Empty Spaces:

Empty Spaces Joshua Quarrell, 2012-11 Second book in a three part series of poetry More poetry for the soul The ups and downs of the world brought forth in writing for the world to enjoy

Empty Spaces Jordan Abel, 2024-02-06 A hypnotic and mystifying exploration of land and legacy investigating what it means to be an intergenerational Indigenous survivor of Residential Schools A singular incantatory work The book feels as though forest itself is speaking sky itself river itself Nina MacLaughlin Boston Globe Jordan Abel's new work grows out of the groundbreaking visual expression in his recently published NISHGA a book that combined nonfiction with photography concrete poetry and literary inquiry Whereas NISHGA integrated descriptions of the landscape from James Fenimore Cooper's settler classic The Last of the Mohicans into visual pieces Empty Spaces reinscribes those words on the page itself and in doing so subjects them to bold rewritings Reimagining the nineteenth century text from the contemporary perspective of an urban Nisga a person whose relationship to land and traditional knowledge and spiritual traditions was severed by colonial violence Abel attempts to answer his research question of what it means to be Indigenous without access to familial territory Engaging the land through fiction and metaphor Abel creates an eerie looping and atmospheric rendering of place that evolves despite the violent and reckless histories of North America The result is a bold and profound new vision of history that decenters human perception and forgoes Westernized ways of seeing Rather than turning to characters and dialogue to explore truth Abel invites us to instead understand that the land knows everything that can and will happen even as the world lurches toward uncertainty

Atheists and Empty Spaces Michael Thomas, 2022-08-31 The poems in Atheists and Empty Spaces explore the quintessential aspect of humanity the need of having something in which to believe Modern humanity attempts to fill the empty spaces in the psyche with emotional and psychological sustenance that was once provided by communal connections religion and the worship of deities or even nature These poems explore how in many ways people have all become atheists because they no longer know how to connect to natural and supernatural forces and they simply no longer believe in them Humanity is now lacking a connection to the impulses that once nurtured human desires However the poems also suggest that art can provide a path back to those vital connections Some poems are simple explorations of personal pain that cannot be soothed Others are thorough considerations of how warped or misguided humanity's attempts really are at solving an elusive and unidentified misery Most of these poems take traditional forms of verse and song but some find their unique rhythms in contemporary free verse Others use examples from ancient cultures to comment on contemporary culture while some ideas spring from news headlines of today Each poem in this collection reflects on the ways that modern humans seek to fill their empty spaces whether atheist or not

Empty Spaces, Empty Places Constance Sorenson, Ron Lavin, 2001 Empty Spaces Empty Places revisits the manger cross and tomb through interviews with the innkeeper's wife the Centurion and Mary Magdalene By remembering the stories of Jesus birth death and resurrection believers see the lives He touched then and continues to touch

High Purity Silicon VI Electrochemical Society. Meeting, 2000 papers that were presented at the Sixth Symposium on High Purity Silicon held in Phoenix, Arizona, at the 198th Meeting of the Electrochemical Society, October 22-27, 2000. Preface

Space: Is That Really Empty? Austin John N. Arnaiz, In this book, the author tackles the different worlds and stages of space, which he divided into five categories. The first part leads us outside the atom but is still too small to be seen by the naked eye. The second was the bizarre universe within an atom. The theories and explanations for its strange behaviors and phenomena, its structure, and several insights were all crafted and combined in this part. The third part was portraying the inside of our planet where humans consume their everyday lives. The fourth part of this book is laying down the descriptions of the outside world beyond the Earth's atmosphere where various forms of floating objects are present in space in the midst of a vast and dark, spacious universe, and the fifth is the part of opening our eyes to the possibilities of multiverses.

A Sacred Space Is Never Empty Victoria Smolkin, 2018-05-22 When the Bolsheviks set out to build a new world in the wake of the Russian Revolution, they expected religion to die off. Soviet power used a variety of tools, from education to propaganda to terror, to turn its vision of a Communist world without religion into reality. Yet even with its monopoly on ideology and power, the Soviet Communist Party never succeeded in overcoming religion and creating an atheist society. A Sacred Space Is Never Empty presents the first history of Soviet atheism from the 1917 revolution to the dissolution of the Soviet Union in 1991. Drawing on a wealth of archival material and in-depth interviews with those who were on the front lines of Communist ideological campaigns, Victoria Smolkin argues that to understand the Soviet experiment, we must make sense of Soviet atheism. Smolkin shows how atheism was reimagined as an alternative cosmology with its own set of positive beliefs, practices, and spiritual commitments. Through its engagements with religion, the Soviet leadership realized that removing religion from the sacred spaces of Soviet life was not enough. Then, in the final years of the Soviet experiment, Mikhail Gorbachev, in a stunning and unexpected reversal, abandoned atheism and reintroduced religion into Soviet public life. A Sacred Space Is Never Empty explores the meaning of atheism for religious life, for Communist ideology, and for Soviet politics.

