Transition Jana S. Rošker, Nataša Vampelj Suhadolnik, 2011-01-18 The present volume is dedicated to the Wei Jin and Southern and Northern Dynasties 220-589 AD which is generally regarded as one of the most fascinating phases in Chinese history. The collection opens new theoretical and methodological pathways in sinological studies, bringing to the forefront a new idea of intercultural encounters based upon a culture of recognition. It highlights the significance of transition in the making of Chinese culture and history, revises prevailing historical approaches in the study and research of China, and develops and enhances existing theories or methodologies in this specific area of research. The wide diversity of contributions to the present volume reflects the multifaceted potential for creativity and renewal of this period. The focus is upon the interaction of ideas, researches and perspectives concerning a broad scope of relevant and significant issues in contemporary sinology. In order to understand this diversity, a wide range of cultural, theoretical and historical aspects are considered. The book reveals a new image of the period, thereby undermining the absolute authority and putative objectivity of common historical sources and interpretations. It shows that this was a period rich with political, economic, cultural and theoretical achievements that would prove decisive for the future development of Chinese culture and society. Art of Dynastic China William Watson, 1981 This book includes the full scope of Chinese Arts From early Antiquity to this century. China (L'art de l'ancienne Chine, dt. Kunst u. Kultur William Watson, 1980 La sculpture chinoise du Ve au XIVe siècle Osvald Sirén, 1926 Henri Bertin and the Representation of China in Eighteenth-Century France John Finlay, 2020-07-09 This is an in-depth study of the intellectual, technical and artistic encounters between Europe and China in the late eighteenth century, focusing on the purposeful acquisition of information and images that characterized a direct engagement with the idea of China. The central figure in this story is Henri-Lionard Bertin (1720-1792) who served as a minister of state under Louis XV and briefly Louis XVI. Both his official position and personal passion for all things Chinese placed him at the center of intersecting networks of like-minded individuals who shared his ideal vision of China as a nation from which France had much to learn. John Finlay examines a fascinating episode in the rich history of cross-cultural exchange between China and Europe in the early modern period, and this book will be an important and timely contribution to a very current discussion about Sino-French cultural relations. This book will be of interest to scholars in art history, visual culture, European and Chinese history.
