In Search Of Community:

Campus Life Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, 2019-06-18 In 1990 the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching published a classic report on the loss of a meaningful basis for true community on college campuses and in the nation Now this expanded edition of Campus Life reintroduces educational leaders to the report s proposals while offering up to date analysis and recommendations for Christian campuses today In Search of Community Eileen B. Leonard, Hermann Strasser, Kenneth Westhues, 1993 In Search of Community is a collection of thirteen essays by former students of Dr Werner Stark influential historian of social thought The work opens with an introduction succinctly relating an outline of Stark s life s work encompassing the historical framework that influences him and the personal events that shape his outlook and scholarship The essayists address the entire range of central subjects of the sociological discipline by focusing on four areas of scientific debate the epistemic Sociology of Knowledge the theoretical Social Thought the societal Social Bond and the religious Sociology of Religion Those four areas were also of substantive concern to Werner Stark and his extraordinary range and depth of knowledge is reflected in this collection of essays In Search For Community: Encounter Groups And Social Change Kurt W. Back, 2019-03-08 This book consists of papers presented at two symposia at AAAS Annual meetings It enables us to evaluate the new groups and techniques in comparison with other phenomena in the society and with rituals in other societies and times clearly placing them in the history of ideas Walker Percy's Search for Community John F. Desmond, 2004 In this criticism of Percy John F Desmond traces the writer s enduring concerns with community These concerns Desmond argues were grounded in the realism of such Scholastics as Aquinas and Duns Scotus Southeast Asia in Search of an ASEAN Community C. Rodolfo Severino, 2006 Talking about ASEAN this volume reappraises the organization from the inside through controversial or perplexing issues such as the ASEAN Way the accession of the new members including Myanmar the principle of non interference regional security regional economic integration the haze and SARS and ASEAN s future The Search for Political Community Paul Lichterman, 1996-09-19 This book challenges the myth that Americans emphasis on personal fulfilment necessarily weakens commitment to the common good Drawing on extensive participant observation with a variety of environmentalist groups Paul Lichterman argues that individualism sometimes enhances public political commitment and that a shared respect for individual inspiration enables activists with diverse political backgrounds to work together This personalised culture of commitment has sustained activists working long term for social change The book contrasts personalised politics in mainly white environmental groups with a more traditional community centred culture of commitment in an African American group The untraditional personalised politics of many recent social movements invites us to rethink common understandings of commitment community and individualism in a post traditional world Community in Modern Scottish Literature, 2016-04-18 Community in Modern Scottish Literature is the first book to examine representations and theories of community in Scottish writing of the twentieth and twenty first centuries across a broad range of authors and from various conceptual perspectives The leading scholars in the field examine work in the novel poetry and drama by key Scottish authors such as MacDiarmid Kelman and Galloway as well as less well known writers This includes postmodern and postcolonial readings analysis of writing by gay and Gaelic authors alongside theorists of community such as Nancy Bauman Delanty Cohen Blanchot and Anderson This book will unsettle and yet broaden traditional conceptions of community in Scotland and Scottish literature suggesting a more plural idea of what community might be

The Dance with Community Robert Booth Fowler, 1991-07-25 Contemporary intellectuals have rushed to embrace the concept of community What does this tell us about American political thought Why are intellectuals uneasy with modern liberal individualism and its institutional policy results Why is political intellectual discourse dominated today by complaint In The Dance with Community Robert Booth Fowler reflects upon these and related questions My goal he writes is to present contemporary political thought about community for what it is a conversation interactive spirited and sometimes tough There have been many interpretations of the much discussed decline in community spirit Rather than offer another Fowler steps back to look at the debate itself He examines from the perspective of an intellectual historian the attention to community in current American political thought and explores the setting of that attention He also identifies five alternative models of community integral to the current debates and sketches a clear image of each its relationship to others the logic of its appeal and its emphases and problems In each instance he places the model into the larger conversation over alternative communities and the value of community itself

New Visions of Community in Contemporary American Fiction Magali Cornier Michael, 2008-04 In this engaging optimistic close reading of five late twentieth century novels by American women Magali Cornier Michael illuminates the ways in which their authors engage with ideas of communal activism common commitment and social transformation The fictions she examines imagine coalition building as a means of moving toward new forms of nonhierarchical justice for ethnic cultures that as a result of racist attitudes have not been assimilated power with each other rather than power over each other is a collective goal Michael argues that much contemporary American fiction by women offers models of care and nurturing that move away from the private sphere toward the public and political Specifically texts by women from such racially marked ethnic groups as African American Asian American Native American and Mexican American draw from the rich systems of thought histories and experiences of these hybrid cultures and thus offer feminist and ethical revisions of traditional concepts of community coalition subjectivity and agency Focusing on