Frank H Underhill:

Frank H. Underhill R. Douglas Francis, 1986 On Canada Norman Penlington, This volume of essays and bibliography compiled in his honour reflects the breadth of Frank Underhill's influence in history public policy poetry Canadian culture and foreign relations No Ordinary Academics Shirley Spafford, 2000-01-01 Describes the circumstances and people that turned a department in an isolated prairie university into a thriving intellectual community that would nurture some of Canada's best minds Essays in Honour of Frank H. Underhill Norman Penlington, 1971 On Canada; Essays in Honour of Frank H. Underhill Frank Hawkins Underhill, 1971 Canada and the British World Phillip Buckner, R. Douglas Francis, 2011-11-01 Canada and the British World surveys Canada's national history through a British lens In a series of essays focusing on the social cultural and intellectual aspects of Canadian identity over more than a century the complex and evolving relationship between Canada and the larger British World is revealed Examining the transition from the strong belief of nineteenth century Canadians in the British character of their country to the realities of modern multicultural Canada this book eschews nostalgia in its endeavour to understand the dynamic and complicated society in which Canadians did and do live Living with War Robert Teigrob, 2016-01-01 In Living with War Robert Teigrob examines how war is experienced and remembered on both sides of the 49th parallel Getting it Wrong Paul Romney, 1999-01-01 This provocative book explains how divergent views of Canada's past have sown dissension between Qu'becois and other Canadians disclosing a lost middle ground between the Canadian nationalist and Qu'bec nationalist visions of Canadian history Academic Freedom in Canada Michiel Horn, 1998-01-01 Covering issues from the resistance in universities to Darwinist thought to the experience of women and ethnic minorities to economic and political correctness from 1860 to the present The Professionalization of History in English Canada Donald A. Wright, 2015-05-27 The study of history in Canada has a history of its own and its development as an academic discipline is a multifaceted one The Professionalization of History in English Canada charts the transition of the study of history from a leisurely pastime to that of a full blown academic career for university trained scholars from the mid nineteenth to the late twentieth century Donald Wright argues that professionalization was not in fact a benign process nor was it inevitable It was deliberate Within two generations historians saw the creation of a professional association the Canadian Historical Association and rise of an academic journal the Canadian Historical Review Professionalization was also gendered In an effort to raise the status of the profession and protect the academic labour market for men male historians made a concerted effort to exclude women from the academy History's professionalization is best understood as a transition from one way of organizing intellectual life to another What came before professionalization was not necessarily inferior but rather a different perspective of history As well Wright argues convincingly that professionalization inadvertently led to a popular inverse the amateur historian whose work is often more widely received and appreciated by the general public Cultures, Communities, and Conflict Paul Stortz, E. Lisa

Panayotidis, 2012-11-13 Cultures Communities and Conflict offers provocative cutting edge perspectives on the history of English Canadian universities and war in the twentieth century. The contributors explore how universities contributed not only to Canadian war efforts but to forging multiple understandings of intellectualism, academia and community within an evolving Canadian nation. Contributing to the social, intellectual and academic history of universities, the collection provides rich approaches to integral issues at the intersection of higher education and wartime, including academic freedom, gender, peace and activism on campus and the challenges of ethnic diversity. The contributors place the historical university in several contexts, not the least of which is the university's substantial power to construct and transform intellectual discourse and promote efforts for change both on and off campus. With its diverse research methodologies and its strong thematic structure, Cultures Communities and Conflict provides an energetic basis for new understandings of universities as historical partners in Canadian community and state formation.

Recasting History Monica MacDonald, 2019-06-15 Since 1952 CBC television has played a unique role as the primary mass media purveyor of Canadian history. Yet until now there have been no comprehensive accounts of Canadian history on television. Monica MacDonald takes us behind the scenes of the major documentaries and docudramas broadcast on the CBC, including Explorations 1956-64 and the series Images of Canada 1972-76, The National Dream 1974, The Valour and the Horror 1992 and Canada: A People's History 2000-02. Drawing on a wide range of sources, MacDonald explores how producers struggled to represent the Canadian past under a range of external and internal pressures. Despite dramatic shifts in the writing of history over this period, she determines that television themes and interpretations largely remained the same. The greater change was in the production and presentation, particularly in the role of professional historians as journalists emerged not only as the new producers of Canadian history on CBC television but also as the new content authorities. A critique of public history through the lens of political economy, Recasting History reveals the conflicts, compromises and controversies that have shaped the CBC version of the Canadian past.

Frank H. Underhill : Canadian Intellectual R. D. (R. Douglas) Francis, 1975

A Prophet in Politics Kenneth McNaught, 2017-06-22 In this elegant and rigorously researched work, Kenneth McNaught details the life, work and principles of J. S. Woodsworth and shows the powerful moral and political force that the pacifist Methodist thinker exerted on Canadian politics. Woodsworth first went to the House of Commons in 1922 and became leader of the Cooperative Commonwealth Federation at its formation in 1933. A socialist to the end, he exhibited his anti-war convictions to Parliament when in 1939 he alone spoke out against joining the war in Europe. Woodsworth's ideas and strong social conscience helped to shape the development of the welfare state in Canada and have left an intellectual legacy in both socialist and liberal circles. A Prophet in Politics marks the progress of socialism in Canada as well as the economic and political conditions in the first half of the twentieth century. McNaught, who died in 1997, is himself an important figure in Canadian history, having fought as a professor of history for academic freedom and having brought the scholarly discussion of national politics into the public.
