Landscape Ecology In Action:

Landscape Ecology in Action Almo Farina, 2000-07-31 This book presents the state of the art of the fundamentals of landscape ecology. It integrates different ecological approaches in which the spatial arrangement of living organisms and their aggregations are considered as an important component of environmental complexity. A reconciliation between the ecosystem approach and the landscape approach is discussed. Geobotanical, animal, and human perspectives are considered and compared with regional broad scale process oriented landscape ecology. It presents methods and applications for land evaluation and management of the real world with particular emphasis on the scalar property of ecological processes and their patterns. This book represents a development of the author's previous book Principles and Methods in Landscape Ecology with greater emphasis on applications. The first part is devoted to the fundamentals of landscape ecology critically revisited. The second part focuses on landscape evaluation, resilient properties, fragility, characteristics, connectivity, aspects, and healthy conditions. The last part concentrates on management approaches. Landscape Ecology in Action A.

Farina, 2014-01-15 Landscape Ecology, 1999 Principles and Methods in Landscape Ecology Almo Farina, 2008-01-22 Landscape ecology is an integrative and multi-disciplinary science and Principles and Methods in Landscape Ecology reconciles the geological, botanical, zoological, and human perspectives. In particular, new paradigms and theories such as percolation, metapopulation, hierarchies, source-sink models have been integrated in this last edition with the recent theories on bio-complexity, information, and cognitive sciences. Methods for studying landscape ecology are covered, including spatial geometry, models, and remote sensing in order to create confidence toward techniques and approaches that require a high experience and long time dedication. Principles and Methods in Landscape Ecology is a textbook useful to present the landscape in a multi-vision perspective for undergraduate and graduate students of biology, ecology, geography, forestry, agronomy, landscape architecture, and planning. Sociology, economics, history, archaeology, anthropology, ecological psychology are some sciences that can benefit of the holistic vision offered by this textbook. Holistic Landscape Ecology in Action, 2000 Key Topics in Landscape Ecology Jianguo Wu, Richard J. Hobbs, 2007-03-29 Landscape ecology is a relatively new area of study which aims to understand the pattern of interaction of biological and cultural communities within a landscape. This book brings together leading figures from the field to provide an up-to-date survey of recent advances, identify key research problems, and suggest a future direction for development and expansion of knowledge. Providing in-depth reviews of the principles and methods for understanding landscape patterns and changes, the book illustrates concepts with examples of innovative applications from different parts of the world. Forming a current state of the science for the science of landscape ecology, this book forms an essential reference for graduate students, academics, professionals, and practitioners in ecology, environmental science, natural resource management, and landscape planning and design. Holistic Landscape Ecology in Action, 2000 Ecology, Cognition and Landscape Almo Farina, 2009-11-04 It is more and more evident that our living system is completely disturbed by human intrusion. Such intrusion affects the functioning of entire systems in ways we do not yet fully understand. We use paradigms such as the disturbance to cover large and deep gaps in our scientific knowledge. Human ecology is an uncertain terrain for anthropologists, geographers and ecologists and rarely is expanded to include the social and economic realms. The integration of different disciplines and the application of their many paradigms to problems of environmental complexity remains a distant goal despite the many efforts that have been made to achieve it. Philosophical and semantic barriers are erected when such integration is pursued by pioneering scientists. Recently evolutionary ecology has shown great interest in the spatial processes well described by the emerging discipline of landscape ecology. But this interest takes the form of pure curiosity or at worst of skepticism toward the real capacity of landscape ecology to contribute to the advancement of ecological science. The past two centuries have been characterized by huge changes occurring in the entire ecosphere. Global changes are the effects of human intervention at a planetary scale with consequent degradation of the environment creating an ecological debt for future generations. On the other side of the issue new technologies have improved the welfare of billions of people and have given hope to many other billions that they may also see such improvement in the near future.

Landscape Architecture and Design - Sustainability and Management, 2025-06-04 In Landscape Architecture and Design Sustainability and Management a creative and multidisciplinary approach is taken to rethink how we design and construct outdoor areas in order to address sustainability. This book offers a thorough examination of how landscape architecture can promote ecological resilience, boost human well-being and establish environments that are in balance. It examines how innovative and sustainable methods can direct responsible development in both urban and rural environments including topics like integrated land management, green infrastructure and climate responsive design. In order to inspire professionals, students and decision makers to adopt new design paradigms, this book emphasizes the advantages of ecological thinking, teamwork and long term planning. Learn how landscape architecture may be an effective tool for handling the difficulties of a world that is changing quickly and accomplishing environmental goals.