Amy Tan s The Joy Luck Club Barbara Kingsolver s The Bean Trees and Pigs in Heaven Ana Castillo s So Far from God and Toni Morrison s Paradise Michael shows that each writer emphasizes the positive liberating effects of kinship and community These hybrid versions of community which draw from other than dominant culturally specific ideas and histories have something to offer Americans as the United States moves into an increasingly diverse twenty first century Michael provides a rich lens through which to view both contemporary fiction and contemporary life In Search of the Church Keith A. Russell, 2004-02-01 Contents Preface I Introduction In Search of the Church II Mark An Alternative Community III Matthew Households of Justice IV Luke Signs of the Kingdom V Paul Communities of Reconciliation VI 1 Peter Homes for the Homeless VII The Apocalypse of John Communities of Resistance VIII In Search of the Church An Invitation Community Practice in the Network Society Peter Day, Doug Schuler, 2004-06-11 Around the world citizens in local communities are utilising ICTs to underpin the creation of a participatory and democratic vision of the network society Embedded in the richness and diversity of community practice a vision of a civil network society is emerging A society where ICTs are harnessed as tools to improve the quality of life and reflect the diversity of social networks where people are viewed as citizens not just as consumers and where heterogeneity is perceived as a strength rather than a weakness Community Practice in the Network Society looks at the broad context in which this is happening presents case studies of local projects from around the world and discusses community ICT research methodologies Not only does it highlight the symbiotic relationship between community ICT practice and research but it also provides evidence supporting the case for the development of more inclusive and participatory pathways to the network society How Places Make Us Japonica Brown-Saracino, 2018 Maybe we've had enough of studies of gay men and urban centers tracing out the similarities from one place to the next Japonica Brown Saracino bucks the trend giving us the first in depth study of lesbians and bisexual queer women more generally showing how four contrasting communal cultures have shaped their identity Individual lesbian residents shape the culture of sexual identity they embrace based at the same time on the prevailing culture in the city they inhabit And the consequence is that the same woman will develop a different version of lesbian identity depending on which of the four cities she moves into Those cities are Ithaca New York San Luis Obispo California Greenfield Massachusetts and Portland Maine She identifies them in the book a rare move for ethnographers thus insuring a coast to coast readership with lots of debate This book advances in almost equal measure sexuality and gender studies theories of identity theories of place and urban sociology Each city has its own loose bundles or connections between residents whether it's the taste based ties in Ithaca or the ties in San Luis Obispo that cut across demographics or the conversations about identity that prevail in Portland or the emphasis Greenfield on other dimensions of the self e.g. profession politics or life stage such as motherhood Along the way Brown Saracino poses a set of questions from urban sociology about migration residential choice and community change processes that students of cities rarely apply to sexual minority populations A Business Ecology Perspective on Community-Driven Open Source Markus Radits, 2018-11-26 This thesis approaches the phenomenon of open source software OSS from a managerial and organisational point of view In a slightly narrower sense this thesis studies commercialisation aspects around community driven open source The term community driven signifies open source projects that are managed steered and controlled by communities of volunteers as opposed to those that are managed steered and controlled by single corporate sponsors By adopting a business ecology perspective this thesis places emphasis on the larger context within which the commercialisation of OSS is embedded e.g. global and collaborative production regimes ideological foundations market characteristics and diffuse boundary conditions. Because many business benefits arise as a consequence of the activities taking place in the communities and ecosystems around open source projects a business ecology perspective may be a useful analytical guide for understanding the opportunities challenges and risks that firms face in commercializing OSS. There are two overarching themes guiding this thesis. The first theme concerns the challenges that firms face in commercialising community driven open source. There is a tendency in the literature on business ecosystems and open source to emphasise the benefits opportunities and positive aspects of behaviour at the expense of the challenges that firms face. However business ecosystems are not only spaces of opportunity they may also pose a variety of challenges that firms need to overcome in order to be successful. To help rectify this imbalance in the literature the first theme particularly focuses on the challenges that firms face in commercialising community driven open source. The underlying ambition is to facilitate a more balanced and holistic understanding of the collaborative and competitive dynamics in ecosystems around open source projects. The other theme concerns the complex intertwining of community engagement and profit oriented venturing. As is acknowledged in the literature the subject of firm community interaction has become increasingly important because the survival success and sustainability of peer production communities has become of strategic relevance to many organisations. However while many strategic benefits may arise as a consequence of firm community interaction there is a lack of research studying how the value creating logics of firm community interaction are embedded within the bigger picture in which they occur. Bearing this bigger picture in mind this thesis explores the intertwining of volunteer community engagement and profit oriented venturing by focusing on four aspects that are theorised in the literature: reinforcement complementarity synergy and reciprocity. This thesis is designed as a qualitative exploratory single case study. The empirical case is Joomla a popular open