Taylor, 2023-04-21 In a scholarly career spanning five decades Rhoda Rappaport published perceptive analyses of science in the culture of early Modern Europe France in particular with strong emphasis on geology s early development Of the sixteen papers in this volume most focus on aspects of geology's cultivation during the long 18th century from the times of Hooke Leibniz and Fontenelle to those of Lavoisier Werner and Cuvier Among the topics most closely treated here are the French mineralogical mapping project initiated by Guettard contemporary efforts to interpret the earth historically such as through Noah's Flood and difficulties presented by the vocabulary often used in traditional histories of geology Much of Rappaport's research addressed two problems prevalent within 18th century earth science the proper understanding of petrifactions or fossil objects and struggles to establish reliable knowledge of the earth s past She also examined the chemistry of G F Rouelle which she saw as effectively an attempt at systematic comprehension of the entire mineral realm trans national features of scientific pursuits as illustrated in the careers of the naturalist Vallisneri and the mineralogist and philosophe d Holbach and aspects of science s promotion in France through government patronage and academic privilege After Popper, Kuhn and Feyerabend R. Nola, H. Sankey, 2012-12-06 Some think that issues to do with scientific method are last century s stale debate Popper was an advocate of methodology but Kuhn Feyerabend and others are alleged to have brought the debate about its status to an end The papers in this volume show that issues in methodology are still very much alive Some of the papers reinvestigate issues in the debate over methodology while others set out new ways in which the debate has developed in the last decade The book will be of interest to philosophers and scientists alike in the reassessment it provides of earlier debates about method and current directions of research Short History of Chemistry James Riddick Partington, 1989-01-01 This classic exposition explores the origins of chemistry alchemy early medical chemistry nature of atmosphere theory of valency laws and structure of atomic theory and much more

Matter and Method in the Long Chemical Revolution Victor D. Boantza, 2016-05-06 The seventeenth century scientific revolution and the eighteenth century chemical revolution are rarely considered together either in general histories of science or in more specific surveys of early modern science or chemistry This tendency arises from the long held view that the rise of modern physics and the emergence of modern chemistry comprise two distinct and unconnected episodes in the history of science Although chemistry was deeply transformed during and between both revolutions the scientific revolution is traditionally associated with the physical and mathematical sciences whereas modern chemistry is seen as the exclusive product of the chemical revolution This historiographical tension between similarity in form and disparity in historical content of the two events has tainted the way we understand the rise of modern chemistry as an integral part of the advent of modern science Against this background Matter and Method in the Long Chemical Revolution examines the role of and effects on chemistry of both revolutions in parallel using chemistry during the chemical revolution to illuminate chemistry during the scientific revolution and vice versa Focusing on the crises and conflicts of early modern chemistry and their retrospectively labeled losing parties the author traces patterns of continuity in matter theory and experimental method from Boyle to Lavoisier and reevaluates the disciplinary relationships between chemists mechanists and Newtonians in France England and Scotland Adopting a unique approach to the study of the scientific and chemical revolutions and to early modern chemical thought and practice in particular the author challenges the standard revolution centered history of early modern science and reinterprets the rise of chemistry as an independent discipline in the long eighteenth century on the History of Chemistry and Chemical Technology. 17th to the 19th Century Valentin Wehefritz, 2011-06-24 No detailed description available for Bibliography on the History of Chemistry and Chemical Technology 17th to the 19th The Philosophy of Historical Case Studies Tilman Sauer, Raphael Scholl, 2016-05-24 This volume collects reflections on the role of philosophy in case studies in the history of science Case studies have played a prominent role in recent history and philosophy of science They have been used to illustrate question explore or explicate philosophical points of view Even if not explicitly so historical narratives are always guided by philosophical background assumptions But what happens if different philosophies lead to different narratives of the same historical episodes Can historical case studies decide between competing philosophical viewpoints What are the criteria that a case study has to fulfill in order to be philosophically relevant Bringing together leading practitioners in the fields of history and philosophy of the physical and the life sciences this volume addresses this methodological problem and proposes ways of rendering explicit philosophical assumptions of historical work Historical Studies in the Language of Chemistry Maurice P. The Enlightened Joseph Priestley Robert E. Schofield, 2010-11 Joseph Priestley 1733 1804 is one of the major figures of the English Enlightenment A contemporary and friend of Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson he exceeded even these polymaths in the breadth of his curiosity and learning Yet no one has attempted an all inclusive biography of Priestley probably because he was simply too many persons for anyone easily to comprehend in a single study Robert Schofield has devoted a lifetime of scholarship to this task The result is a magisterial book covering the life and works of Priestley during the critical first forty