The Missionary Review, 1904 The Indian Review G.A. Natesan, 1922 Tolstoy's Major Fiction Edward Wasiolek, 1978

Edward Wasiolek after much valuable work on Dostoevsky has now written one of the best books on Tolstoy in recent decades This may be in part because of his preoccupation with Tolstoy's most challenging contemporary and the resulting sense of their unlikeness in a common pursuit But there are other unspeculative reasons Few studies of Tolstoy have been so carefully pondered and so firmly organized to convince and not so many show the flexibility and variety of its approach Wasiolek proposes an essentially simple and consistent reading but he advances it with subtlety and discretion Henry Gifford Times Literary Supplement The Public Louis Freeland Post, Alice Thacher Post, Stoughton Cooley, 1906 Handbook of Russian Literature Victor Terras, 1985-01-01 Profiles the careers of Russian authors scholars and critics and discusses the history of the Russian treatment of literary genres such as drama fiction and essays

Death and the Meaning of Life graf Leo Tolstoy, 2000 Presents materials that reveal the essence of Tolstoy's beliefs on immortality death God and the meaning of life Contains two booklets About Immortality No 751 and About Death No 752 compiled by Tolstoy comprising quotations from various philosophers explaining the meaning that death gives to life essays explaining the actions that Tolstoy thought must be taken to grow spiritually and finally diary entries translated here for the first time in English pertaining to spiritual themes made during the last year of Tolstoy's life

Russomania Russian Culture and the Creation of British Modernism provides a new account of modernist literature's emergence in Britain British writers played a central role in the dissemination of Russian literature and culture during the early twentieth century and their writing was transformed by the encounter This study restores the thick history of that moment by analyzing networks of dissemination and reception to recover the role of neglected as well as canonical figures and institutions as well as individuals The dominant account of British modernism privileges a Francophile genealogy but the turn of the century debate about the future of British writing was a triangular debate a debate not only between French and English models but between French English and Russian models Francophile modernists associated Russian literature especially the Tolstoyan novel with an uncritical immersion in life at the expense of a mastery of style and while individual works might be admired Russian literature as a whole was represented as a dangerous model for British writing This supposed danger was closely bound up with the politics of the period and this book investigates how Russian culture was deployed in the close relationships between writers editors and politicians who made up the early twentieth century intellectual class the British intelligentsia Russomania argues that the most significant impact of Russian culture is not to be found in stylistic borrowings between canonical authors but in the shaping of the major intellectual questions of the period

the relation between language and action writer and audience and the work of art and lived experience The resulting account brings an occluded genealogy of early modernism to the fore with a different arrangement of protagonists different critical values and stronger lines of connection to the realist experiments of the Victorian past and the anti formalism and revived romanticism of the 1930s and 1940s future Encyclopædia of Religion and Ethics: Suffering-Zwingli James Hastings, John Alexander Selbie, Louis Herbert Gray, 1922 Scope theology philosophy ethics of various religions and ethical systems and relevant portions of anthropology mythology folklore biology psychology economics and sociology
