Language Typology and Syntactic Description: Volume 2, Complex Constructions Timothy Shopen, 2007-10-04 This unique three volume 2007 survey brings together a team of leading scholars to explore the syntactic and morphological structures of the world's languages. Clearly organized and broad ranging it covers topics such as parts of speech, passives, complementation, relative clauses, adverbial clauses, inflectional morphology, tense, aspect, mood, and deixis. The contributors look at the major ways that these notions are realized and provide informative sketches of them at work in a range of languages. Each volume is accessibly written and clearly explains each new concept introduced. Although the volumes can be read independently together they provide an indispensable reference work for all linguists and fieldworkers interested in cross linguistic generalizations. Most of the chapters in the second edition are substantially revised or completely new, some on topics not covered by the first edition. Volume II covers coordination, complementation, noun phrase structure, relative clauses, adverbial clauses, discourse structure, and sentences as combinations of clauses.

Language Typology and Syntactic Description: Volume 3, Grammatical Categories and the Lexicon Timothy Shopen, 2007-10-04 Third in a three volume survey exploring the syntactic and morphological structures of the world's languages LANGUAGE typology and syntactic description. 3 vol, 1985 Language Typology and Syntactic Description Timothy Shopen, 2007 Language Typology and Syntactic Description Timothy Shopen, 1985

The Grammar of Causation and Interpersonal Manipulation Masayoshi Shibatani, 2002 This volume presents fifteen original papers dealing with various aspects of causative constructions ranging from morphology to semantics with emphasis on language data from Central and South America Informed by a better understanding of how different constructions are positioned both synchronically e.g. on a semantic map and diachronically e.g. through grammaticalization processes the volume affords a comprehensive up to date perspective on the perennial issues in the grammar of causation such as the distribution of competing causative morphemes the meaning distinctions among them and the overall form meaning correlation Morphosyntactic interactions of causatives with other phenomena such as incorporation and applicativization receive focused attention as such basic issues as the semantic distinction between direct and indirect causation and the typology of causative constructions Handbook of Descriptive Linguistic Fieldwork Shobhana L. Chelliah, Willem J. de Reuse, 2010-10-06 The Handbook of Descriptive Linguistic Fieldwork is the most comprehensive reference on linguistic fieldwork on the market bringing together all the reader needs to carry out successful linguistic fieldwork Based on the experiences of two veteran linguistic fieldworkers and advice from more than a twenty active fieldwork researchers this handbook provides an encyclopedic review of current publications on linguistic fieldwork and surveys past and present approaches and solutions to problems in the field and the historical political and social variables correlating with fieldwork in different areas of the world The discussion of the ethical dimensions of fieldwork as well as what constitutes the typical linguistic fieldwork setting or consultant is explored from multiple perspectives relevant to fieldwork on every continent Included is information omitted in most other texts on the subject such as the collection representation management and methods of extracting grammatical information from discourse and conversational data as well as the relationship between questionnaire based elicitation text based elicitation and philology and the need for combinations of these methods The book is useful before during and after linguistic field trips since it provides extensive practical macro and micro organization and planning fieldwork tips as well as a handy sketch of major typological features for use in linguistic analysis Comprehensive references are provided at the end of each chapter as resources relevant to the reader's particular interests

A grammar of Mauwake Liisa Berghäll, 2015-10-07 This grammar provides a synchronic grammatical description of Mauwake a Papuan Trans New Guinea TNG language of about 2000 speakers on the north coast of the Madang Province in Papua New Guinea It is the first book length treatment of the Mauwake language and the only published grammar of the Kumil subgroup to date Relying on other existing published and unpublished grammars the author shows how the language is similar to or different from related TNG languages especially in the Madang province The grammar gives a brief introduction to the Mauwake people their environment and their culture Although the book mainly covers morphology and syntax it also includes a short treatment of the phonological system and the orthography The description of the grammatical units proceeds from the words morphology to the phrases clauses sentence types and clause combinations The chapter on functional domains is the only one where the organization is based on meaning function rather than structure The longest chapter in the book is on morphology with verbs taking the central stage The final chapter deals with the pragmatic functions theme topic and focus 13 texts by native speakers mostly recorded and transcribed but some originally written are included in the Appendix with morpheme by morpheme glosses and a free translation The theoretical approach used is that of Basic Linguistic Theory Language typologists and professional Papuanist linguists are naturally one target audience for the grammar But also two other possible and important audiences influenced especially the style the writing well educated Mauwake speakers interested in their language and those other Papua New Guineans who have some basic training in linguistics and are keen to explore their own languages

A Notional Theory of Syntactic Categories John Mathieson Anderson, 1997-04-28 This book presents an innovative theory of syntactic categories and the lexical classes they define It revives the traditional idea that these are to be distinguished notionally semantically The author proposes a notation based on semantic features which accounts for the syntactic behaviour of classes The book also presents a case for considering this classification SH again in rather traditional vein SH to be basic to determining the syntactic structure of sentences

Interaction of Morphology and Syntax Zygmunt Frajzyngier, Erin Shay, 2008 The present volume deals with hitherto unexplored issues on the interaction of morphology and syntax These selected and invited papers mainly concern Cushitic and Chadic languages the least described members of the Afroasiatic family Three papers in the volume explore one or more typological characteristics across an entire language family or branch while others focus on one or two languages within a family and the implications of their structures for the family the phylum or linguistic typology as a whole The diversity of topics addressed within the present volume reflects the great diversity of language structures and functions within the Afroasiatic phylum

A Grammar of Darma Christina Willis Oko, 2019-08-26 A Grammar of Darma provides the first comprehensive description of this Tibeto Burman language spoken in Uttarakhand India The analysis is informed by a functional typological framework and draws on a corpus of data gathered through elicitation observation and recordings of natural discourse Every effort has been made to describe day to day language so whenever possible illustrative examples are taken from extemporaneous speech and contextualized Sections of the grammar should appeal widely to scholars interested in South Asia's languages and cultures including discussions of the socio cultural setting the sound system morphosyntactic clause and discourse structure The grammar's interlinearized texts and glossary provide a trove of useful information for comparative linguists working on Tibeto Burman languages and anyone interested in the world's less commonly spoken languages A Grammar of Kakataibo Roberto Zariquiey, 2018-09-10

Kashibo Kakataibo is the westernmost Panoan language and therefore the one closest to the Andes Mountains. In terms of its typological profile, Kashibo Kakataibo is a mainly postpositional and agglutinating language with a highly synthetic verbal morphology which includes a highly complex tense system with several markers, some of which also express aspectual meanings. Kashibo Kakataibo presents a mixed prosodic system which combines stress and tone features. In addition, like with other Pano languages, Kashibo Kakataibo exhibits a number of transitivity-related issues of high typological interest. First of all, the language shows an extremely complex system of grammatical relations which includes tripartite ergative, accusative, neutral, and one horizontal alignment type. In addition, the language exhibits a fascinating interaction between syntactic case and pragmatic function. There are two fixed syntactic classes of verbs: transitive and intransitive. A verb root base can only change its class by means of explicit morphological derivation, with only 4 ambitransitive verbs in the whole language. As in other Panoan languages, the transitivity class of the main verb is morphologically indicated throughout the clause by means of complex systems of agreement and harmony, some of which are totally new even from a Panoan perspective.
