 Sexuality is the manner in which we undergo and exhibit sexuality It includes emotions wants behaviors and identities as well as a variety of forms of physical contact or stimulation Intimacy is a sense of togetherness and connection in a relationship which may or may not include physical contact Aging creates possibilities for older individuals to reinterpret what sexuality and intimacy entail for them as a result of life changes Certain older individuals want both a sexual and an intimate partnership while others are fine with either and some may opt to reject both sorts of partnership Normal aging also causes physiological changes that might interfere with the capacity for and enjoyment of sexual activity Our bodies such as our size skin and muscular condition shift as we age Certain older individuals are unhappy with their deteriorating bodies They may be concerned that their lover no longer finds them appealing Intimacy and a satisfying sex life may be hindered by physical issues brought on by health disorders as well as by stress and anxiety Men and women have different sexual problems Erectile Dysfunction or ED occurs when a man has difficulty achieving or maintaining an erection In certain cases ED is caused by prostate cancer therapies such as prostatectomy a procedure in which the prostate is surgically removed in its entirety or in part The condition is also caused by other health issues such as excessive blood sugar heart disease or pelvic trauma Notwithstanding the transformations brought on by natural aging sexuality remains a vital aspect of our lifestyles as we age Sexual health and function are essential elements of healthy aging Sexual activity is connected with superior psychological health self esteem marriage quality as well as personal well being whereas its absence is linked to a worse standard of living Considering the significance of sexual function and sexual well being in evaluating healthy aging as well as the inadequate knowledge of urological health among elderly people this research topic highlights some of the key urological health aspects relevant to the journeys and mental or medical consequences of healthy aging psychological wellbeing and sexuality Among the broad questions of interest are the following The experiences of older adults who identify as having a urological disorder or a mental disorder Sexual health and sexual function dysfunction in older adults Correlation between psychological disorder and urological health among older adults Culture sociological discussion between psychological distress and healthy aging among older adults Addressing sexual function and sexual well being and healthy aging Case studies of effective practice Specific sexual orientation issues among older adults with urological disorders Incorporating a patient care address for older adults with urological illnesses into the community We are thus seeking innovative research papers review articles hypothesis and theory pieces viewpoint articles short research report articles commentary articles opinion articles and book reviews We expect that by combining the ideas of scholars from diverse disciplines or contexts we will be able to explore the relationship between the significance of sexual function and sexual well being in defining healthy aging and bridge the knowledge gap in urological health among older adults In Vivo Reprogramming in Regenerative Medicine Açelya Yilmazer,2017-11-21 This new volume reviews current progress on different approaches of in vivo reprogramming technology Leaders in the field discuss how in vivo cell lineage reprogramming can be used for tissue repair and regeneration in different organs including brain spinal cord pancreas liver and heart Recent studies on in vivo cell reprogramming towards pluripotency are reviewed examples are given to show its potential in regenerative medicine In each chapter the regenerative potential of different in vivo reprogramming approaches is discussed in detail More specifically how different tissue failures or damages can be treated with this technology is explained Examples from various animal models are given and the regenerative potential of in vivo reprogramming is compared to that of cell transplantation studies The last chapter discusses current challenges of these preclinical studies and gives suggestions in order to improve the current strategies Future directions are indicated for the transition of in vivo reprogramming technology to clinical settings This is among the first books in the literature which specifically focuses on the in vivo reprogramming technology in regenerative medicine and these chapters collectively cover one of the most important and exciting topics of regenerative medicine
