reclamation speech styles and genres language ideology verbal taboo social indexicality emotion time and many more Furthermore it offers areal perspectives on the study of language in cultural contexts namely Africa the Americas Australia and Oceania Mainland Southeast Asia and Europe and it lays the foundation for future developments within the field In this way the book bridges the disciplines of cultural anthropology and linguistics and paves the way for the new book series Anthropological Linguistics The Critical Turn in Language and Intercultural Communication Pedagogy Maria Dasli, Adriana Raquel Díaz, 2016-09-13 This edited research volume explores the development of what can be described as the critical turn in intercultural communication pedagogy with a particular focus on modern foreign language education The main aim is to trace the realisations of this critical turn against a background of unequal power relations and to illuminate the role that radical culture educators can play in the making of a more democratic and egalitarian social order The volume takes as a starting point the idea that criticality draws on a number of intellectual traditions which do not always focus on social and political critique and argues that because ideological hegemony impacts on the meanings that people create and share intercultural communication pedagogy ought to locate itself within wider socio political contexts With reference points drawn from critical and transnational social theory critical pedagogy and intercultural theory contributors to this volume provide readers with powerful ways that show how this can be achieved and together assess the impact that their understanding of criticality can make on modern foreign language education The volume is divided into three major parts namely theorising critically researching critically and teaching critically Philology and Global English Studies Suman Gupta, 2015-07-28 This book retraces the formation of modern English Studies by departing from philological scholarship along two lines in terms of institutional histories and in terms of the separation of literary criticism and linguistics From Foreign Language Education to Education for Intercultural Citizenship Michael Byram, 2008 This collection of essays analyses the evolution of theory of intercultural competence and its relationship to education for citizenship It does so by analysing the concepts of intercultural competence including the notion of the intercultural speaker by discussing the ways in which language education policy develops and by comparing the theories and purposes of foreign language education and education for citizenship Teaching and Learning Second Language Pragmatics for Intercultural Understanding Troy McConachy, Anthony J. Liddicoat, 2021-11-29 This collection argues for the need to promote intercultural understanding as a clear goal for teaching and learning pragmatics in second and foreign language education The volume sees the learning of pragmatics as a challenging yet enriching process whereby the individual expands their capacity for understanding how meaning making processes influence social relationships and how assumptions about social relationships shape the interpretation and use of language in context This locates pragmatics within a humanistically oriented conception of learning where success is defined relative to the enrichment of human understanding and appreciation of difference The book argues that intercultural understanding is not an add on to language learning but central to the learner's ability to understand and construct meaning with individuals from diverse linguistic and cultural backgrounds Chapters analyse teachers and learners ways of making sense of pragmatics how their assumptions about social relationships impact their perceptions of language use and how reflection on pragmatic judgments opens up possibilities for developing intercultural understanding This book will be of interest to students and scholars in intercultural communication language education and applied linguistics

Translanguaging and Epistemological Decentring in Higher Education and Research Heidi Bojsen, Petra

Daryai-Hansen, Anne Holmen, Karen Risager, 2023-01-13 Using data from multilingual settings in universities and adjacent learning contexts in East Asia North Africa Central and North America and Europe this book provides examples of the heuristic value of translanguaging and epistemological decentring Despite this and other theoretical and empirical work and ever stronger calls for the inclusion of other languages epistemologies and constructions of culture in higher education decentring and translanguaging practices are often relegated to the margins or suppressed in research and education because of the organisational structures of education institutions and prevailing language norms policies and ideologies The authors draw on research on pluri and multilingualism within education studies as well as post and decolonial theoretical contributions to the research on the role of language in education and knowledge production to provide evidence that decentring cannot happen until learners have been given the tools to identify which sorts of centring dynamics and conditions are salient to their learning and trans languaging Developing Critical Cultural Awareness in Modern