Landscape Ecological Applications in Man-Influenced Areas Sun-Ke Hong, Nobukazu Nakagoshi, Bojie Fu, Yukihiro Morimoto, 2007-06-02 Since the last century of ecological history landscape ecologists have played a role in solving many hot issues linking development and conservation of landscape. Recently cause and consequences of landscape change are significantly related to rapid urbanization and land transformation in populated areas. Therefore ecological applications on the man-influenced area are a worldwide issue and challenge in landscape ecology. The aim of Landscape Ecological Applications in Man-Influenced Areas is not only to expand concept of landscape ecology but also to apply its principle to man-influenced ecosystems. New dimensions of landscape ecological research in a global change such as urbanization, biodiversity and land transformation are explored in this book. This book also includes several case studies concerning landscape analysis and evaluation using spatial analysis and landscape modelling for establishing sustainable management strategy in urban and agricultural landscapes The subtitle of the book suggests the integrative and ubiquitous landscape planning considering harmony of man and nature systems in the socio economic and cultural background Such key issues and technology of landscape research will provide implements and guidebook for decision makers and land planners as well as teachers and students at universities

Ecological Challenges and Conservation Conundrums John A. Wiens, 2025-02-25 Short compelling but mostly thought provoking essays that encompass many of the central issues shaping ecology and conservation in the changing world

Collected essays from one of the best known ecologists and conservationists in the world Includes all issues at the cutting edge of the interface between ecology and conservation Attractive to a broad audience of ecologists conservationists natural resource managers policy makers and naturalists

Landscape Ecology for Sustainable Environment and Culture Bojie Fu, Bruce Jones K, 2013-03-26 Climate change and the pressures of escalating human demands on the environment have had increasing impacts on landscapes across the world In this book world class scholars discuss current and pressing issues regarding the landscape landscape ecology social and economic development and adaptive management Topics include the interaction between landscapes and ecological processes landscape modeling the application of landscape ecology in understanding cultural landscapes biodiversity climate change landscape services landscape planning and adaptive management to provide a comprehensive view that allows readers to form their own opinions Professor Bojie Fu is an Academician of Chinese Academy of Sciences and Chair of scientific committee at the Research Center for Eco Environmental Sciences Chinese Academy of Sciences Beijing China Professor K Bruce Jones is the Executive Director for Earth and Ecosystem Sciences Division at Desert Research Institute University of Nevada Las Vegas USA

The Routledge Handbook of Landscape Ecology Robert A. Francis, James D.A. Millington, George L.W. Perry, Emily S. Minor, 2021-09-09 The Handbook provides a supporting guide to key aspects and applications of landscape ecology to underpin its research and teaching A wide range of contributions written by expert researchers in the field summarize the latest knowledge on landscape ecology theory and concepts landscape processes methods and tools and emerging frontiers Landscape ecology is an interdisciplinary and holistic discipline and this is reflected in the chapters contained in this Handbook Authors from varying disciplinary backgrounds tackle key concepts such as landscape structure and function scale and connectivity landscape processes such as disturbance flows and fragmentation methods such as remote sensing and mapping fieldwork pattern analysis modelling and participation and engagement in landscape planning and emerging frontiers such as ecosystem services landscape approaches to biodiversity conservation and climate change Each chapter provides a blend of the latest scientific understanding of its focal topics along with considerations and examples of their application from around the world An invaluable guide to the concepts methods and applications of landscape ecology this book will be an important reference text for a wide range of students and academics in ecology geography biology and interdisciplinary environmental studies

Landscape Ecology James Sanderson, 2020-02-10 Landscape Ecology a rapidly growing science quantifies the ways ecosystems interact It establishes links between activities in one region and repercussions in another Landscape Ecology A Top Down Approach serves as a general introduction to this emerging area of study In this book the authors take a top down approach They believe that Transdisciplinary Challenges in Landscape Ecology and Restoration Ecology Zeev Naveh, 2007 Interdisciplinary and Transdisciplinary Landscape Studies Bärbel Tress, 2003 Landscape researchers and managers are often asked help solve environmental and societal problems and so must develop interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary skills Interdisciplinary research creates new knowledge by integrating people from the humanities social sciences and natural sciences Transdisciplinary research adds an extra level of integration by involving non academic stakeholders This book describes the opportunities and limitations of these approaches It discusses the expectations of policy makers funding bodies stakeholders and scientists and explores problems successes the need for specialist training and the development of evaluation criteria Essentials of Landscape Ecology Kimberly A. With, 2019 Presents the principles theory methods and applications of landscape ecology and is supplemented by numerous examples and case studies from a variety of systems The Cultural Landscape & Heritage Paradox Tom Bloemers, Henk Kars, Arnold Van der Valk, 2010 The basic problem is to what extent we can know past and mainly invisible landscapes and how we can use this still hidden knowledge for actual sustainable management of landscape s cultural and historical values It has also been acknowledged that heritage management is increasingly about the management of future change rather than simply protection This presents us with a paradox to preserve our historic environment we have to collaborate with those who wish to transform it and in order to apply our expert knowledge we have to make it suitable for policy and society The answer presented by the Protection and Development of the Dutch Archaeological Historical Landscape programme pdl bbo is an integrative landscape approach which applies inter and transdisciplinarity establishing links between archaeological historical heritage and planning and between research and policy Landscape Forestry Stephen G. Boyce, 1995-02-20 A compilation of concepts biological relationships and procedures used to organize forested landscapes for combinations of goods services and effects Includes such management processes as investments for biological diversity timber production wilderness effects recreational opportunities esthetic values and habitats for endangered animals and plants Deerlodge National Forest (N.F.)
