Language of Vision Gyorgy Kepes (Photographer),1967 Language of Vision, Etc. [With Illustrations.]. Gyorgy Kepes,1959 Sites of Vision David Michael Kleinberg-Levin,1999 The fourteen contributors to Sites of Vision explore the hypothesis that the nature of visual perception about which philosophers talk must be explicitly recognized as a discursive construction indeed a historical construction in philosophical discourse In recent years scholars from many disciplines have become interested in the construction of the human senses in how the human environment shapes both how and what we perceive Taking a very different approach to the question of construction Sites of Vision turns to language and explores the ways in which the rhetoric of philosophy has formed the nature of vision and how in turn the rhetoric of vision has helped to shape philosophical thought The central role of vision in relation to philosophy is evident in the vocabulary of the discipline in words such as speculation observation insight and reflection in metaphors such as mirroring perspective and point of view and in methodological concepts such as reflective detachment and representation Because the history of vision is so pervasively reflected in the history of philosophy it is possible for both vision and thought to achieve a greater awareness of their genealogy through the history of philosophy The fourteen contributors to Sites of Vision explore the hypothesis that the nature of visual perception about which philosophers talk must be explicitly recognized as a discursive construction indeed a historical construction in philosophical discourse The Language of the Eyes Daryl Ogden,2006-06-01 While Darwinian and Freudian theories of vision and sexuality have represented women as lacking visual agency Daryl Ogden s The Language of the Eyes argues that the gaze is not merely a masculine phenomenon and that women have powerfully desiring eyes as well Ogden offers a comprehensive cultural history of female visuality in England by analyzing scientific writings conduct books illustrated periodicals poetry painting and novels and he makes important and hitherto unrecognized connections between literary history cultural studies and science studies In so doing Ogden accomplishes what numerous feminist critics especially film theorists have not the recovery of the modern female spectator from historical obscurity Language of Vision Gyorgy Kepes,1961 Language of Vision Gyorgy Kepes,1944 Archaeologies of Vision Gary Shapiro,2003-05-15 While many acknowledge that Friedrich Nietzsche and Michel Foucault have redefined our notions of time and history few recognize the crucial role that the infinite relation between seeing and saying plays in their work Shapiro reveals the full extent of Nietzsche and Foucault s concern with the visual Chicago Makes Modern Mary Jane Jacob,Jacquelynn Baas,2012-12-15 Chicago is a city dedicated to the modern from the skyscrapers that punctuate its skyline

to the spirited style that inflects many of its dwellings and institutions from the New Bauhaus to Hull House. Despite this, the city has long been overlooked as a locus for modernism in the arts; its rich tradition of architecture, design, and education disregarded. Still, the modern in Chicago continues to thrive as new generations of artists incorporate its legacy into fresh visions for the future. Chicago Makes Modern boldly remaps twentieth-century modernism from our new-century perspective by asking an imperative question: How did the modern mind, deeply reflective yet simultaneously directed, help to dramatically alter our perspectives on the world and make it new? Returning the city to its rightful position at the heart of a multidimensional movement that changed the face of the twentieth century, Chicago Makes Modern applies the missions of a brilliant group of innovators to our own time. From the radical social and artistic perspectives implemented by Jane Addams, John Dewey, and Buckminster Fuller to the avant-garde designs of László Moholy-Nagy and Mies van der Rohe, the prodigious offerings of Chicago's modern minds left an indelible legacy for future generations. Staging the city as a laboratory for some of our most heralded cultural experiments, Chicago Makes Modern reimagines the modern as a space of self-realization and social progress where individual visions triggered profound change. Featuring contributions from an acclaimed roster of contemporary artists, critics, and scholars, this book demonstrates how and why the Windy City continues to drive the modern world.

Berkeley's Renovation of Philosophy Gavin Ardley, 2012-12-06 In this work, I have endeavoured to see Berkeley in his contemporary setting. On the principle that philosophy is ultimately about men, not about abstract problems, I have tried to see Berkeley the philosopher as an expression of Berkeley the man. When this is done, what is perennial in the philosophy may be discerned in and through what is local and temporal. Berkeley then emerges as a pioneer reformer, not so much an innovator as a renovator, one who set out to rescue philosophy from the enthusiasms of the preceding age, one who strove to seat philosophy once more on the broad human and common-sense foundations laid by Plato and Aristotle. Critical studies of some of the more striking of Berkeley's epistemological arguments are legion. They commenced with the young Berkeley's first appearance in print and have continued to this day. But whether they take the form of professions of support for Berkeley or of bald refutations of Berkeley's supposed fallacies, or whether like the contemporary analytical studies of Moore, Warnock, and Austin they are subtle exposures of alleged deeply concealed logical muddles, they all tend to share one common characteristic: they select and abstract from the totality of Berkeley and miss the robust simplicity and universality of Berkeley's intentions. It is the intentions which control the whole and give the right perspective in which to view the various items.
