Language And The Cognitive Construal Of The World:

Language and the Cognitive Construal of the World John R. Taylor, Robert E. MacLaury, 2010-12-14 TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS is a series of books that open new perspectives in our understanding of language The series publishes state of the art work on core areas of linguistics across theoretical frameworks as well as studies that provide new insights by building bridges to neighbouring fields such as neuroscience and cognitive science TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS considers itself a forum for cutting edge research based on solid empirical data on language in its various manifestations including sign languages It regards linguistic variation in its synchronic and diachronic dimensions as well as in its social contexts as important sources of insight for a better understanding of the design of linguistic systems and the ecology and evolution of language TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS publishes monographs and outstanding dissertations as well as edited volumes which provide the opportunity to address controversial topics from different empirical and theoretical viewpoints High quality standards are ensured through anonymous reviewing Washing the Brain □ Metaphor and Hidden Ideology Andrew Goatly, 2007-01-17 Contemporary metaphor theory has recently begun to address the relation between metaphor culture and ideology In this wide ranging book Andrew Goatly using lexical data from his database Metalude investigates how conceptual metaphor themes construct our thinking and social behaviour in fields as diverse as architecture engineering education genetics ecology economics politics industrial time management medicine immigration race and sex He argues that metaphor themes are created not only through the universal body but also through cultural experience so that an apparently universal metaphor such as event structure as realized in English grammar is in fact culturally relative compared with e g the construal of cause and effect in the Algonquin language Blackfoot Moreover event structure as a model is both scientifically reactionary and as the basis for technological mega projects has proved environmentally harmful Furthermore the ideologies of early capitalism created or exploited a selection of metaphor themes historically traceable through Hobbes Hume Smith Malthus and Darwin These metaphorical concepts support neo Darwinian and neo conservative ideologies apparent at the beginning of the 21st century ideologies underpinning our social and environmental crises The conclusion therefore recommends skepticism of metaphor s reductionist tendencies Language, Communication and the Economy Guido Erreygers, Geert Jacobs, 2005-01-01 This volume brings together a number of wide ranging transdisciplinary research articles on the interface between discourse studies and economics It explores in what way economics can contribute to the analysis of discursive practices in various institutional settings as well as investigating what role discourse studies can play in economic research The contributors are linguists communication scholars economists and other social scientists drawing on various traditions including Critical Discourse Analysis Cognitive Linguistics ethnography and the literature on the rhetoric of economics and on economic storytelling All articles are essentially empirical focusing on the details of actual language use The type of data analysed ranges from the minutes of university policy meetings and large scale corpora of newspaper language over books of economic theory from both well respected economists and monetary cranks to cartoons from The Economist

Culture, Body, and Language Farzad Sharifian, René Dirven, Ning Yu, Susanne Niemeier, 2008-11-03 One of the central themes in cognitive linguistics is the uniquely human development of some higher potential called the mind and more particularly the intertwining of body and mind which has come to be known as embodiment Several books and volumes have explored this theme in length However the interaction between culture body and language has not received the due attention that it deserves Naturally any serious exploration of the interface between body language and culture would require an analytical tool that would capture the ways in which different cultural groups conceptualize their feelings thinking and other experiences in relation to body and language A well established notion that appears to be promising in this direction is that of cultural models constituting the building blocks of a group's cultural cognition The volume results from an attempt to bring together a group of scholars from various language backgrounds to make a collective attempt to explore the relationship between body language and culture by focusing on conceptualizations of the heart and other internal body organs across a number of languages The general aim of this venture is to explore the ways in which internal body organs have been employed in different languages to conceptualize human experiences such as emotions and or workings of the mind and b the cultural models that appear to account for the observed similarities as well as differences of the various conceptualizations of internal body organs The volume as a whole engages not only with linguistic analyses of terms that refer to internal body organs across different languages but also with the origin of the cultural models that are associated with internal body organs in different cultural systems such as ethnomedical and religious traditions Some contributions also discuss their findings in relations to some philosophical doctrines that have addressed the relationship between mind body and language such as that of Descartes

