History Of Jamaica:

Jamaica in Slavery and Freedom Kathleen E. A. Monteith, Glen Richards, 2002 Jamaica's rich history has been the subject of many books, articles and papers. This collection of eighteen original essays considers aspects of Jamaican history not covered in more general histories of the island and illuminates more recent developments in Jamaican and West Indian history. Unique in its interdisciplinary approach, the collection emphasizes the relevance of history to everyday life and the development of a national identity, culture and economy. The essays are organized in three sections: Historiography and Sources, Society, Culture and Heritage, and Economy, Labour and Politics, with contributions from scholars in the Departments of History, Literatures in English and Political Sciences and from the Main Library, University of the West Indies, Mona, Jamaica. A History of Jamaica William James Gardner, 2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1873 edition. Excerpt: PERIOD IV From the commencement of the Anti Slavery Struggle to Emancipation CHAPTER I HISTORICAL EVENTS The exultation of the colonists at the victory of Lord Rodney was somewhat abated when the heavy taxation rendered necessary by martial law was announced; some consolation was however found in the high prices obtained for sugar and rum. Considerable accessions were also made to the material strength of the colony by the introduction of emigrants from Honduras and the United States of America. In January 1788 a large convoy arrived from Charleston with sixteen hundred troops, four hundred white families and four thousand five hundred slaves. A considerable number of these persons settled in Kingston and succeeded so well in business as to call forth loud complaints at their exemption from taxation for a term of years. Others however were poor and some thousands of pounds were contributed by private subscription and parochial funds for their support. Others again became planters and were exposed to the same misfortunes as attended large bodies of white emigrants in former days. A list is still in existence of 183 heads of families to whom grants of land were made in St Elizabeths. This land was little better than morass and a claim for the payment of 4696 by the gentleman who surveyed the spot and apportioned it led to an inquiry on the part of the house of assembly when it was stated in evidence that none but amphibious creatures such as fishes, Southey's History vol ii p 540 frogs and Dutchmen could live there. One poor gentleman
