Talking with Serial Killers: Sleeping with Psychopaths Christopher Berry-Dee, 2022-01-06 Bestselling writer and criminologist Christopher Berry Dee turns his attention to a new kind of victim the wives or partners of serial murderers who remained unaware of exactly who they had fallen for until after their other half's arrest or in some cases conviction for multiple murders Sonia Sutcliffe first discovered that her husband Peter was leading a secret existence as the Yorkshire Ripper only when he was arrested The wife of the Hillside Strangler only learned of her husband's crimes when state police smashed down her door in search of him On finding out the truth these innocents often experience a strange kind of guilt for not having recognised the killer in their home as well as having to face the grim reality of betrayal and deceit Christopher Berry Dee speaks directly to killers and their oblivious loved ones to get inside the minds of the men and women who fall for murderers

Looking for Laura David Wilson, 2011 Looks at the way in which crime is packaged and presented for consumption by a news hungry public and the pressure exerted on experts by the media

Law in popular belief Anthony Amatrudo, Regina Rauxloh, 2017-03-21 In recent years there has been a significant growth in interest of the so called law in context extending legal studies beyond black letter law This book looks at the relationship between statute law and legal practice It examines how law is applied in reality and more precisely how law is perceived by the general public in contrast to the legal profession The authors look at a number of themes that are central to examining ways in which myths about law are formed and how there is inevitably a constitutive power aspect to this myth making At the same time they explore to what extent law itself creates and sustains myths The book will be of general interest to a number of different disciplines such as legal theory general law criminology and sociology

Female Serial Killers in Social Context Elizabeth Yardley, David Wilson, 2015-08-26 To date approaches to understanding serial murder have focused on individual cases rather than the social context in which they occurred Written by leading criminologists and world experts on serial murder this book marks a departure by situating nineteenth century serial killer Mary Ann Cotton within the broader social structure Using archival records of her court appearances local histories and newspaper articles it uniquely explores how institutions such as the family economy and religion shaped the environment she inhabited and her social integration through the roles of wife mother worker and criminal Acknowledging that it takes a particular type of individual to commit serial murder the book shows that it also takes a particular type of society to enable that murderer to go unseen As the first work to analyse serial murder through the theoretical framework of institutional criminology and institutional anomie theory it will equip criminologists with a methodological toolkit for performing institutional analysis

The Serial Killer Next Door Richard Estep, 2023-01-31 How well do you know your neighbors Maybe you should get to know them better Growing up we are taught that monsters are easy to identify but the truth is very different Too often the serial murderer does not stand out Otherwise he or she would get caught The contrast between the ordinary seeming lives that provided cover for their cruel secrets is exposed in The Serial Killer Next Door: The Double Lives of Notorious Murderers. To their coworkers neighbors and others who knew them they led unremarkable lives. They had careers as military pilots police officers landscapers small business owners farmers realtors reporters authors veterinary technicians nurses doctors handymen painters and chefs while they simultaneously stalked city suburbs college campuses trailer parks and red light districts. This chilling book looks at the horrifying stories of nearly 30 malevolent killers and hundreds of innocent victims who were mistakenly trusted including Genene Jones a nurse responsible for the murder of 60 infants and children in her care. She's said to be the inspiration for Stephen King's iconic character of Annie Wilkes in Misery and her nephew broke into King's home threatening to blow up the writer and his family because of it. Robert Lee Yates a helicopter pilot in the Army National Guard who when caught buried one body outside his bedroom window as his wife slept. Gary Ridgway also known as the Green River Killer went undetected for 20 years working for 30 years as a painter for a truck company and married for 17 years. Kathleen Folbigg whose three children were at first thought to have died from natural causes. She only got caught when her husband found her personal diary. Joseph James DeAngelo who worked various jobs including as a police officer and a truck mechanic. He went on a decades long crime spree and was finally caught with the help of DNA evidence. His case was instrumental in the establishment of California's DNA database. And dozens of other serial killers. It's chilling to realize that many serial killers have created second lives that are completely divorced from the brutality and evils they commit. It's incomprehensible to think that they are able to flip a switch transforming them from apparently loving ordinary men and women into torturous homicidal slaughterers. With more than 120 photos and graphics The Serial Killer Next Door is richly illustrated. Its helpful bibliography and extensive index add to its usefulness. We trust our neighbors coworkers and acquaintances. Of course we do. It's ominous to think that we can't.

Making Sense of Homicide Adam Lynes, Elizabeth Yardley, Lucas Danos, 2021-01-15. The first dedicated textbook for Criminology students studying homicide. As the authors explain criminal homicide is but one form of lethal violence victims may suffer leading them to describe a much broader range of scenarios. Ranging from murder to manslaughter to State killings genocide and disasters involving victims of public policy corporate crime or shortcomings in health and safety. Making Sense of Homicide re positions discussion of the topic for those wishing to see beyond routine media hype and ill informed popular discourse. The book also contains a special expert contribution by former Police Superintendent Ronald Winch about how the UK police investigate homicide including fundamental requirements and pitfalls. The book ranges in scope from serial killing to mass and spree homicide and across the jurisdictions of the UK USA and other countries. Also interweaved in this key resource are acutely observed accounts of the Holocaust capital punishment and homicide within a consumer society. The authors explain the categories within which homicide is conventionally discussed as well as crimes of the powerful and those made opaque for political economic or other questionable purposes making the work one of immense value to anyone wishing to see violence through a new lens A hugely wide ranging explanation of homicide perfect for dedicated courses The book demonstrates how homicide definition stems from political cultural and societal choices and looks at the deficits in homicide classifications An entirely fresh look at the subject From the Foreword It is no small feat to offer such robust understandings of homicide A judicious and much needed collection at a time in which our existence is evermore enveloped by aspects of death despair and homicide in all its various malignant forms Professor David Wilson Authors Dr Adam Lynes Professor Elizabeth Yardley and Lucas Danos all teach at Birmingham City University one of the UK's leading centres of Criminology where their existing publications have attracted considerable acclaim Ronald Winch spent over 30 years in the police including investigating homicide and other serious major and complex crimes Together they bring straightforward and refreshing perspectives to a sometimes hard to understand and often disquieting topic

New Directions in Criminological Theory Steve Hall, Simon Winlow, 2012-06-25 This edited collection brings together established global scholars and new thinkers to outline fresh concepts and theoretical perspectives for criminological research and analysis in the 21st century Criminologists from the UK USA Canada and Australia evaluate the current condition of criminological theory and present students and researchers with new and revised ideas from the realms of politics culture and subjectivity to unpack crime and violence in the precarious age of global neoliberalism These ideas range from the micro realm of the personality disorder to the macro realm of global power crime Rejecting or modifying the orthodox notion that crime and harm are largely the products of criminalisation and control systems these scholars bring causes and conditions back into play in an eclectic yet thematic way that should inspire students and researchers to once again investigate the reasons why some individuals and groups elect to harm others rather than seek sociability This collection will inspire new criminologists to both look outside their discipline for new ideas to import and to create new ideas within their discipline to reinvigorate it and further strengthen its ability to explain the crimes and harms that we see around us today This book will be of particular interest to academics and both undergraduate and postgraduate students in the field of criminology especially to those looking for theoretical concepts and frameworks for dissertations theses and research reports
