Curriculum studies is at the core of the educational endeavour and informs what happens in every educational institution As a result of its criticality or primacy every educational practitioner appears to claim expertise in curriculum matters and what direction the field should take In Africa the curriculum practitioner has been given little or no space to theorise and orient the future of the field in Africa Instead European and American curriculum theorists have been allowed to exert a marked influence on the nature and direction of African theoretical and philosophical underpinnings This situation raises fundamental questions about the future of education in Africa and this volume explores and answers these questions relating to curriculum theory theorising and the theoriser by breaking traditions and experimenting on alternative approaches and pathways Contributors are Aruna Ankiah Gangadeen Lynn Biggs Eunice Champion Taryn Isaacs De Vega Kehdinga George Fomunyam Nadaraj Govender Angela James Simon Bheki Khoza Noma China Kubashe Nehemiah Latolla Jacqui L ck Dumisa Celumusa Mabuza Simeon Maile Suriamurthee Maistry Makhulu A Makumane Zvisinei Moyo Cedric Bheki Mpungose Pascal Nadal Blanche Ntombizodwa Ndlovu Christopher Ndlovu Emily Mangwaya Ndlovu Nellie Ngcongco James Deirdre Pratt Mukhtar Raban Nolundi Radana Makhosazana Edith Shoba Mahlapahlapana Themane Molaodi Tshelane and Denise Zinn

The Concept of Care in Curriculum Studies Jung-Hoon Jung, 2015-12-22 The question at the heart of the book is what might an education with self care and care for others look like Juxtaposing self understanding through the method of currere and the historical character of hakbeolism a concept indigenous to Korea referring to a kind of social status people achieve based on a shared academic background this book articulates how subjective reconstruction of self in conjunction with historical study can be transformative and how this can be extended to social change Articulating how having one s own standard can be a way of making one s life a work of art the author looks at how Korean schooling exercises coercive care disconfirmation and the whip of love for the children s own good Emphasis is given to the internalized status of these practices in both students and teachers and to teachers and parents culpability not only in exercising but also in reproducing these practices through themselves Going beyond describing and analysing the educational problem of academic intellectual achievement oriented education based on aggressive competition this book suggests ways to address these issues through autobiography using the method of currere to reconstruct one s subjectivity and an ethic of care Trajectories in the Development of Modern School Systems Daniel Tröhler, Thomas Lenz, 2015-05-15 As contemporary education becomes increasingly tied to global economic power national school systems attempting to influence one another inevitably confront significant tensions caused by differences in heritage politics and formal structures Trajectories in the Development of Modern School Systems provides a comprehensive theoretical and empirical critique of the reform movements that seek to homogenize schooling around the world Informed by historical and sociological insight into a variety of nations and eras these in depth case studies reveal how and why sweeping convergent reform agendas clash with specific institutional policies practices and curricula Countering current theoretical models which fail to address the potential pressures born from these challenging isomorphic developments this book illuminates the cultural idiosyncrasies that both produce and problematize global reform efforts and offers a new way of understanding curriculum as a manifestation of national identity Curricular Conversations Margaret Macintyre Latta, 2013 Curricular Conversations is about play as a medium for teaching and learning that asks teachers and students to participate through adapting changing building and creating meaning Social Efficiency and Instrumentalism in Education James M. Magrini, 2014-04-03 Distinct among contemporary philosophical studies focused on education this book engages the history of phenomenological thought as it moves from philosophy proper the European phenomenological hermeneutic tradition through curriculum studies It thus presents the best of both worlds for the reader there is a play or movement from philosophy proper to educational philosophy and then back again in order to locate and explicate what is intimated suggested and in some cases left unsaid by educational philosophers This amounts to a work on education philosophy that elucidates through various permutations within the unique foci of each essay the general phenomenological theme of the fundamental ontology of the human being as primordial learner Reflecting his experience as scholar teacher and perennial learner the author suggests how research in phenomenology might prove beneficial to the enhancement of both the theoretical and practical aspects of education readers are invited to envision education as far more than merely a means by which to organize an effective learning experience in which knowledge is assimilated and skill sets are efficiently imparted but rather as a holistic and integrated process in which knowing acting and valuing are original ways of Being in the world motions of teaching and designing educational experiences This book was awarded the 2009 AERA Division B Curriculum Studies Outstanding Book Award Educating for Peace in a Time of Permanent War Paul R. Carr,Brad J.

