Land Without Justice, 1958 Without Justice For All Adolph Reed, 2018-02-12 Without Justice for All The New Liberalism and Our Retreat from Racial Equality questions examines and explains the way a new orthodoxy of American leaders has contributed to the social stratification and inequality which plagues America today By looking at the history of our social policies since the New Deal as well as the status of specific policy arenas essayists show how political shifts over the past fifty years have moved us away from a more egalitarian politics Throughout the book responds critically to the now conventional argument that liberalism must be reconfigured in ways that retreat from immediate identification with the interests of labor minorities and the poor From a look at federal housing policy and the failure of New Deal social programs to an examination of long established public assistance programs and Affirmative Action Without Justice for All is a timely and important contribution to the dialogue on race in modern America Peace Without Justice Margaret Popkin, 2010-11-01 Popkin analyzes the role of international actors notably the United States and the United Nations and the contributions and limitations of international assistance in efforts to establish accountability and reform the justice system in El Salvador The author discusses the essential role of civil society in attempts to establish accountability and an effective justice system for all and looks at the reasons for and the consequences of the limited role played by Salvadorean civil society She also addresses the challenges facing democratic reform efforts in the context of a postwar crime wave Peace Without Justice grew out of Margaret Popkin's extensive experience working as a human rights advocate in El Salvador during the armed conflict and interviews with a variety of Salvadorans and others involved in justice reform and in negotiating and implementing the peace accords

Justice in a New World Brian P Owensby, Richard J Ross, 2019-01-15 A historical and legal examination of the conflict and interplay between settler and indigenous laws in the New World As

British and Iberian empires expanded across the New World differing notions of justice and legality played out against one another as settlers and indigenous people sought to negotiate their relationship In order for settlers and natives to learn from maneuver resist or accommodate each other they had to grasp something of each other s legal ideas and conceptions of justice This ambitious volume advances our understanding of how natives and settlers in both the British and Iberian New World empires struggled to use the other s ideas of law and justice as a political strategic and moral resource In so doing indigenous people and settlers alike changed their own practices of law and dialogue about justice Europeans and natives appealed to imperfect understandings of their interlocutors notions of justice and advanced their own conceptions during workaday negotiations disputes and assertions of right Settlers and indigenous peoples legal presuppositions shaped and sometimes misdirected their attempts to employ each other s law Natives and settlers construed and misconstrued each other s legal commitments while learning about them never quite sure whether they were on solid ground Chapters explore the problem of legal intelligibility How and to what extent did settler law and its associated notions of justice become intelligible tactically technically and morally to natives and vice versa To address this question the volume offers a critical comparison between English and Iberian New World empires Chapters probe such topics as treaty negotiations land sales and the corporate privileges of indigenous peoples Ultimately Justice in a New World offers both a deeper understanding of the transformation of notions of justice and law among settlers and indigenous people and a dual comparative study of what it means for laws and moral codes to be legally intelligible     The Land-without-Evil Hélène Clastres,1995     Justice Michael J.
