The Early Anglo-Saxon Kingdoms of Southern Britain AD 450-650 Sue Harrington, Martin Welch, 2014-07-31 The Tribal Hidage attributed to the 7th century records the named groups and polities of early Anglo Saxon England and the taxation tribute due from their lands and surpluses Whilst providing some indication of relative wealth and its distribution rather little can be deduced from the Hidage concerning the underlying economic and social realities of the communities documented Sue Harrington and the late Martin Welch have adopted a new approach to these issues based on archaeological information from 12 000 burials and 28 000 objects of the period AD 450 650 The nature distribution and spatial relationships of settlement and burial evidence are examined over time against a background of the productive capabilities of the environment in which they are set the availability of raw materials evidence for metalworking and other industrial craft activities and communication and trade routes This has enabled the identification of central areas of wealth that influenced places around them Key within this period was the influence of the Franks who may have driven economic exploitation by building on the pre existing Roman infrastructure of the south east Frankish material culture was as widespread as that of the Kentish people whose wealth is evident in many well furnished graves but more nuanced approaches to wealth distribution are apparent further to the West perhaps due to ongoing interaction with communities who maintained an essentially Romano British way of life Welsh Landscape in British Art Arts Council of Great Britain,1947 Trees and Woodland in the British Landscape Oliver Rackham,2021-07-06 A beautifully written classic of nature writing A masterly account of supreme interest a classic Country Life Long accepted as the best work on the subject Oliver Rackham s book is both a comprehensive history of Britain s woodland and a field work guide that presents trees individually and as part of the landscape From prehistoric times through the Roman period and into the Middle Ages Oliver Rackham describes the changing character role and history of trees and woodland He concludes this definitive study with a section on the conservation and future of Britain s trees woodlands and hedgerows Remaking the Landscape Jennifer Jenkins,2002 The British landscape is changing for ever and faster than ever This book analyses the causes and consequences and what can be done to make our cities towns and countryside better places British landscapes from the tip of Scotland to the toe of Cornwall including the cities are under huge pressure from shifting population and increasing travel climate change new patterns of work and leisure and changing farming practices Many fear that these changes can only damage the landscape but this is not the whole story For example the edgelands around big cities have blossoming wildlife and are home to endangered species And the current crisis in farming gives a chance to do things better in the arable lowlands as well as in the livestock uplands Twelve expert contributors including Simon Jenkins Crispin Tickell Marion Shoard David Cannadine and Philip Lowe develop exciting ideas covering such issues as the urban landscape climate change the aftermath of foot and mouth ecology and sustainable development Bryn Green and Oliver Rackham discuss the future of the countryside where farming is in retreat will it be preserved as an ersatz museum will low density building proliferate or will the land revert to scrub and then to woodland Other contributors include David Banister David Cannadine John I Clarke Bryn Green Ian Hodge James Hunter Simon Jenkins Richard Keen Uwe Latacz Lohmann Philip Lowe Oliver Rackham Marion Shoard and Crispin Tickell Landscape, Nature, and the Body Politic Kenneth Olwig,2002-06-14 This text is an exploration of the origins and lasting influence of two contesting but intertwined discourses that persist today when we use the words landscape country scenery and nature Britain Philip Clucas,1984 Lonely Planet Great Britain Isabel Albiston,Fionn