Porfilio,2012-05-31 What is the meaning of peace why should we study it and how should we achieve it Although there are an increasing number of manuscripts curricula and initiatives that grapple with some strand of peace education there is nonetheless a dearth of critical cross disciplinary international projects books that examine peace education in conjunction with war and conflict Within this volume the authors contend that war military conflict violence are not a nebulous far away mysterious venture rather they argue that we are all collectively involved in perpetrating and perpetuating militarization conflict violence inside and outside of our own social circles Therefore education about and against war can be as liberating as it is necessary If war equates killing can our schools avoid engaging in the examination of what war is all about If education is not about peace then is it about war Can a society have education that willfully avoids considering peace as its central objective Can a democracy exist if pivotal notions of war and peace are not understood practiced advocated and ensconced in public debate These questions according to Carr and Porfilio and the contributors they have assembled merit a critical and extensive reflection This book seeks to provide a range of epistemological policy pedagogical curriculum and institutional analyses aimed at facilitating meaningful engagement toward a more robust and critical examination of the role that schools play and can play in framing war militarization and armed conflict and significantly the connection to peace

Autobiography of a Democratic Nation at Risk JoVictoria Nicholson-Goodman,2009 Reframing the curricular challenge educators face after a decade of school deform the books published in Peter Lang s Complicated Conversation series testify to the ethical demands of our time our place our profession In this resounding series of scholarly and pedagogical interventions into the nightmare that is the present we hear once again the sound of silence breaking supporting us to rearticulate our pedagogical convictions in this time of terrorism reframing curriculum as committed to the complicated conversation that is intercultural communication self understanding and global justice Reconceptualizing Plato's Socrates at the Limit of Education James M. Magrini,2016-11-25 Bridging the gap between interpretations of Third Way Platonic scholarship and phenomenological ontological scholarship this book argues for a unique ontological hermeneutic interpretation of Plato and Plato s Socrates Reconceptualizing Plato s Socrates at the Limit of Education offers a re reading of Plato and Plato s Socrates in terms of interpreting the practice of education as care for the soul through the conceptual lenses of phenomenology philosophical hermeneutics and ontological inquiry Magrini contrasts his re reading with the views of Plato and Plato s Socrates that dominate contemporary education which for the most part emerge through the rigid and reductive categorization of Plato as both a realist and idealist in philosophical foundations texts teacher education programs This view also presents what he terms the questionable Socrates as teacher model which grounds such contemporary educational movements as the Paideia Project which claims to incorporate through a scripted curriculum with Socratic lesson plans the so called Socratic Method into the Common Core State Standards Curriculum as a technical skill that can be taught and learned as part of the students critical thinking skills After a careful reading incorporating what might be termed a Third Way of reading Plato and Plato s Socrates following scholars from the Continental tradition Magrini concludes that a so called Socratic education would be nearly impossible to achieve and enact in the current educational milieu of standardization or neo Taylorism Social Efficiency However despite this he argues in the affirmative that there is much educators can and must learn from this non doctrinal re reading and re characterization of Plato and Plato s Socrates

Who Benefits From Special Education? Ellen A. Brantlinger, 2006-08-15 Who Benefits From Special Education Remediating Fixing Other People s Children addresses the negative consequences of labeling and separating education for students with disabilities the cultural biases inherent in the way that we view children s learning difficulties the social construction of disability the commercialization of special education and related issues The theme that unifies the chapters is that tension exists between professional ideology and practice and the wishes and expectations of the recipients of professional practice children adolescents and adults with disabilities and their families These voices have rarely taken center stage in formulating important decisions about the quality and characteristics of appropriate practice The dominant view in the field of special education has been that disability is a problem in certain children rather than an artifact that results from the general structure of schooling it does not take into consideration the voices of people with disabilities their families or their teachers Offering an alternative perspective this book deconstructs mainstream special education ideologies and highlights the personal perspectives of students families and front line professionals such as teachers and mental health personnel It is particularly relevant for special education disabilities studies graduate students and faculty and for readers in general education curriculum studies instruction theory and critical theory

Place, Race, and Identity Formation Ed Douglas McKnight, 2017-04-07 In this work of curriculum theory Ed Douglas McKnight addresses and explores the intersections between place with specific discussion of Kincheloe s and Pinar s conceptualization of place and identity and race specifically Winthrop Jordan s historical analysis of race as an Anglo European construction that became the foundation of a white mythos To that end he employs a form of narrative construction called curriculum vitae course of life a method of locating and delineating identity formation which addresses how theories of place race and identity formation play out in a particular concrete life By working through how place racializes identity and existence the author engages in a long Southern tradition of storytelling but in a way that turns it inside out Instead of telling his own story as a means to romanticize the sins of the southern past he tells a new story of growing up within the white discourse of the Deep South in the 1960s and 70s tracking how his racial identity was created and how it has followed him through life Significant in this narrative is how the discourse of whiteness and place continues to express itself even within the subject position of a curriculum theorist teaching in a large Deep South university The book concludes with an elaboration on the challenges of engaging in the necessary anti racist complicated conversation within education to begin to work through and cope with heavy racialized inheritances
