The Hundred Year Stretch and Beyond Doris Chapin Bailey, 2016-05-12 At least twice in the past thirty years I have described to my grandson Aaron what I consider to be a remarkable fact of personal history If I stand with my arms outstretched and hold my right hand with my daughter Jans left and she holds her right hand with Aarons left and then my mother Lena holds my left hand with her right hand and my grandfather James Henry Andersen her father holds her left hand with his right hand there will be five immediately related people standing in a row stretching one hundred years My grandfather was born in 1879 to my left and my grandson was born in 1979 to my right I find this fact starkly but exhilaratingly interesting from a number of different perspectives

the world Animal Entanglements Erika Cudworth, 2024-04-01 This book provides an insight into the everyday lives and experiences of people who live with dogs as companions and glimpses aspects of the lives of the dogs who share their homes It is framed sociologically and as such considers the various forms of power relations which shape the lives of those kept as pets and their human owners In recounting stories of companion humans and dogs the co constituted quality of life is clear However while dogs as agential beings with needs desires and a point of view are able to shape outcomes and change aspects of their lived experience the world they inhabit is profoundly geared to human inhabitants and the most privileged ones at that The book revisits the notion of pet keeping as the interplay between domination and affection arguing that these do not exist as a continuum but a mesh of complex relations played out in the use of homespace in the kitchen the bedroom the in the public world of park and the street Those living with dog companions as well as the dogs themselves find their lives are muddled both literally and figuratively boundaries are tested and recast and the complications of inter species cohabitation negotiated by all parties Through an innovative theoretical contribution Cudworth conceptualizes human relations with companion dogs in terms of complex social relations that involve both systemic forms of domination as well as nonhuman agency in shaping social relations and social forms Mark Lane Express ,1921 Psychology Express:
