Language Assessment In The Early Years:

Language Assessment in the Early Years Celia Genishi, Anne Haas Dyson, 1984 Immersion Education in the Early Years Tina Hickey, Anne-Marie de Mejía, 2017-10-02 Worldwide more parents are opting for immersion pre schooling for their children in order to benefit from its linguistic educational and cultural benefits This immersion can be either bilingual or monolingual aimed at early second language learning or at language maintenance offering minority language children mother tongue support and enrichment This book examines some of the key issues and policy concerns relating to immersion education in the early years The term itself can be difficult in some political contexts as can the differing outcomes noted by studies comparing monolingual programmes and bilingual programmes for minority language children The importance of training in immersion methodology for educators is discussed as is the need to adapt preschool pedagogical practices to the immersion context in order to provide optimal input for young language learners One of the most pressing discussions surrounds differentiated provision ensuring that the varying needs of children with language impairment typical second language learners and mother tongue speakers with significant socioeconomic or linguistic disadvantages are all met Overall the book explores the challenges currently facing the sector particularly with regard to training and professional development for practitioners and the provision of appropriate materials in less widely used languages Given the documented benefit of high quality immersion pre schooling this book fulfils an urgent need to increase the recognition of the sector This book was published as a special issue of International Journal of Bilingual Education and Bilingualism Language Assessments for Preschool Children Anders Højen, Dorthe Bleses, Philip S. Dale, 2022-08-04 This Element has two main purposes Firstly it discusses purposes advantages and disadvantages as well as the challenges of different formats of language assessment concluding with a focus on educator administered language assessment in early childhood and education programs It addresses the selection of assessment domains the trade off between brevity and precision the challenge of assessing bilinguals and accommodating the requirements of funders e g government agencies and users e g educators and schools It draws on lessons learned from developing two instruments for a national Danish language and preliteracy assessment program Secondly it introduces those two educator administered instruments Language Assessment 3 6 LA 3 6 and Language Assessment 2 year olds LA 2 with respect to content norming gender and socioeconomic influences as well as psychometric qualities The intention is that this experience can help enable the extension of the educator based approach to other languages and contexts while simultaneously acknowledging that linguistic and cultural adaptations are crucial Handbook of Second Language Assessment Dina Tsagari, Jayanti Banerjee, 2016-03-07 Second language assessment is ubiquitous It has found its way from education into questions about access to professions and migration This volume focuses on the main debates and research advances in second language assessment in the last fifty years or so showing the influence of linguistics politics philosophy psychology sociology and psychometrics There are four parts which when taken together address the principles and practices of second language assessment while considering its impact on society Read separately each part addresses a different aspect of the field Part I deals with the conceptual foundations of second language assessment with chapters on the purposes of assessment and standards and frameworks as well as matters of scoring quality assurance and test validation Part II addresses the theory and practice of assessing different second language skills including aspects like intercultural competence and fluency Part III examines the challenges and opportunities of second language assessment in a range of contexts In addition to chapters on second language assessment on a national scale there are chapters on learning oriented assessment as well as the uses of second language assessment in the workplace and for migration Part IV examines a selection of important issues in the field that deserve attention These include the alignment of language examinations to external frameworks the increasing use of technology to both deliver and score second language tests the responsibilities associated with assessing test takers with special needs the concept of voice in second language assessment and assessment literacy for teachers and other test and score users
