

CONCEPTUAL RESEARCH VERSUS EMPIRICAL RESEARCH

CONCEPTUAL RESEARCH

Conceptual research is a type of research that is generally related to abstract ideas or concepts

Involves abstract idea and concepts; however, it doesn't involve any practical experiments

Philosophical research studies are an example

EMPIRICAL RESEARCH

Any research study where conclusions of the study are drawn from evidence verifiable by observation or experience rather than theory or pure logic

Involves phenomena that are observable and measurable

Includes both quantitative and qualitative studies

Language Contact Theoretical And Empirical Studies:

Language Contact Ernst Håkon Jahr, 1992 TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS is a series of books that open new perspectives in our understanding of language. The series publishes state of the art work on core areas of linguistics across theoretical frameworks as well as studies that provide new insights by approaching language from an interdisciplinary perspective. TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS considers itself a forum for cutting edge research based on solid empirical data on language in its various manifestations including sign languages. It regards linguistic variation in its synchronic and diachronic dimensions as well as in its social contexts as important sources of insight for a better understanding of the design of linguistic systems and the ecology and evolution of language. TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS publishes monographs and outstanding dissertations as well as edited volumes which provide the opportunity to address controversial topics from different empirical and theoretical viewpoints. High quality standards are ensured through anonymous reviewing. Language Contact. Volume 2 Jeroen Darquennes, Joseph C. Salmons, Wim Vandenbussche, 2025-04-21 Targeting a full range of students and scholars this volume provides a total of 50 chapters illustrating the linguistic dynamics and the dynamics of inter individual and societal language contact as well as the dynamics of multidisciplinary language contact studies. Fueled by a wealth of data from a rich variety of contact situations its geographically balanced case studies are governed by the triangulation between a focus on language structure and change a sincere drive of sociopolitical and academic agency and the confrontation with an everyday reality that can be unkind to and ignorant of those two factors. The volume clearly demonstrates the social relevance of our trade in a time burdened with ecolinguistic challenges. Routledge Dictionary of Language and Linguistics Hadumod Bussmann, 2006-02-20 The Routledge Dictionary of Language and Linguistics is a unique reference work for students and teachers of linguistics. The highly regarded second edition of the Lexikon der Sprachwissenschaft by Hadumod Bussmann has been specifically adapted by a team of over thirty specialist linguists to form the most comprehensive and up to date work of its kind in the English language. In over 2 500 entries the Dictionary provides an exhaustive survey of the key terminology and languages of more than 30 subdisciplines of linguistics. With its term based approach and emphasis on clear analysis it complements perfectly Routledge's established range of reference material in the field of linguistics. Languages in Contact Dicky Gilbers, John A. Nerbonne, J. Schaeken, 2000 The present volume includes papers that were presented at the conference Languages in Contact at the University of Groningen 25-26 November 1999. The conference was held to celebrate the University of St Petersburg's award of an honorary doctorate to Tjeerd de Graaf of Groningen. In general the issues discussed in the articles involve pidgins and creoles minorities and their languages Diaspora situations Sprachbund phenomena extralinguistic correlates of variety in contact situations problems of endangered languages and the typology of these languages. Special attention is paid to contact phenomena between languages of the Russian Empire USSR Russian Federation their survival and the influence of Russian. Language Contact in Amazonia Aleksandra Iľ'evna

Aikhenval'd,2002 This book considers how forms and meanings of different languages at different times may resemble one another and what the explanation is for this The author aims a to explain and identify the relationship between areal diffusion and the genetic development of languages and b to discover the means of distinguishing what may cause one language to share the characteristics of another This is done using the example of Arawak and Tucanoan languages spoken in the large area of the Vaup s river basin in northwest Amazonia which spans Colombia and Brazil In this region language is seen as a badge of identity language mixing interaction and influence are resisted for ideological reasons Professor Aikhenvald considers which grammatical categories are most and which are least likely to be borrowed in a situation of prolonged language contact where lexical borrowing is reduced to a minimum She provides a genetic analysis of the languages of the region and considers their historical relationships with languages of the same family outside it She also examines changes brought about by recent contact with European languages and culture and the linguistic and cultural effects of being part of a group that is aware its language and identity are threatened The book is presented in relatively nontechnical language and will interest linguists and anthropologists
