over the last two decades. Social scientists, legal scholars, human rights activists, and historians who study forms of enslavement in both modern and historical societies have sought and often achieved common conceptual grounds, thus forging a new perspective that comprises historical and contemporary forms of slavery. What could certainly be termed a turn in the study of slavery has also intensified awareness of enslavement as a global phenomenon, inviting a comparative, trans-regional approach across time and space. Though different aspects of enslavement in different societies and eras are discussed, each of the volume's three parts contributes to and has benefitted from a global perspective of enslavement. The chapters in Part One propose to structure the global examination of the theoretical, ideological, and methodological aspects of the global, local, and glocal. Part Two, Regional and Trans-regional Perspectives of the Global, presents through analyses of historical case studies the link between connectivity and mobility as a fundamental aspect of the globalization of enslavement. Finally, Part Three deals with personal points of view regarding the global, local, and glocal. Grosso modo, the contributors do not only present their case studies but attempt to demonstrate what insights and added value explanations they gain from positioning their work vis-à-vis a broader big picture.

Print Culture and Peripheries in Early Modern Europe Benito Rial Costas, 2012-11-09. Despite the fact that if only by number, small and peripheral cities played an important role in fifteenth and sixteenth-century European print culture, book history has mainly been dominated by monographs on individual big book centres. Through a number of specific case studies which deploy a variety of methods and a wide range of sources, this volume seeks to enhance our understanding of printing and the book trade in small and peripheral European cities in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries and to emphasize the necessity of new research for the study of print culture in such cities.

Global Inequalities in World-Systems Perspective Manuela Boatca, Andrea Komlosy, Hans-Heinrich Nolte, 2017-09-22 During its 500 year history the modern world system has seen several shifts in hegemony Yet since the decline of the U S in the 1970s no single core power has attained a hegemonic position in an increasingly polarized world As income inequalities have become more pronounced in core countries especially in the U S and the U K global inequalities emerged as a new topic of social scientific scholarship ignoring the constant move toward polarization that has been characteristic of the entire modern world system At the same time the rise of new states most notably the BRICS and the relative economic growth of particular regions especially East Asia have prompted speculations about the next hegemon that largely disregard both the longue dur e of hegemonic shifts and the constraints that regional differentiations place on the concentration of capital and geopolitical power in one location Authors in this book place the issue of rising inequalities at the center of their analyses They explore the concept and reality of semiperipheries in the 21st century world system the role of the state and of transnational migration in current patterns of global stratification types of catching up development and new spatial configurations of inequality in Europe s Eastern periphery as well as the prospects for the Global Left in the new systemic order The book links novel theoretical debates on the rise of global inequalities to methodologically innovative approaches to the urgent task of addressing them
