

THE LETHAL DOSES OF 55 SUBSTANCES

HOW MUCH OF THESE 55 SUBSTANCES DOES IT TAKE TO BE LETHAL?

In toxicology, the median lethal dose, or  $LD_{50}$  (which is an abbreviation for "lethal dose, 50%"), is a measure of the lethal dose of a pathogen, toxin, or radiation. The value of the median lethal dose of a substance is the dose required to kill half of the tested population during a specific test duration.  $LD_{50}$  is often used as a general indicator of the acute toxicity of a substance. A lower  $LD_{50}$  means greater toxicity.

Lewis' Dictionary of Toxicology Robert Alan Lewis, 1998-03-23 This reference contains a staggering number of well researched and commonly used terms from toxicology and related fields Scientists from virtually every environmentally oriented field from chemistry to nursing to agriculture will find what they need in this dictionary It features vast coverage of terms from chemical names and pathogenic terms to official abbreviations environmental topics and biological definitions Each entry categorizes all major definitions and usage with extensive cross references for synonyms and related entries Including nearly every major technical toxicological term as applied to both human and environmental studies Lewis Dictionary of Toxicology is broader and more comprehensive than any other to date It is based on terms found in more than 600 journals 15 000 reprints of scientific papers and numerous leading reference sources

Principles of Toxicology Stine Karen, Thomas M. Brown, 1996-06-27 Written by two experienced toxicology lecturers Principles of Toxicology is an easy to read comprehensive textbook for a first course in toxicology at the undergraduate or graduate level filling the acute need for a well rounded introductory text Students will no longer need to struggle with material that is too difficult or that has too narrow a toxicological focus Principles of Toxicology covers this broad and interdisciplinary field from the viewpoint of three different functional levels molecular and cellular physiological and environmental and ecological Within each chapter the authors combine background material with new information in a manner that stresses principles and concepts These principles are then illustrated with selected specific examples This design helps students focus on understanding the subject rather than simply memorizing details Your search for the perfect introductory toxicology text is over Principles of Toxicology elegantly facilitates the teaching and learning of this challenging subject

Understanding Toxicology Steven Mercurio, 2016-08-30 Understanding Toxicology is a comprehensive study of toxicants and their impact on all levels of biology from cell to complex organism to ecosystem Unlike other texts of its kind this text is uniquely structured by biological system making it easy for readers to understand the impact of toxins on each system Common mechanisms are explored in the cellular and complex organ system chapters to approach a systems biology perspective that is more applicable to modern computational toxicology risk assessment Understanding Toxicology begins with three research questions that challenge the reader to discover what information is needed to solve controversies at the level of the cell the complex organism and the ecosystem The book continues with a cellular complex organism and ecosystem analysis of toxicology principles including risk assessment The cellular section follows common mechanisms from the outside to the inside of cells and individual organelles A forensic approach analyzes complex organisms from outside to inside The ecosystem section starts with a dispersion approach to determine environmental concentration and addresses toxicants in divisions similar to how the EPA determines impacts Key Features Uses lively engaging examples making the text fun and easy to read and understand Allows the reader to approach the subject from a research perspective as well as a public policy perspective Covers biological