The Lexical Typology of Semantic Shifts Päivi Juvonen, Maria Koptjevskaja-Tamm, 2016-08-08 The volume focuses on semantic shifts and motivation patterns in the lexicon Its key feature is its lexico typological orientation i e a heavy emphasis on systematic cross linguistic comparison The book presents current theoretical and methodological trends in the study of semantic shifts and motivational patterns based on an abundance of empirical findings across genetically areally and typologically diverse languages

Religion, Language, and the Human Mind Paul Anthony Chilton, Monika Weronika Kopytowska, 2018 Religion is a multi faceted and complex human phenomenon combining many different mental and social characteristics Among these language plays a crucial though often neglected role This volume brings together groundbreaking work from linguistics cognitive science and neuroscience as well as from religious studies in order to illuminate the origins and centrality of religion in human life

Metaphor and Discourse A. Musolff, J. Zinken, 2009-03-26 The contributors present a coherent collection of work on the functioning of metaphor in public discourse and related discourse areas from a broadly cognitive linguistic background providing a state of the art overview of research on the discursive grounding of metaphor from a cognitive linguistic perspective

Studies in Language and Cognition Mats Andrén, Marlene Johansson Falck, Jordan Zlatev, 2008-12-18 Using a plethora of concepts theories and methods the theoretical and empirical studies described in this volume are united in their approach of treating language not in isolation e g as a module but as both based on structures and processes of cognition and at the same time as affecting the human mind The book is organized in 7 parts corresponding to some of the major fields in language research today a linguistic meta theory and general issues b lexical meaning c metaphor d grammar e pragmatics f gesture and bodily communication and g historical linguistics At the same time the non modular approach to language adopted by the authors is reflected by the fact that there are no strict boundaries between the parts Thus the book is a valuable contribution to the growing interdisciplinary field of Language and Cognition

Cultural Linguistics and (Re)conceptualized Tradition Judit Baranyiné Kóczy, Veronika Szelid, 2024-12-16 This book offers a cutting edge compilation of studies on re conceptualized traditions in a wide variety of discourses such as the language of emotion folklore religion and morality the natural environment idioms and proverbs It also raises complex theoretical and methodological questions regarding the cultural cognitive linguistic approach to metaphors and figurative language embodiment diachronic and corpus linguistics and pragmatics The languages under scrutiny range from well documented to minority varieties and even to endangered languages and dialects Building from the assertion that cultural conceptualizations are rendered as manifestations of the interplay between language culture and the collective cognition of communities as handed down from generation to generation this edited book discovers and rebuilds traditional cultural cognition Employing analytical tools provided by the cultural cognitive linguistic framework the authors investigate how the field is being revitalized and renegotiated in present day cultural contexts and how it contributes to shaping our contemporary understanding of the world It is useful for academics and students interested in cultural and cognitive linguistics ethnosemantics sociolinguistics pragmatics applied linguistics linguistic anthropology and religious studies Chapter 7 is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International License via link springer.com

Religion, Language, and the Human Mind Paul Chilton, Monika Kopytowska, 2018-04-03 What is religion How does it work Many natural abilities of the human mind are involved and crucial among them is the ability to use language This volume brings together research from linguistics cognitive science and neuroscience as well as from religious studies to understand the phenomena of religion as a distinctly human enterprise The book is divided into three parts each part preceded by a full introductory chapter by the editors that discusses modern scientific approaches to religion and the application of modern linguistics particularly cognitive linguistics and pragmatics Part I surveys the development of modern studies of religious language and the diverse disciplinary strands that have emerged Beginning with descriptive approaches to religious language and the problem of describing religious concepts across languages chapters introduce the turn to cognition in linguistics and also in theology and explore the brain's contrasting capacities in particular its capacity for language and metaphor Part II continues the discussion of metaphor the natural ability by which humans draw on basic knowledge of the world in order to explore abstractions and intangibles Specialists in particular religions apply conceptual metaphor theory in various ways covering several major religious traditions Buddhism Christianity Hinduism Islam and Judaism Part III seeks to open up new horizons for cognitive linguistic research on religion looking beyond written texts to the ways in which language is integrated with other modalities including ritual religious art and religious electronic media Chapters in Part III introduce readers to a range of technical instruments that have been developed within cognitive linguistics and discourse analysis in recent years What unfolds ultimately is the idea that the embodied cognition of humans is the basis not only of their languages but also of their religions

