In The Brief Eternal Silence

Allāmah Mohammad Taqi Ja'fari

In The Brief Eternal Silence:

A Short Treatise on the Life of Imam Ali ('a) Allāmah Mohammad Taqi Ja'fari, Classification of Historical events Analysis of historical events can be classified into two major types 1 Analysis of events such that veracity objectivity and correctness of the analysis only affects our understanding of a particular minor issue In this case correctness or incorrectness of the analysis does not benefit or harm our understanding of social issues overall and does not affect anything beyond that particular event itself Let us assume for example that we commit a mistake in identifying Napoleon s neighbor from a historic perspective in the following sense The color of the cap of the Napoleon s neighbor was brown and we identify it mistakenly to be blue In this situation we know that this in no way will affect our understanding of the true personality of Napoleon about whom study can be socially beneficial for us Whether Napoleon had a neighbor or not and whether his neighbor wore a blue cap or a brown one has no relation whatsoever to Napoleon s personality It is even possible that some other events in his life were also of this nature and had no role in the formation of his personality So even if we commit a genuine mistake or commit a mistake intentionally in identifying or analyzing these events or in other words if we manipulate these events according to our personal inclinations we have not compromised the final purpose itself because even after reaching such wrong conclusion

Character in the Short Prose of Ivan Sergeevič Turgenev Sander Brouwer, 2023-07-10 In this book the problem of literary character is investigated in a series of detailed analyses of short stories by I S Turgenev Bezhin Lea Mumu A Journey into Poles The Dog and Punin and Baburin Up until roughly the 1920 s in Russia before Formalism the approach to character in literary criticism was based on the implicit assumption that literary character somehow reflected characters in real life who were thought to have a fixed inner essence psychological and or ideological In post formalist structuralist studies on the other hand character as it were dissolved into the textual fabric of the work In this book the basic viewpoint of structuralist theory of character namely its exclusively textual nature is retained But in that case how is the structure of character in texts of the pre modernist era to be described in which the belief in the existence of an inner essence in actual as well as in fictional characters had hardly yet been shaken In order to tackle this problem the author turns to Roman Jakobson s idea taken up and developed by W Schmid and A Hansen L ve that the meaning of a work of literature is generated by the interaction of paradigmatic and syntagmatic mechanisms The image of character in Turgenev s stories is the result of devices characteristic of narrative as well as of verbal art It is partly created with the help of leitmotifs that form sequences of equivalences and of intertextual references Thus social representation is supplemented by lyrical and philosophical overtones Comparable observations have been made by V M Markovic 1982 on Turgenev s novels as well as on those by Pu kin Gogol and Lermontov For the assessment of intra and intertextual equivalences it has been found of great importance to pay more attention than is usually done to folkloric connotations of details in Turgenev s fictional world Thus new layers of meaning can be uncovered in stories that have been considered well studied and a first ever interpretation is given of The Dog a story traditionally regarded as incomprehensible Short Studies on Great Subjects James Anthony Froude, 1877 Short Studies on Great Subjects Froude, 1877 American Silences Joseph Ward, 2017-10-24 In American Silences Joseph Anthony Ward offers a unique analysis of the use and effects of silence in modern American realistic art Beginning with the nineteenth century literature that laid the foundation for silence in art he moves to a brief analysis of Sherwood Anderson's Winesburg, Ohio and Ernest Hemingway's In Our Time showing how they along with several other crucial works of twentieth century American realism incorporate the power of the silent into their expression without sacrificing the subjects and techniques of traditional realism Examining Let Us Now Praise Famous Men James Agee's commentary on the life of tenant farmers documented with photographs by Walker Evans Ward traces the book's pattern of silence then silence disturbed by sound and ultimately silence restored Ward further supports his theory with a study of Agee's A Death in the Family and Evans' American Photographs Ward sees Agee's admiration of photography as a connection between the silence of the scenes he writes about and the silence of Evans' photographs The use of silence is perhaps even more obvious in the paintings of Edward Hopper Although throughout the book Ward suggests both the positive and negative qualities of silence in art Hopper's paintings provide little in the way of positiveness For Ward the art of silence is an art of extreme concentration that seeks essences rather than superficiality that nearly transcends realism itself The theme of silence in American realism is a significant new one but Ward's interpretation of the prose and his analysis of the photographs and paintings many of which are reproduced in this book establish validity for art as the voice of silence

