Landscape Design with Plants Brian Clouston, 2013-10-22 Landscape Design with Plants Second Edition focuses on landscape architecture. The book first discusses trees in the countryside. Adaptation to locality, self-town vegetation designs for both short-term and long-term effect, ecological planting, and plant associations are described. The text looks at planting for forestry. The need for afforestation, forest habitat, scale of the forest mosaic, and woodlands as visual elements in the landscape are considered. The book puts emphasis on trees in urban areas, shrubs, and groundcover, and herbaceous plants and bulbs. The text also focuses on water plants. The use of water plants in garden design, aquatic communities, and historical background are discussed. The book underscores the use and management of plant species native to Britain in landscaping urban landscape and roof gardens and how to transplant semi-mature trees. The text also describes reclamation and planting of industrial and urban wastelands, landscaping of reservoir margins, and the relationship of plants and air pollution. The book also puts emphasis on the use of vegetation in slope stabilization, planting in tropical lowland areas, planting in hot arid climates, and the functional use of Australian plants. The selection is a must for readers interested in landscaping.

Multisensory Landscape Design Daniel Roehr, 2022-05-03 The interaction of our bodies in space is intrinsically linked to the ways in which we design. In spatial design, we tend to focus on solely the visual, often treating it as the dominant sense while ignoring the other four senses: touch, sound, smell, taste. While research has been carried out on the perception of multisensorial experiences and design in the last two decades, there is no combined resource on how to address multisensory design in landscape architecture, urban and environmental design. This is a textbook for design students, professionals, and educators to develop multisensorial literacy. This book is the first of its kind, providing introductions on each of the five senses along with exercises that demonstrate how to observe, record, and visualize them. It explores current design school pedagogy and how we might imagine a more mindful way of teaching. The book is a foundational resource for students, professionals, and instructors to understand and ultimately create multisensorial spaces that are inclusive for all. This book imagines a world where seeing is redefined in a way that encompasses all of the senses, not just the visual.
