Constructing Rhetorical Education Davida Charney, Wilma R. Ebbitt, 1992 In nineteen essays illustrating its many aspects this book offers an argument for what it takes to construct a complete rhetorical education The editors take an approach that is pragmatic and pluralistic based as it is on the assumptions that a rhetorical education is not limited to teaching freshman composition or any specific writing course and that the contexts in which such an education occurs are not limited to classrooms This thought provoking volume stresses that while a rhetorical education results in the growth of writing skills its larger goal is to foster critical thinking

The Practical Self Anil Gomes, 2024 We are self conscious creatures thrown into a world which is not of our making What is the connection between being self conscious and being related to an objective world Descartes and Kant in different ways and with different emphases argued that self conscious subjects such as us must be related to an objective world Philosophers in the twentieth century were less ambitious self conscious subjects must only think or experience the world as objective The Practical Self argues that the answer to our question lies in a set of enigmatic remarks by the eighteenth century philosopher physicist and aphorist Georg Christoph Lichtenberg One should say it is thinking just as one says it is lightning Lichtenberg writes To say cogito is already too much To assume the I to postulate it is a practical requirement Lichtenberg is raising a puzzle here about our grounds for recognising ourselves as the agents of our thinking Its solution is to understand that we have practical grounds to think of ourselves as the intellectual agents We are thus practical selves intellectual agents who have distinctively practical grounds to recognise ourselves as such And our faith in ourselves as practical selves is sustained through interaction with others The argument of this book is that self consciousness requires faith in ourselves as the agents of our thinking and that this faith is sustained by a practices which relate us to other thinkers Self consciousness connects us to a world of others Report