Language, Expressivity and Cognition Mikolaj Deckert, Piotr Pezik, Raffaele Zago, 2023-01-26 Providing an up to date multi perspective and cross linguistic account of the centrality of the expressive function in communication this book explores the conceptualization of emotions in language and the high emotional temperature of a variety of contemporary discourses Adopting a number of methodological angles both qualitative and quantitative the chapters present insights from cognitive linguistics critical discourse analysis corpus linguistics and sociolinguistics as well as those resulting from the combination of these approaches Using a wide variety of data types from song lyrics and TV series to Twitter posts and political speeches and through the analysis of a range of languages including Arabic English Polish Italian Hungarian and Turkish the book offers a panoramic view of the multifaceted interaction between language expressivity and cognition

Embodiment in Cross-Linguistic Studies

,2023-09-04 The book explores the conceptualization of the heart as it is represented in 19 languages ranging from broadly studied to endangered ones Being one of the most extensively utilised body part name for figurative usages it lends itself to rich polysemy and a wide array of metaphorical and metonymical meanings The present book offers a rich selection of papers which observe the lexeme heart from diverse perspectives employing primarily the frameworks of cognitive and cultural linguistics as well as formal methodologies of lexicology and morphology The findings are unique and novel contributions to the research of body part semantics embodied cognition and metaphor analysis and in general the investigation of the interconnectedness of language culture cognition and perception about the human body

Grounding Cognition Diane

Pecher,Rolf A. Zwaan,2005-01-10 One of the key questions in cognitive psychology is how people represent knowledge about concepts such as football or love Some researchers have proposed that concepts are represented in human memory by the sensorimotor systems that underlie interaction with the outside world These theories represent developments in cognitive science to view cognition no longer in terms of abstract information processing but in terms of perception and action In other words cognition is grounded in embodied experiences Studies show that sensory perception and motor actions support understanding of words and object concepts Moreover even understanding of abstract and emotion concepts can be shown to rely on more concrete embodied experiences Finally language itself can be shown to be grounded in sensorimotor processes This book brings together theoretical arguments and empirical evidence from several key researchers in this field to support this framework

