religious interpretations understandings The study identified two primary areas of difficulty in Alevi Sunni families familial opposition to the participants decision to marry and conflicts surrounding the children s religious education These tensions may stem from societal pressures to conform to sectarian norms and the fear of losing religious identity through cross mixed intrafaith marriages Such pressures highlight the need for open dialogue and acceptance within families which many participants reported as key to resolving conflicts The provision of religious education in the family and the religious identity of children have been discussed in a separate study Therefore in this study participants views on compulsory religious education activities which are also a subject of debate in society were evaluated In parallel with the findings in the literature the participants opinions were grouped in three categories namely abolishing the courses making the courses optional and improving the courses along with preserving their compulsory status Following the interviews it was seen that the participants could have arguments mostly due to external factors and that their own religious understanding did not have any impact on family life religious attitudes or child rearing Attention was drawn to the need for freedom from prejudices acceptance of the other as he she is honesty trust and a communicative environment of dialogue in order to reduce the tension in these two areas

Exchanges are fundamental to human societies The authors show that the study of exchanges not only serves as a key to understanding particular societies as totalities but also helps to frame a comparative mode of analysis expressed in terms of a hierarchy of values Starting with a comparative analysis of the different vocabularies used when dealing with exchange the authors go on to provide a detailed account of how each society s exchanges form a genuine value oriented system Their conclusions shed light on important issues in anthropology such as the difference between subject and object the construction of the person in the matrix of social relations and the contrast between socio cosmic systems and other societies which recognize a universal term of reference beyond their community Stratification in Cultural Contexts Toshiaki Kimura,2013 Stratification in Cultural Contexts is a collection drawn from research results of the East Asian Division of the Center for the Study of Social Stratification and Inequality at Tohoku University In this book scholars who specialize in areas of East and Southeast Asia examine how the problem of stratification manifests itself in different cultural and historical contexts discussing when and in what circumstances the problem of stratification has become more serious and suggesting how the tension could be eased The topics dealt with are diversified from religion to economic concerns The local wisdom of traditional societies is used to analyze inequality and stratification in cases such as the phenomenon of religious revival following democratization in Mongolian society the lives of slaves under the Choson dynasty in Korea and the role of warrior class women in early modern Japan This volume provides a strong step on the way to further studies of stratification and inequality in cultural contexts Series Stratification and Inequality Vol 15 Alberta History Joachim Fromhold,2011