Historical Epistemology of Space Matthias Schemmel, 2015-12-11 This monograph investigates the development of human spatial knowledge by analyzing its elementary structures and studying how it is further shaped by various societal conditions. By taking a thoroughly historical perspective on knowledge and integrating results from various disciplines, this work throws new light on long-standing problems in epistemology, such as the relation between experience and preformed structures of cognition. What do the orientation of apes and the theory of relativity have to do with each other? Readers will learn how different forms of spatial thinking are related in a long-term history of knowledge. Scientific concepts of space, such as Newton's absolute space or Einstein's curved spacetime, are shown to be rooted in pre-scientific structures of knowledge.

while at the same time enabling the integration of an ever expanding corpus of experiential knowledge This work addresses all readers interested in questions of epistemology in particular philosophers and historians of science It integrates forms of spatial knowledge from disciplines including anthropology developmental psychology and cognitive sciences amongst others

High Purity Silicon VI Cor L. Claeys, 2000 papers that were presented at the Sixth Symposium on High Purity Silicon held in Phoenix Arizona at the 198th Meeting of the Electrochemical Society October 22 27 2000 Preface Safe Spaces Cornelia Roux, 2012-10-26 This book examines the crucial issues affecting Human Rights Education in contexts of culture religious and societal diversity It exhibits an impressive scholarly achievement capturing and combining the insights of both established academics and emerging researchers Each author succeeds in distilling the knowledge of their particular fields of interest as well as conveying the essence of their intuitive understanding and the richness of the context This book considers a variety of connected content and methodological issues in three major sections Philosophical and policy perspectives Gender discourses diverse perspectives and Discourses on narratives as safe spaces The Edition is further strengthened by allowing international reviewers the opportunity of engaging with the contributors in the Introduction and Conclusion an innovative departure from conventional formats and which will provide a global perspective to the readers The focus of the various chapters succeeds in establishing both a foundation and platform for dialogue surrounding human rights and human rights education in modern policy and governance Aptly named Safe Spaces the Edition offers in depth and credible safe nuances spaces in terms of the somewhat reified concept of human rights at a time when human rights remains a highly topical and contested international issue As such the book imparts an immense scope of theoretical and empirical perspectives reflected by the distinguished intellectuals who navigate the terrain of their respective disciplines with profound erudition This book represents a collaborative effort of immeasurable value This exemplary edition is both timeous and will prove timeless

The Large Scale Structure of Space-Time S. W. Hawking, G. F. R. Ellis, 1975-02-27 Einstein's General Theory of Relativity leads to two remarkable predictions first that the ultimate destiny of many massive stars is to undergo gravitational collapse and to disappear from view leaving behind a black hole in space and secondly that there will exist singularities in space time itself These singularities are places where space time begins or ends and the presently known laws of physics break down They will occur inside black holes and in the past are what might be construed as the beginning of the universe To show how these predictions arise the authors discuss the General Theory of Relativity in the large Starting with a precise formulation of the theory and an account of the necessary background of differential geometry the significance of space time curvature is discussed and the global properties of a number of exact solutions of Einstein's field equations are examined The theory of the causal structure of a general space time is developed and is used to study black holes and to prove a number of theorems establishing the inevitability of singularities under certain conditions A discussion of the Cauchy problem for General Relativity is also included in this 1973 book

Liquid Modernity Zygmunt Bauman, 2013-07-10 In this new book Bauman examines how we have moved away from a heavy and solid hardware focused modernity to a light and liquid software based modernity This passage he argues has brought profound change to all aspects of the human condition The new remoteness and unreachability of global systemic structure coupled with the unstructured and under defined fluid state of the immediate setting of life politics and human togetherness call for the rethinking of the concepts and cognitive frames used to narrate human individual experience and their joint history This book is dedicated to this task Bauman selects five of the basic concepts which have served to make sense of shared human life emancipation individuality time space work and community and traces their successive incarnations and changes of meaning Liquid Modernity concludes the analysis undertaken in Bauman s two previous books Globalization The Human Consequences and In Search of Politics Together these volumes form a brilliant analysis of the changing conditions of social and political life by one of the most original thinkers writing today Small Forgotten Places in the Hearth of Cities Antonio Laurià, Luigi Vessella, 2022-03-22 This book is the result of a research project designed and carried out at the Department of Architecture University of Florence This book discusses urban public spaces and more specifically run down inactive micro spaces that are barely used due to their location dimensions morphology or semantic characteristics In literature these spaces are often defined as residual urban spaces A large abandoned industrial area on the outskirts of a town or a small interstitial space in a historical centre can be residual With respect to such a broad subject matter the book seeks to radically limit the field concentrating on public residual spaces found in the oldest parts of cities The book reflects on this theme and introduces a method for reading and assessment of the residuality of public spaces in historical contexts Residuality Assessment Process which was tested in the historical centre of Florence It is the authors view that residual spaces above all if designed according to a system logic can go from being problems to potential activators of urban and social regeneration processes offering a useful contribution to improve city life Out of Place Talmadge Wright, 1997-01-01 Discusses the impact of inner city redevelopment programs and policies on the homeless and shows the methods used civil protests squatting and legal advocacy by the homeless to organize a tactical resistance to restructuring efforts Presents case studies of two different types of homeless organized resistance groups in Chicago and San Jose It's Not Too Late Frederick Douglas Harper, 2013-06-29 Its Not Too Late is a book of poetry poetic prose and prose Its theme and messages warn the reader that its not too late to develop the light of talent within us to find and realize our purpose in life to do the right things to cooperate globally as one human race without group conflict and violence and to save ourselves from premature extinction as a human species Featured titles within the book include And God Spoke on TV And Still We Had the Strength to Smile Reflections on the Black American Struggle A Tribute to White Civil Rights Advocates in U S History Its Not Too Late and Martin Malcolm and Medgar