Sociocultural Situatedness

Roslyn M. Frank,René Dirven,Tom Ziemke,Enrique Bernárdez,2008-08-27

The contributions contained in the second volume of the two volume set Body Language and Mind introduce and elaborate upon the concept of sociocultural situatedness understood broadly as the way in which minds and cognitive processes are shaped both individually and collectively by their interaction with socioculturally contextualized structures and practices and furthermore how these structures interact contextually with language and can become embodied in it Drawing on theoretical concepts and analytical tools within the purview of cognitive linguistics and related fields the volume explores the relationship between body language and mind focusing on the complex mutually reinforcing relationships holding between the sociocultural contextualisation of language and inversely the linguistic contextualisation of culture Stated differently the notion of sociocultural situatedness allows for language to be seen as a cultural activity and at the same time as a subtle mechanism for organizing culture and thought The volume offers a representative multi and interdisciplinary collection of new papers on sociocultural situatedness bringing together for the first time a wide variety of perspectives and case studies directed explicitly to elucidating the analytical potential of this concept for cognitive linguists and other researchers working in allied fields such as AI discourse studies and cognitive anthropology The book brings together several core issues related to the notion of sociocultural situatedness some of which have been addressed previously although to a large degree sporadically and from a variety of disciplinary perspectives without fully exploring the possible analytical advantages of this concept as a tool for investigating the role of culturally entrenched schemata in cognition and language In short this is the first comprehensive survey of sociocultural situatedness theory      Metaphor Zoltan Kovecses,2010-03-12 Combining up to date scholarship with clear and accessible language and helpful exercises Metaphor A Practical Introduction is an invaluable resource for all readers interested in metaphor This second edition includes two new chapters on metaphors in discourse and metaphor and emotion along with new exercises responses to criticism and recent developments in the field and revised student exercises tables and figures      Linguistic Categorization John R. Taylor,2003-11-06 This book provides a readable and clearly articulated introduction to an important area in the broader field of Cognitive Linguistics Taking as its starting point the categorization of colour it explores the far reaching implications of Eleanor Rosch s seminal work on prototype categorization extending it s application of prototype theory from lexical semantics to the study of morphology syntax and phonology First published in 1989 the third edition of this popular text has been fully revised and updated to include recent developments in Cognitive Linguistics It introduces basic issues in the study of word meaning and demonstrates the viability of the prototype approach to the study of phonology syntax and acquisition The new edition expands the treatment of polysemy meaning relatedness idioms and grammatical constructions The book presupposes no prior knowledge of linguistics and will therefore be particularly suited to undergraduate courses      A Grammar of the Great Andamanese Language Anvita Abbi,2013-07-18 Winner of the 2015 Kenneth L Hale Award A Grammar of the Great Andamanese Language is the first ever detailed and exhaustive account of Great Andamanese a moribund language spoken on the Andamanese Islands belonging to India in the Bay of Bengal This important documentation covers all major areas of the grammar of Great Andamanese and gives us a first detailed look at this unique language which is on the verge of extinction Of particular interest here is the discussion of the body division class markers which play an important role throughout much of the grammar and which are documented in this volume for the first time The volume will be of interest for general linguists from the fields of linguistic typology and areal linguistics as well as those interested in South Asian languages in general      Metaphors of ANGER across Languages: Universality and Variation Zoltan Kövecses,Réka Benczes,Veronika Széld,2024-11-04 Anger is one of the basic emotions of human emotional experience informing and guiding many of our choices and actions Although it has received considerable scholarly attention in a number of disciplines including linguistics a basic question has still remained unresolved why do variations in the folk model of anger exist across languages if it is indeed a basic emotion rooted in largely universal bodily experience By drawing on a wide selection of comparable linguistic data from dozens of languages including a number of less researched languages this volume provides the most comprehensive account of what is universal and what is variable in the folk model of anger and why It also investigates the role that metonymies might play in the emergence of anger related metaphors and in what ways context influences or shapes anger metaphors and thereby the resulting folk model of anger No such volume exists in the cognitive linguistic literature on anger or on emotions for that matter The book is thus an essential contribution to the study of anger and will serve as basic reading for any researcher interested in how the conceptualization of anger is constructed via the interplay of bodily experience language and the larger cultural context

The Spatial Language of Time Kevin Ezra Moore, 2014-05-15 The Spatial Language of Time presents a crosslinguistically valid state of the art analysis of space to time metaphors using data mostly from English and Wolof Africa but additionally from Japanese and other languages Metaphors are analyzed in terms of their most direct motivation by basic human experiences Grady 1997a Lakoff Johnson 1980 This motivation explains the crosslinguistic appearance of certain metaphors but does not say anything about temporal metaphor systems that deviate from the types documented here Indeed we observe interesting culture and language specific metaphor phenomena Refining earlier treatments of temporal metaphor and adapting to temporal experience Levinson's 2003 idea of frames of reference the author proposes a contrast between perspective neutral and perspective specific frames of reference in temporal metaphor that has important crosslinguistic ramifications for the temporal semantics of FRONT BEHIND expressions This book refines the cognitive linguistic approach to temporal metaphor by analyzing the extensive temporal structure in what has been considered the source domain of space and showing how temporal metaphors can be better understood by downplaying the space time dichotomy and analyzing metaphor structure in terms of conceptual frames This book is of interest to linguists psychologists anthropologists philosophers and others who may have wondered about relationships between space and time
