

The background is a photograph of a river with white-water rapids. A small, dark boat is visible in the middle ground, partially obscured by the water's turbulence. The overall color palette is warm, with various shades of brown, tan, and orange. In the center, there is a logo for "Grant's Getaways". The word "Grant's" is in a small, white, sans-serif font. Below it, the word "Getaways" is written in a large, white, cursive script. The text is set against a dark, semi-transparent blue shape that resembles a mountain peak or a stylized wave. A horizontal rainbow-colored light streak passes behind the logo, adding a vibrant touch to the design.

Reeder Jr.,2017-07-22 Can you imagine living in a place that is effected by weather ocean currents and decisions of land use board members Bayocean was at risk of loosing it all and it was lost at a time when it was most vulnerable Tillamook County lost a valuable asset lost a beautiful quaint little community nestled on a peninsula of land that was effected by such outside forces that it could not survive and is trying to rise from the sand today but will not because of the decisions of board members and councils that dont want to be bothered with her any longer To be left untouched and buried is a sad story told by one who lived there when the town was starting to fall and continued to fall until its total demise when burned and buried under the sand in his quest to make this place not to be forgotten Perry Reeder and his daughter Sarah MacDonald conjure up the stories of the past and tell the truth about what happened to this small coastal community this beautiful place that had running water electricity and cobblestone streets hotels stores of business post office and much more A community of loving families that struggled together but were left with nothing The most important issue that seems to be ignored mostly by those who want to keep Bayocean under the sand is the issue of the South Jetty if ignored will once again reek havoc on this beautiful peninsula Cape Meares is more at risk than Bayocean Its a sad thing to have to fight over who goes there or the issues of recreational activities over issues that will actually destroy the entire area we need to stop the feuding and work together to keep Bayocean a place for all to enjoy Ending the Bayocean wars for the last time before it once again gets destroyed would be a feat in itself In this book we hope you will come to know Bayocean a little better and understand the issues that surround her today and enjoy a little glimpse into the past as well Proceedings of the Nut Growers Society of Oregon, Washington & British Columbia Nut Growers
