New Landscape Design Robert Holden,2003 In addition the book provides the reader with insight into many of the other concerns facing landscape architects such as the image and the function of urban spaces ecological survival sustainability native people and their settlements environmental education and the role and nature of human settlement Detailed technical information presented in accessible format with full color illustrations Careful examination of past designs provides unique resource for landscape architects to learn and improve their own work Clear focus on modern examples helps architects meet uniquely modern challenges such as urban sprawl and environmental concerns International Landscape Design,1992 From Landscape Research to Landscape Planning Bärbel Tress,Gunther Tres,Gary Fry,Paul Opdam,2005-10-25 This book provides guidelines for those pursuing landscape projects based on integrative concepts interdisciplinarity and transdisciplinarity whether they are members of an integrative research team or individuals working on a problem that demands integration They must define terminology choose appropriate methodologies overcome epistemological barriers and cope with the high expectations of some stakeholders while encouraging others to participate at all Geo-Design Steffen Nijhuis,Sisi Zlatanova,Eduardo Dias,Frank van der Hoeven,Stefan van der Spek,2016-12-01 Geo Design Advances in bridging geo information technology and design bring together a wide variety of contributions from authors with backgrounds in urban planning landscape architecture education and geo information technology presenting the latest insights and applications of geo design Geo Design is here understood as a hybridization of the concepts Geo representing the modeling analytical and visualization capacities of GIS and Design representing spatial planning and design turning existing situations into preferred ones Through focusing on interdisciplinary design related concepts and applications of GIS international experts share their recent findings and provide clues for the further development of geo design This is important since there is still much to do Not only in the development of geo information technology but especially in bridging the gap with the design disciplines The uptake on using GIS is still remarkably slow among landscape architects urban designers and planners and when utilized it is often restricted to the basic tasks of mapmaking and data access Knowledge development and dissemination of applications of geodesign through research publications and education therefore remain key factors This publication draws upon the insights shared at the Geodesign Summit Europe held at Delft University of Technology in 2014 All contributions in the book are double blind reviewed by experts in the field Place Making in International Practice of

Landscape Architecture Yun Zhang, 2021-06-25 This book explores international practice in landscape architecture focusing on the provision of services from Australia to China during China's contemporary urbanization and Australian landscape architects' approaches to place. Landscape architectural practice requires planners and designers to have a deep understanding of local culture, site characteristics, craftsmanship, and even project procedures that are often intangible. How to acquire the above local knowledge has become a major challenge for international teams. Through the survey of the practice of Australian landscape practices in China and the case study of Li Lake planning and design project, this book reveals the process and difficulties of landscape planning and design as a transnational practice as well as its special value as a way of cross-cultural fertilization. This book is intended for students, practitioners, and researchers in the fields of landscape architecture, architecture, and urban planning.

An array of original photographs and clear examples in both black and white and color articulate standards and inspire future possibilities, featuring the work of Vicky Chan, founder of Avoid Obvious Architects, and Richard Alomar, Associate Professor of Landscape Architecture at Rutgers and co-founder of New York Urban Sketchers. Waldheim, 2022-03-15 A definitive intellectual history of landscape urbanism It has become conventional to think of urbanism and landscape as opposing one another or to think of landscape as merely providing temporary relief from urban life as shaped by buildings and infrastructure But driven in part by environmental concerns landscape has recently emerged as a model and medium for the city with some theorists arguing that landscape architects are the urbanists of our age In Landscape as Urbanism one of the field's pioneers presents a powerful case for rethinking the city through landscape Charles Waldheim traces the roots of landscape as a form of urbanism from its origins in the Renaissance through the twentieth century Growing out of progressive architectural culture and populist environmentalism the concept was further informed by the nineteenth century invention of landscape architecture as a new art charged with reconciling the design of the industrial city with its ecological and social conditions In the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries as urban planning shifted from design to social science and as urban design committed to neotraditional models of town planning landscape urbanism emerged to fill a void at the heart of the contemporary urban project Generously illustrated Landscape as Urbanism examines works from around the world by designers ranging from Ludwig Hilberseimer Andrea Branzi and Frank Lloyd Wright to James Corner Adriaan Geuze and Michael Van Valkenburgh The result is the definitive account of an emerging field that is likely to influence the design of cities for decades to come Landscape Planning in Singapore

Saunders, 2013-04-30 Kongjian Yu and his office Turenscape are beyond doubt the foremost landscape architecture practice in China today The vast scale of China and her apparently boundless growth have enabled Yu to test many ideas that are still largely theories in the Western world His work increasingly valued and appreciated in Europe and North America has attained an extremely high and elegant level in both conception and execution Kongjian Yu is known for his ecological stance often against the resistance of local authorities His guiding design principles are the appreciation of the ordinary and a deep embracing of nature even in its potentially destructive aspects such as floods Among his most acclaimed projects are Houtan Park for Shanghai Expo the Red Ribbon Park in Qinhuangdao and Shipyard Park in Zhongshan This book explores Yu s work in 11 essays by noted authors and documents 22 major projects extensively
