Experiencing the Outdoors Margaret Robertson, Ruth Lawrence, Gregory Heath, 2015-02-27 The space is outdoors The experience is personal and the journey can be solitary or take place in groups Informal or formal the places visited are sites of learning Locked in memory our experiences in the outdoors are a constant source of wonderment and food to replenish our sense of wellbeing Our experiences in the outdoors can endure in the abstract as ideas for developing a sense of a well lived life They can also draw us back to places and reenergise the body Physical and emotional wellbeing collides in the unexpected events that flourish in the outdoors Our readiness for enjoyment and personal development are subjective states which this book challenges Traversing the landscape of the outdoors the collection of chapters contained range from the theoretical to the practical including strategies for teaching and learning that are transdisciplinary With ideas for practitioners as well as thoughtful reading for readers of diverse ages and interests this book includes contributions from Australia New Zealand Hong Kong United Kingdom and Canada

Doing Sociology of Education (RLE Edu L) Geoffrey Walford, 2012-05-16 This collection of specially commissioned articles exposes the practical and personal influences on the process of doing sociology of education All of the authors have been involved in conducting well know major research projects and discuss here the pitfalls and problems conflicts and compromises that went into doing their particular research A particular feature of the book is that a wide variety of types of research in the sociology of education is covered. The range is from small scale ethnographic case studies to large scale postal questionnaire sample surveys and includes studies based on interviews, observation and questionnaires. There are examples of longitudinal work in case studies and in surveys. The collection also includes discussions of action research, the development and influence of theory and the relationship between research and policy.

Key Themes in the Ethnography of Education Sara Delamont, 2013-12-05. This is a beautifully written book that takes the reader to the heart of ethnography as experience. Readers can walk in the shoes of ethnographers who have travelled before them and learn as they learned. Sara Delamont is an undisputed expert in both ethnography and education and here illustrates she is also a tour de force in writing style. All the important ingredients for a recipe to make a good quality ethnography are here and they are served up with relish. Karen O'Reilly, Loughborough University. This is a powerful, richly nuanced, evocative work, a stunning and brilliantly innovative intervention. It provides ground zero, the starting place for the next generation of social scholars of education. A major accomplishment. Norman K. Denzin, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. The ethnography of education has been conducted by sociologists and anthropologists largely in self-contained and self-referential ways. This book celebrates the continuities and the strengths of ethnographic research on education in formal and non-formal settings, deliberately transgressing the sociology/anthropology divide. Education is broadly defined to cover many settings other than schools in many countries for many age groups. The book is structured thematically, including chapters on movement and mobilities, memories and time, time and timescapes, bodies and performativities, multi-sensory research and narratives. Strategies for designing innovative ethnographic projects and for fighting familiarity are provided.
