Democratization Agenda in the Mediterranean Michelle Pace,Peter Seeberg,2013-09-13 Democracy promotion in the Middle East and North Africa MENA remains a central pillar of the foreign policy the European Union EU Rather than concentrating on the relations between the incumbent authoritarian regimes and the opposition in the relevant countries and on the degree to which these relations are affected by EU efforts at promoting democracy human rights and the rule of law an outside in approach this collection of articles inverts the focus of such relationships and attempts to look at them inside out While some contributions also emphasise the outside in axis given that this continues to be analytically rewarding the overarching thrust of this book is to provide some empirical substance for the claim that EU policy making is not unidirectional and is influenced by the perceptions and actions of its targets Thus the focus is on domestic political changes on the ground in the MENA and how they link into what the EU is attempting to achieve in the region Finally the self representation of the EU and its lack of a clear regional role is discussed This book was published as a special issue of Democratization The Mediterranean

The Routledge Handbook of European Security Sven Biscop,Richard G. Whitman,2013 This new Handbook brings together key experts on European security from the academic and policy worlds to examine the European Union EU as an international security actor While the focus is on the politico military dimension security will be put in the context of the holistic approach advocated by the EU Linguistic Justice for Europe and for the World Philippe Van Parijs,2011-09-29 In Europe and throughout the world competence in English is spreading at a speed never achieved by any language in human history This growing dominance of English is frequently perceived as being grossly unjust This book is the first systematic treatment of the of the normative aspects of language policy and how this relates to justice The Language Question in Europe and Diverse Societies Dario Castiglione,Christopher Longman,2007-03-12 Recent developments in the European integration process have raised amongst many other things the issue of linguistic diversity for some a stumbling block to the creation of a European democratic polity and its legal and social institutions The solution to the question of language involves an understanding of the role played by natural languages and the consequent design of policies and institutional mechanisms to facilitate inter linguistic and intercultural communication This is not an exclusively European problem and nor is it entirely new for it is also the problem of linguistic majorities and minorities within unitary nation states However the effects of globalization and the diffusion of multiculturalism within nation states have given renewed emphasis to the question of language in diverse societies Facing the question anew involves reconsidering traditional ideas about social communication and the public sphere about opinion formation and diffusion about the protection of cultural and linguistic minorities and about the role that language plays in the process of formation of political and legal cultures This volume is intended as a multidisciplinary contribution towards studying and assessing the range of problems that form the language question in Europe and diverse societies