source content management system. In a nutshell the Joomla case in this thesis comprises the interactions in the Joomla community and the commercial activities around the Joomla platform e.g. web development consulting marketing customisation extensions. In order to achieve greater analytical depth the business ecology perspective is complemented with ideas and propositions from other theoretical areas such as stakeholder theory community governance organizational identity motivation theory pricing and bundling. The findings show that the common challenges in commercialising community driven open source revolve around nine distinct factors that roughly cluster into three domains: the ecosystem the community and the firm. In short the domain of the ecosystem comprises the global operating environment the pace of change and the cannibalisation of ideas. The domain of the community comprises the platform policy platform image and the voluntary nature of the open source project. And finally the domain of the firm comprises the blurring boundaries between private and professional lives the difficulty of estimating costs and firm dependencies. Based on these insights a framework for analysing community based value creation in business ecosystems is proposed This framework integrates collective innovation community engagement and value capture into a unified model of value creation in contexts of firm community interaction Furthermore the findings reveal demonstrable effects of reinforcement complementarity synergy and reciprocity in the intertwining of volunteer community engagement and profit oriented venturing By showing that this intertwining can be strong in empirical cases where commercial activities are often implicitly assumed to be absent this thesis provides a more nuanced understanding of firm involvement in the realm of open source Based on the empirical and analytical insights a number of further theoretical implications are discussed such as the role of intersubjective trust in relation to the uncertainties that commercial actors face an alternative way of classifying community types the metaphor of superorganisms in the context of open source issues pertaining to the well being of community participants and issues in relation to the transitioning of open source developers from a community based to an entrepreneurial self identity when commercialising an open source solution Furthermore this thesis builds on six sub studies that make individual contributions of their own In a broad sense this thesis contributes to the literature streams on the commercialisation of OSS the business value and strategic aspects of open source the interrelationships between community forms of organising and entrepreneurial activities and the nascent research on ecology perspectives on peer production communities A variety of opportunities for future research are highlighted litteraturen har fr gån om samverkan mellan företag och communities blivit allt viktigare eftersom communityernas verlevnad framgång och hållbarhet har blivit strategiskt viktiga för många organisationer även om många strategiska fördelar kan uppstå som en följd av samverkan mellan företag och communities saknas forskning om hur värdeskapande uppstår i en vidare kontext. Med ett bredare perspektiv i tanke undersöker denna avhandling sammanflätningen av frivilligt community deltagande och en vinstdrivande verksamhet genom att fokusera på fyra aspekter av sammanflätning som förekommer i litteraturen förståelse komplementaritet synergi och mutesidighet. Denna avhandling är utformad som en kvalitativ utforskande fallstudie. Det empiriska fallet är Joomla ett innehållshanteringssystem som bygger på open source. Inom ramen för avhandlingen undersöks fallet i termer av samspel inom Joomla communityn och de kommersiella aktiviteterna som sker runt Joomla plattformen till exempel webbutveckling redigering marknadsföring anpassningar och extensions. För att uppnå ett analytiskt djup kompletteras affärsökologiperspektivet med idéer och förslag från andra teoretiska områden såsom intressentmodellen community styrning företagsidentitet motivationsteori prissättning och buntning. Resultaten visar att utmaningarna med kommersialisering av community driven OSS kretsar kring nio olika faktorer som kan grupperas i tre områden ekosystemet communityn och företaget. Ekosystemsfaktorerna innefattar den globala verksamma miljön för näringshastigheten och kannibalisering av idéer. Community faktorerna innefattar plattformspolicy plattformsimago och att deltagandet i open source projektet sker på frivillig basis. Slutligen innefattar företagsfaktorerna suddiga gränser mellan privatliv och arbetsliv svårigheten att uppskatta kostnader samt beroendeförhållanden mellan företag. Baserat på dessa insikter föreslås en modell för att analysera communitybaserad värdeskapande i affärsökologier. Modellen integrerar kollektiv innovation community deltagande och value capture i en holistisk modell för community baserad värdeskapande i kontexten samverkan mellan företag och communities. Vidare beskrivs effekterna av sammanflätningen av frivilligt community deltagande och vinstdrivande verksamhet i termer av förståelse komplementaritet synergi och mutesidighet. Genom att visa att sammanflätningen av frivilligt community deltagande och vinstdrivande verksamhet kan vara stark i fall där det ofta antas implicit att kommersiella aktiviteter inte förekommer ger denna avhandling en mer nyanserad förståelse av företags roll i kontexten open source. Baserat på empiriska och analytiska insikter diskuterar denna avhandling ett antal teoretiska konsekvenser såsom rollen som intersubjektiv tillit spelar i förhållande till den ovisshet som kommersiella aktörer står inför ett alternativt sätt att klassificera community typer metaforen superorganismer i kontexten open source community deltagares välbefinnande samt hur open source utvecklare hanterar verging från en community baserad självidentitet till en entreprenoriell självidentitet vid kommersialisering av OSS. Dessutom ger de sex delstudier som avhandlingen bygger på egna bidrag som presenteras i respektive delstudie. I stora drag bidrar denna avhandling till litteraturen om kommersialisering av OSS affärsmodeller och strategiska aspekter på open source samspelet mellan community driven entreprenörsverksamhet samt den framväxande forskning som använder ett affärsökologiperspektiv för att studera kollegial produktion baserad på allmän nytta.
