The Library-Classroom Partnership Rosann Jweid,Margaret Rizzo,1998-06-25 The purpose of The Library Classroom Partnership is to assist library teachers and classroom teachers to effectively use the library and its resources as an extension of the classroom As in the earlier edition the lessons included in this book stress the library media skills needed by individuals for lifelong learning Long after adults have forgotten a particular fact of history or the techniques of balancing an equation they continue to use library skills to answer their questions and to meet the demands of an ever changing society It has been well documented that the skills taught in a library are most effectively learned within the context of classroom work To this end the librarian and the teacher must form a working team to take each other's ideas and develop them into effective learning experiences for students The authors have incorporated the teaching of those library media skills with every discipline taught in the school Through these lessons students will realize that research and reference are a vital part of the learning process complementing and enriching every subject The eleven disciplines English mathematics social studies science art music home and careers technology physical education health and foreign language normally taught in the junior high and middle schools are addressed in this work To be included a lesson must be a learning experience in both the library skills and the subject areas Each unit has been cooperatively developed using the expertise of the school library media specialist and the subject teacher All lessons have been implemented successfully in the junior high and middle school environment This revised and expanded edition of The Library Classroom Partnership also deals with technology and the changing economic and social conditions affecting public schools It includes a new section on reading enrichment as well as instruction in accessing information electronically

The Invention of Race in the European Middle Ages Geraldine Heng,2018-03-08 In The Invention of Race in the European Middle Ages Geraldine Heng questions the common assumption that the concepts of race and racisms only began in the modern era Examining Europe s encounters with Jews Muslims Africans Native Americans Mongols and the Romani Gypsies from the 12th through 15th centuries she shows how racial thinking racial law racial practices and racial phenomena existed in medieval Europe before a recognizable vocabulary of race emerged in the West Analysing sources in a variety of media including stories maps statuary illustrations architectural features history saints lives religious commentary laws political and social institutions and literature she argues that religion so much in play again today enabled the positing of fundamental differences among humans that created strategic essentialisms to mark off human groups and populations for racialized treatment Her ground breaking study also shows how race figured in the emergence of homo europaeus and the identity of Western Europe in this time

Information Investigation Laura Turner Pullis,1998 Guide to using nonfiction literature to help students acquire skills in the content areas Includes activities in math language arts social sciences and the arts Medieval Marvels and Fictions in the Latin West and Islamic World Michelle Karnes,2022-07-12 A cross cultural study of magical phenomena in the Middle Ages Marvels like enchanted rings and sorcerers stones were topics of fascination in the Middle Ages not only in romance and travel literature but also in the period's philosophical writing. Rather than constructions of belief accepted only by simple minded people, Michelle Karnes shows that these spectacular wonders were near impossibilities that demanded scrutiny and investigation. This is the first book to analyze a diverse set of writings on such wonders, comparing texts from the Latin West including those written in English, French, Italian, and Castilian Spanish with those written in Arabic, as it works toward a unifying theory of marvels across different disciplines and cultures. Karnes tells a story about the parallels between Arabic and Latin thought, reminding us that experiences of the strange and the unfamiliar travel across a range of genres spanning geographical and conceptual space and offering an ideal vantage point from which to understand intercultural exchange. Karnes traverses this diverse archive, showing how imagination imbues marvels with their character and power, making them at once enigmatic, creative, and resonant. Skirting the distinction between the real and unreal, these marvels challenge readers to discover the highest capabilities of both nature and the human intellect. Karnes offers a rare comparative perspective and a new methodology to study a topic long recognized as central to medieval culture.
