Left Shift Radical Art In 1970s Britain:

Left Shift John A. Walker, 2001-12-21 John Walker brings to vivid life a neglected period in twentieth century art history. He re-creates a time when visual fine artists under the impact of left wing politics, women's liberation and the gay movement were seeking to re-establish a social purpose. His story is one of a struggle for art by contending factions in the art world in which artists, curators, critics and organisations both establishment and alternative, key exhibitions, galleries and magazines all play a part. He offers welcome insight into the work of the key players and the many forms they used to express radical engagement in the events of the decade.

Left Shift John Albert Walker, 2002 Compared to the 1960s the 1970s is a neglected decade. This is a history of radical political art in Britain during the 1970s, art that sought to re-establish a social purpose. It argues that what was unique about the visual fine art of the decade was the impact of left wing politics, women's liberation and the gay movement. Artists discussed include Rashid Araeen, Conrad and Terry Atkinson, Joseph Beuys, Derek Boshier, Stuart Brisley, Victor Burgin, John Druggier, Gilbert and George, Margaret Harrison, Derek Jarman, John Latham, Mary Kelly, Bruce McLean, David Madalla, Jamie Reid, Jo Spence.

British Culture and Society in the 1970s Laurel Forster, Sue Harper, 2009-12-14 This collection of essays highlights the variety of 1970s culture and shows how it responded to the transformations that were taking place in that most elusive of decades. The 1970s was a period of extraordinary change on the social, sexual and political fronts. Moreover, the culture of the period was revolutionary in a number of ways: it was sometimes florid, innovative, risk-taking and occasionally awkward and inconsistent. The essays collected here reflect this diversity and analyse many cultural forms of the 1970s. The book includes articles on literature, politics, drama, architecture, film, television, youth cultures, interior design, journalism and intercultural happenings. Its coverage ranges across phenomena as diverse as the Wombles and Woman's Own. The volume offers an interdisciplinary account of a fascinating period in British cultural history. This book makes an important intervention in the field of 1970s history. It is edited and introduced by Laurel Forster and Sue Harper, both experienced writers, and the book comprises work by both established and emerging scholars. Overall, it makes an exciting interpretation of a momentous and colourful period in recent culture.

"Art in the North of England, 1979-2008" Gabriel N. Gee, 2017-07-05 Based on rare archival material and numerous interviews with practitioners, Art in the North of England 1979-2008 analyses the relation between political and economic changes stemming from the 1980s and artistic developments in the principal cities of the North of England in the late 20th century. Looking in particular at the art scenes of Liverpool, Manchester, Leeds, Sheffield and Newcastle, Gabriel Gee unveils a set of powerful aesthetic reactions to industrial change and urban reconstruction during this period on the part of artists including John Davies, Pete Clarke, the Amber collective, Richard Wilson, Karen Watson, Nick Crowe, Ian Rawlinson, John Kippin and the contribution of organisations such as Projects UK, Locus, East Street Arts, the Henry Moore Sculpture Trust and the Bluecoat Gallery in Liverpool. While the geographical focus of this study is highly specific, a key concern throughout is the relationship between regional national and international artistic practices and identities Of interest to all scholars and students concerned with the developments of British art in the second half of the 20th century the study is also of direct pertinence to observers of global narratives which are here described and analysed through the concept of trans industriality Museum Representations of Maoist China Amy Jane Barnes,2016-04-15 The collection interpretation and display of art from the People s Republic of China and particularly the art of the Cultural Revolution have been problematic for museums These objects challenge our perception of Chineseness and their style content and the means of their production question accepted notions of how we perceive art This book links art history museology and visual culture studies to examine how museums have attempted to reveal discuss and resolve some of these issues Amy Jane Barnes addresses a series of related issues associated with collection and display how museums deal with difficult and controversial subjects the role they play in mediating between the object and the audience the role of the Other in the creation of Self and national identities the nature role and function of art in society the museum as image maker the impact of communism and Maoism on the cultural history of the twentieth century and the appropriation of communist visual iconography This book will be of interest to researchers and students of museology visual and cultural studies as well as scholars of Chinese and revolutionary art The British Film Industry in the 1970s S.