Short Stories, 1893 Selected Short Works Zane Grey, 2022-11-22 Selected Short Works by Zane Grey is a collection of period short stories about life in the wild west The collection features Bernardo's Revenge the Lure of the River a Mississippi Schoolmarm and much much more Excerpt NOW that it was spring again old Jim Crawford slowly responded to the call of the desert He marked this fact with something of melancholy Every winter took a little more out of him Presently he would forget it when he was once more out on the lonely and peaceful wasteland hunting for the gold he had never found and for which he had given the best years of his life The Complete Writings of Alfred de Musset: Short stories ... done into English by ... R. Pellissier; illustrations by ... Bida, H. Pille, F. Flameng Alfred de Musset, 1905 Short Story Classics (Foreign) ...: French, II William Patten, 1907 Short Story Classics: French II and index William Patten, 1907 Into the Silent Land Martin Laird, 2006-07-01 Sitting in stillness the practice of meditation and the cultivation of awareness are commonly thought to be the preserves of Hindus and Buddhists Martin Laird shows that the Christian tradition of contemplation has its own refined teachings on using a prayer word to focus the mind working with the breath to cultivate stillness and the practice of inner vigilance or awareness But this book is not a mere historical survey of these teachings In Into the Silent Land we see the ancient wisdom of both the Christian East and West brought sharply to bear on the modern day longing for radical openness to God in the depths of the heart Laird's book is not like the many presentations for beginners While useful for those just starting out this book serves especially as a guide for those who desire to journey yet deeper into the silence of God The heart of the book focuses on negotiating key moments of struggle on the contemplative path when the whirlwind of distractions or the brick wall of boredom makes it difficult to continue Laird shows that these inner struggles even wounds that any person of prayer must face are like riddles trying to draw out of us our own inner silence Ultimately Laird shows how the wounds we loathe become vehicles of the healing silence we seek beyond technique and achievement Throughout the language is fresh direct and focused on real life examples of people whose lives are incomparably enriched by the practice of contemplation Choice Lyrics and Short Poems; Or, Nightingale Valley.

Edited by W. Allingham William Allingham,1871 The Wide World Magazine ,1899 The Family Idiot Jean-Paul Sartre,2021-12-05 That Sartre s study of Flaubert The Family Idiot is a towering achievement in intellectual history has never been disputed Yet critics have argued about the precise nature of this novel or biography or criticism fiction which is the summation of Sartre s philosophical social and literary thought Sartre writes simply in the preface to the book The Family Idiot is the sequel to The Question of Method The subject what at this point in time can we know about a man It seemed to me that this question could only be answered by studying a specific case A man is never an individual Sartre writes it would be more fitting to call him a universal singular Summed up and for this reason universalized by his epoch he in turn resumes it by reproducing himself in it as singularity Universal by the singular universality of human history singular by the universalizing singularity of his projects he requires simultaneous examination from both ends This is the method by which Sartre examines Flaubert and the society in which he existed Now this masterpiece is being made available in an inspired English translation that captures all the variations of Sartre s style from the jaunty to the ponderous and all the nuances of even the most difficult ideas Volume 1 consists of Part One of the original French work La Constitution and is primarily concerned with Flaubert s childhood and adolescence Short Histories of the Literatures of the World ,1901 Learning

Christ Gregory Vall,2013 Learning Christ represents a thorough reevaluation of Ignatius as author and theologian demonstrating that his seven authentic letters present a sophisticated and cohesive vision of the economy of redemption Gregory Vall argues that Ignatius s thought represents a vital synthesis of Pauline Johannine and Matthean perspectives while anticipating important elements of later patristic theology Topics treated in this volume include Ignatius s soteriological anthropology his Christology and nascent Trinitarianism his nuanced understanding of the relationship between Judaism and Christianity and his ecclesiology and eschatology Improvement Era ,1917 The Century ,1888

Mind ,1905 A quarterly review of philosophy The Rational and the Real L. Armour,2012-12-06 A book with so Hegelian a title should I suppose be more Hegelian than this one I share with Hegel the conviction that the rational is the real and the real is the rational I have learned something from Hegel and borrowed here and there But the reader should not jump to conclusions I rather fear that anti Hegelians will not get past the title and that Hegelians upon discovering heresy will give up after the first chapter but I continue to hope that my fear is quite unjustified I should I think say something about the relation between this book and an earlier work a University of London Ph D thesis entitled Some Problems in British Idealist Ontology a Re examination and Attempted Reconstruction There I surveyed some key problems in idealist metaphysics and also endeavoured to discover just how strong a case could be made for the idealist position I decided that a pretty strong case could be made and I was very nearly convinced by it The position I have developed here is no longer strictly speaking idealist though it is perhaps more nearly idealist than anything else I have used some ideas developed in the earlier work and some of the chapter titles are the same