years of his life Although Priestley is best known as a chemist this book is considerably more than a study in the history of science As any good biographer must Schofield has thoroughly studied the many activities in which Priestley was engaged Among them are theology electricity chemistry politics English grammar rhetoric and educational philosophy Schofield situates Priestley the provincial dissenter within the social political and intellectual contexts of his day and examines all the works Priestley wrote and published during this period Schofield singles out the first forty years of Priestley's life because these were the years of preparation and trial during which Priestley qualified for the achievements that were to make him famous The discovery of oxygen the defenses of Unitarianism and the political liberalism that characterize the mature Priestley all are foreshadowed in the young Priestley A brief epilogue looks ahead to the next thirty years when Priestley was forced out of England and settled in Pennsylvania the subject of Schofield's next book But this volume stands alone as the definitive study of the making of Joseph Priestley Historical Studies in the Physical Sciences,

Volume 7 Russell McCormmach, 2015-03-08 The first article in this volume by Tetu Hirosige is a definitive study of the genesis of Einstein's theory of relativity Other articles treat topics theoretical experimental philosophical and institutional in the history of physics and chemistry from the researches of Laplace and Lavoisier in the eighteenth century to those of Dirac and Jordan in the twentieth century Contents The Ether Problem the Mechanistic World View and the Origins of the Theory of Relativity Tetu Hirosige Kinstein's Early Scientific Collaboration Lewis Pyenson Max Planck's Philosophy of Nature and His Elaboration of the Special Theory of Relativity Stanley Goldberg The Concept of Particle Creation before and after Quantum Mechanics Joan Brombery Chemistry as a Branch of Physics Laplace's Collaboration with Lavoisier Henry Guerlac Mayer's Concept of Force The Axis of a New Science of Physics P M Heimann Debates over the Theory of Solution A Study of Dissent in Physical Chemistry in the English Speaking World in the Late Nineteenth and Early Twentieth Centuries R G A Dolby The Rise of Physics Laboratories in Britain Romualdas Sviedrys The Establishment of the Royal College of Chemistry An Investigation of the Social Context of Early Victorian Chemistry Gerrylynn K Roberts Originally published in 1976 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Reader's Guide to the History of Science Arne Hessenbruch, 2013-12-16 The Reader's Guide to the History of Science looks at the literature of science in some 550 entries on individuals Einstein institutions and disciplines Mathematics general themes Romantic Science and central concepts Paradigm and Fact The history of science is construed widely to include the history of medicine and technology as is reflected in the range of disciplines from which the international team of 200 contributors are drawn The Formation of the German Chemical Community 1720-1795 Karl Hufbauer, 2023-11-15 The Formation of the German Chemical Community 1720 1795 delves into the development of the chemical discipline in Germany during the 18th century specifically focusing on the social and institutional conditions that led to the creation of a national community of chemists The study examines how chemists in Germany began to perceive themselves as a cohesive professional group united by shared goals and responsibilities and how this solidarity influenced their reception of revolutionary scientific ideas such as Lavoisier's theory Through a thorough analysis of key figures journals and institutional histories the book provides a nuanced understanding of the intellectual and social networks that fostered the rise of chemistry as a distinct scientific field in Germany The book explores how the German chemical community was shaped not just by intellectual currents but also by external support from the Enlightenment including financial and moral backing from state and academic institutions It emphasizes how chemists particularly those following the rational utilitarian approach led by figures like G E Stahl distanced themselves from alchemy and iatrochemistry positioning chemistry as a rational science with wide reaching practical applications By tracing the formation of this community and its response to scientific revolutions the author argues that the evolution of chemistry in Germany during the 18th century played a crucial role in the professionalization of the science in the 19th century This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1982 Science and Its History Joseph Agassi, 2008-09-16 Professor Joseph Agassi has published his Towards an Historiography of Science in 1963 It received many reviews by notable academics including Maurice Finocchiaro Charles Gillispie Thomas S Kuhn Geroge Mora Nicholas Rescher and L Pearce Williams It is still in use in many courses in the philosophy and history of science Here it appears in a revised and updated version with responses to these reviews and with many additional chapters some already classic others new They are all paradigms of the author's innovative way of writing fresh and engaging chapters in the history of the natural sciences The Essential Tension Thomas S. Kuhn, 2024-05-31 Kuhn has the unmistakable address of a man who so far from wanting to score points is anxious above all else to get at the truth of matters Sir Peter Medawar Cavendish Christa Jungnickel, Russell McCormmach, 1996 The Cavendishes flourished during the high tide of Nature British aristocracy following the revolution of 1688 89 and the case can be made that this aristocracy knew its finest hour when Henry Cavendish gently laid his delicate weights in the pan of his incomparable precision balance For this it took two generations and two kinds of invention one in social forms and the other in scientific technique This biography tells how it came to pass Book jacket
