The Urbanism of Frank Lloyd Wright Neil

Levine, 2016 This is the first book devoted to Frank Lloyd Wright's designs for remaking the modern city. Stunningly comprehensive, The Urbanism of Frank Lloyd Wright presents a radically new interpretation of the architect's work and offers new and important perspectives on the history of modernism. Neil Levine places Wright's projects produced over more than fifty years within their historical, cultural, and physical contexts while relating them to the theory and practice of urbanism as it evolved over the twentieth century. Levine overturns the conventional view of Wright as an architect who deplored the city and whose urban vision was limited to a utopian plan for a network of agrarian communities he called Broadacre City. Rather, Levine reveals Wright's larger, more varied, interesting, and complex urbanism demonstrated across the span of his lengthy career. Beginning with Wright's plans from the late 1890s through the early 1910s for reforming residential urban neighborhoods mainly in Chicago and continuing through projects from the 1920s through the 1950s for commercial, mixed-use, civic, and cultural centers for Chicago, Madison, Washington, Pittsburgh, and Baghdad, Levine demonstrates Wright's place among the leading contributors to the creation of the modern city. Wright's often spectacular designs are shown to be those of an innovative precursor and creative participant in the world of ideas that shaped the modern metropolis. Lavishly illustrated with drawings, plans, maps, and photographs, this book features the first extensive new photography of materials from the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation Archives. The Urbanism of Frank Lloyd Wright will serve as one of the most important books on the architect for years to come.

Through the Long Desert: Georgia O'Keeffe and Frank Lloyd Wright Sarah Rovang, 2025-09-09 A richly illustrated exploration of newfound connections between American cultural icons Georgia O'Keeffe and Frank Lloyd Wright. This groundbreaking volume places the artist and architect side by side, shedding light on their lives, work, and mutual love of the American desert. Georgia O'Keeffe and Frank Lloyd Wright were neither competitors nor direct collaborators. Yet these romantic heroes of twentieth-century art and architecture largely operated in parallel. In this seminal book, Rovang weaves together their compelling life stories, examining newly discovered links between them and, in the process, offering a fresh perspective on their work, their intermittent yet poignant friendship, and their closeness to the desert. Starting in 1933, O'Keeffe and Wright exchanged roughly two dozen letters in which they expressed admiration for one another but also their passion for the places that informed them, many of which they had in common. Both were born in rural Wisconsin and built their careers in Chicago and New York. However, both sought inspiration and fulfillment in places farther afield, including in Japan and the desert landscape of the American Southwest. Juxtaposing images highlighting shared aspects of their individual biographies and work, this unique take on American creative expression explores the nature of artistic friendship and the idea of home. Rovang's text gives rich context to the allure and romance of her visual subject offering readers new ways to appreciate O Keeffe's and Wright's monumental contributions to American culture

Frank Lloyd Wright--the Lost Years, 1910-1922 Anthony Alofsin, 1993 New definition to the little known work Wright produced during this period which he describes as Wright's primitivist phase He traces this influence in his art through Wright's explorations of primitivist sources innovations in sculpture and an intensification of the architect's use of ornament Less tangible but as important was Wright's view of himself his art and society and Alofsin uncovers the European impact on the architect's image of himself as a

Lawrence Alloway Lucy Bradnock, Courtney J. Martin, Rebecca Peabody, 2015-07-01 Lawrence Alloway 1926-1990 was a key figure in the development of modern art in Europe and America from the 1950s to the 1980s He is credited with coining the term pop art and with championing conceptual art and feminist artists in America His interests as a critic and as a curator at the Solomon R Guggenheim Museum in New York were wide ranging however and included architecture design earthworks film neorealism science fiction and public sculpture Early in his career he was associated with the Independent Group in London and although he was largely self taught he was a noted educator and lecturer A prolific writer Alloway sought to escape the conventions of art historical discourse This volume illuminates how he often shaped the field and anticipated approaches such as social art history and visual and cultural studies Lawrence Alloway Critic and Curator provides the first critical analysis of the multiple facets of Alloway's life and career exploring his formative influence on the disciplines of art history art criticism and museum studies The nine essays in this volume depend on primary archival research much of it conducted in the Lawrence Alloway Papers held by the Getty Research Institute Each author addresses a distinct aspect of Alloway's eclectic professional interests and endeavors

The Architecture of Modern American Synagogues, 1950s-1960s Anat Geva, 2023-12-14 In the aftermath of World War II the United States experienced a rapid expansion of church and synagogue construction as part of a larger religious boom The synagogues built in that era illustrate how their designs pushed the envelope in aesthetics and construction The design of the synagogues departed from traditional concepts embraced modernism and innovations in building technology and evolved beyond the formal rational style of early 1950s modern architecture to more of an expressionistic design The latter resulted in abstraction of architectural forms and details and the inclusion of Jewish art in the new synagogues The Architecture of Modern American Synagogues 1950s 1960s introduces an architectural analysis of selected modern American synagogues and reveals how they express American Jewry's resilience in continuing their physical and spiritual identity while embracing modernism American values and landscape In addition the book contributes to the discourse on preserving the recent past e g mid 20th century architecture While most of the investigations on that topic deal with the brick mortar challenges this book introduces preservation issues as a function of changes in demographics in faith rituals in building codes and in energy conservation As an introduction or a reexamination The Architecture of Modern American Synagogues 1950s 1960s offers a fresh perspective on an important moment in American Jewish society and culture as reflected in their houses of worship and adds to the literature on modern American sacred architecture The book may appeal to Jewish congregations architects preservationists scholars and students in fields of studies such as architectural design sacred architecture American modern architecture and building technology Post WWII religious and Jewish studies and preservation and conservation American Bungalow, 2003

The Architecture of Diplomacy Jane C. Loeffler, 1998-07 The Architecture of Diplomacy reveals the complex interplay of architecture politics and power in the history of America's embassy building program Through colorful personalities bizarre episodes and high drama this compelling story takes readers from scandalous inspection junkets by members of Congress to bugged offices at the Moscow embassy to the daring rescue of American personnel in Somalia by Marines and Navy Seals Rigorously researched and lucidly written The Architecture of Diplomacy focuses on the embassy building program during the Cold War years when the United States initiated a massive construction campaign that would demonstrate its commitment to its allies and assert its presence as a superpower The New Yorker, 1997 Stained Glass, 1995
