Foreign Direct Investment, Location and Competitiveness European International Business Academy. Conference, 2008 Analyzes factors which may explain and or influence the relationship between the competitiveness of multinational enterprises and the countries in which they operate This book addresses issues such as advances in the determinants and strategy of multinational business activity and the determinants of location competitiveness of countries

The Location of Domestic and Foreign Production Affiliates by French Multinational Firms Ms. Isabelle Mejean, Thierry Mayer, Benjamin Nefussi, 2010-01-01 Economists interested in location choices usually focus their attention on investments abroad This neglects the fact that multinational enterprises continue to invest domestically while undertaking foreign expansion This paper compares investments at home and abroad Our firm level dataset shows an important home bias in productive investments Part of this excessive domestic investment is explained by standard determinants of location choices The interdependence between affiliates of the same industrial group however accounts for the lion s share of the home bias Moreover French firms propensity to invest abroad is positively related to their productivity and the size of their intangible assets

Foreign Direct Investment in the United States: State location Leslie B. Simon, 1985 V 1 Source country v 2 Industry sector standard industrial classification v 3 State location Statistical Reference Index, 1980 The New York Stock Exchange Lucy Heckman, 2020-11-25 First published in 1992 The New York Stock Exchange is an informative library resource The book begins with a history of the stock exchange and offers a series of annotated bibliographies devoted to dictionaries and general guides directories bibliographies general histories and statistical sources The book provides important coverage of the stock market crashes of 1929 and 1987 and the appendices offer a useful collection of data including a directory of serial publications listings of abstracts and indexes online databases and CD ROM products This book will be of interest to libraries and to researchers working in the field of economics and business

Legislature, 1920 Annual Report New York (State). Public Service Commission. 2d District, 1911 International Business in China Robert Taylor, 2013-09-13 This book deals with a number of contentious issues in Chinese management as China emerges as a global economic player with a greater role in international business during a global economic crisis This step is in tandem with an economically driven foreign policy Since the 1980s Chinese management while still in transition has benefited from an infusion of capital technology and managerial expertise through inward direct investment via joint and wholly owned foreign ventures As the so called workshop of the world China and its exports especially labour intensive goods face protectionism in the United States and the European Union To circumvent these barriers the Chinese leaders are emphasising domestic consumption itself dependent on rising personal income levels and an improved national social insurance system and a move to high tech

products themselves requiring indigenous innovation The creation of a knowledge economy in addition to outward investment in manufacturing could lead to a distinctive independent style of Chinese management Simultaneously China's participation in intra regional trade underlines the nation's role in Asian regional business networks Such developments in turn present a challenge to Western and global business This book was published as a special issue of Asia Pacific Business Review
