Landscape With Violence:

Landscape with Violence John William Wainwright, 1980-03-01 "Landscape of Violence" Curwen Gallery (London), 1966 Landscapes of Movement and Predation Brenda J Bowser, Catherine M Cameron, 2024 Landscapes of Movement and Predation is a global study of times and places in the colonial and precolonial eras where people were subject to brutality displacement and loss of life liberty livelihood and possessions The book provides a startling new perspective on an aspect of the past that is often overlooked the role of violence in shaping where how and with whom people lived

Spatial Concepts for Decolonizing the Americas Fernando Luiz Lara, Felipe Hernández, 2021-10-19 This collection of essays presents an innovative and provocative set of concepts to understand the spaces of the Americas through local lenses The disciplines of architecture urban design landscape and planning share the fundamental belief that space and place matter however the overwhelming majority of canonical knowledge in these fields originates in another continent and is external to the lived experience in such regions The book introduces seven new concepts that have not been sufficiently addressed and would make a significant contribution to the field namely gridded spaces spaces of agriculture space as image watered spaces spaces as labor racialized spaces and gendered spaces This book thus introduces a broader conceptual framework to foster the analysis of the spatial histories of the Americas Landscapes of Difficult Heritage Gustav Wollentz, 2020-11-21 This book studies how people negotiate difficult heritage within their everyday lives focusing on memory belonging and identity The starting point for the examination is that temporalities lie at the core of understanding this negotiation and that the connection between temporalities and difficult heritage remains poorly understood and theorized in previous research In order to fully explore the temporalities of difficult heritage the book investigates places in which the incident of violence originated within different time periods It examines one example of modern violence Mostar in Bosnia and Herzegovina one example of where the associated incident occurred during medieval times the Gazimestan monument in Kosovo and one example of prehistoric violence Sandby borg in Sweden The book presents new theoretical perspectives and provides suggestions for developing sites of difficult heritage and will thus be relevant for academic researchers students and heritage professionals

Cultural Studies Review Chris Healy and Stephen Muecke (eds), 2008-03-01 Thinking and writing about the past challenging what history might be and how it could appear is an ongoing interest of this journal and an ongoing sometimes contentious point of connection between cultural studies and history The shifts in how we research and write the past is no simple story of accepted breakthroughs that have become the new norms nor is it a story where it is easy to identify what the effects of cultural studies thinking on the discipline of history has been History has provided its own challenges to its own practices in a very robust way while the cultural studies has challenged what the past is and how it might be rendered from a wide ranging set of ideas and modes of representation that have less to do with specific disciplinary arguments than responses to particular modes textual filmic sonic particular sites

Massacres Cheryl P. Anderson, Debra L. Martin, 2018-11-05 This volume integrates data from researchers in bioarchaeology and forensic anthropology to explain when and why group targeted violence occurs Massacres have plagued both ancient and modern societies and by analyzing skeletal remains from these events within their broader cultural and historical contexts this volume opens up important new understandings of the underlying social processes that continue to lead to these tragedies In case studies that include Crow Creek in South Dakota Khmer Rouge era Cambodia the Peruvian Andes the Tennessee River Valley and northern Uganda contributors demonstrate that massacres are a process a nonrandom pattern of events that precede the acts of violence and continue long afterward They also show that massacres have varying aims and are driven by culture specific forces and logic ranging from small events to cases of genocide Many of these studies examine bones found in mass graves while others focus on victims whose bodies have never been buried Notably they also expand widely held definitions of massacres to include structural violence featuring the radical argument that the large scale death of undocumented migrants in Arizona s Sonoran Desert should be viewed as an extended massacre This is the first volume to focus exclusively on massacres as a unique form of violence Its interdisciplinary approach illuminates similarities in human behavior across time and space provides methods for identifying killings as massacres and helps today s societies learn from patterns of the past Contributors Cheryl P Anderson Cate E Bird William E De Vore David H Dye Julie M Fleischman Julia R Hanebrink Ryan P Harrod Keith P Jacobi Ashley E Kendell Krista E Latham Justin Maiers Debra L Martin Alyson O Daniel Anna J Osterholtz Marin A Pilloud His Excellency Sonnara Prak Tricia Redeker Hepner Sophearavy Ros Al W Schwitalla Dawnie Wolfe Steadman J Marla Toyne Vuthy Voeun P Willey A volume in the series Bioarchaeological Interpretations of the Human Past Local Regional and Global Perspectives edited by Clark Spencer Larsen Inscribed Landscapes Bruno David, Meredith Wilson, 2002-01-01 Annotation Inscribed Landscapes explores the role of inscription in the social construction of place power and identity Bringing together twenty one scholars across a range of fields primarily archaeology anthropology and geography it examines how social codes and hegemonic practices have resulted in the production of particular senses of place exploring the physical and metaphysical marking of place as a means of accessing social history Compulsion in Religion Samuel Helfont, 2018-03-21 Samuel Helfont draws on extensive research with Ba thist archives to investigate the roots of the religious insurgencies that erupted in Iraq following the American led invasion in 2003 In looking at Saddam Hussein s policies in the 1990s many have interpreted his support for state sponsored religion as evidence of a dramatic shift away from Arab nationalism toward political Islam While Islam did play a greater role in the regime s symbols and Saddam s statements in the 1990s than it had in earlier decades the regime s internal documents challenge this theory The Faith Campaign Saddam launched during this period was the culmination of a plan to use religion for political ends begun upon his assumption of the Iraqi presidency in 1979 At this time Saddam began constructing the institutional capacity to control and monitor Iraqi religious institutions The resulting authoritarian structures allowed him to employ Islamic symbols and rhetoric in public policy but in a controlled manner Saddam ultimately promoted a Ba thist interpretation of religion that subordinated it to Arab nationalism rather than depicting it as an independent or primary political identity The point of this examination of Iraqi history other than to correct the current understanding of Saddam Hussein s political use of religion throughout his presidency is to examine how Saddam s controlled use of religion was dismantled during the US Iraq war and consequently set free extremists that were suppressed under his regime When the American led invasion destroyed the regime s authoritarian structures it unwittingly unhinged the forces that these structures were designed to contain creating an atmosphere infused with religion but lacking the checks provided by the former regime Groups such as the Sadrist al Qaida and eventually the Islamic State emerged out of this context to unleash the insurgencies that have plagued post 2003 Iraq Cinema and Ireland Kevin Rockett, Luke Gibbons, John Hill, 2014-01-21 This was the first comprehensive study of film production in Ireland from the silent period to the present day and of representations of Ireland and Irishness in native British and American films It remains an authority on the topic The book focuses on Irish history and politics to examine the context and significance of such films as Irish Destiny The Quiet Man Ryan s Daughter Man of Aran Cal The Courier and The Dead The Medieval Constitution of Liberty Alexander William Salter, Andrew T. Young, 2023-08-08 Why did enduring traditions of economic and political liberty emerge in Western Europe and not elsewhere Representative democracy constitutionalism and the rule of law are crucial for establishing a just and prosperous society which we usually treat as the fruits of the Renaissance and Enlightenment as Western European societies put the Dark Ages behind them In The Medieval Constitution of Liberty Salter and Young point instead to the constitutional order that characterized the High Middle Ages They provide a historical account of how this constitutional order evolved following the fall of the Western Roman Empire This account runs from the settlements of militarized Germanic elites within the imperial frontiers to the host of successor kingdoms in the sixth and seventh centuries and through the short lived Carolingian empire of the late eighth and ninth centuries and the so called feudal anarchy that followed its demise Given this unique historical backdrop Salter and Young consider the resulting structures of political property rights They argue that the historical reality approximated a constitutional ideal type which they term polycentric sovereignty Salter and Young provide a theoretical analysis of polycentric sovereignty arguing that bargains between political property rights holders within that sort of constitutional order will lead to improvements in governance Dark Airs Brendan Cooper,2009 In discussions of American poetry since World War II the work of John Berryman has become increasingly neglected and marginalized Critics have overwhelmingly chosen to favour the notion that he is an academic establishment poet whose career can comfortably be described as a move from New Critical traditionalism towards self absorbed confessionalism This study shows how such a narrow understanding of Berryman s work is reflective of a broader critical inclination towards a codification of the literary canon as a duel between competing factions of a formalist establishment mainstream and an experimentalist countercultural avant garde By examining the extent to which Berryman s poetry engages with the complex religiopolitical climate of Cold War American culture this study exposes the inadequacy of the paradigm of mainstream traditionalism in relation to his work In doing so it opens up threads of comparative possibility between his work and that of poets ordinarily segregated from him by divisive conceptions of the literary canon As such this volume provides a reconsideration of Berryman s work that simultaneously asks broader questions about the nature of the American poetic canon and established definitions of postmodern poetry
