Thompson, 2002-02-28 This collection of previously unpublished cutting edge research discusses the conversation analysis CA approach to understanding language use CA is the dominant theory for analyzing the social use of language and is concerned with the description of how speakers engage in conversation and other forms of social interaction involving language Its proponents are not only linguists but sociologists and anthropologists as well The unifying theme of these chapters is the intersection of practice and form through the construction of turns and sequences Between Turn and Sequence John Heritage, Marja-Leena Sorjonen, 2018-07-15 The last two decades have witnessed a remarkable growth of interest in what are variously termed discourse markers or discourse particles The greatest area of growth has centered on particles that occur in sentence initial or turn initial position and this interest intersects with a long standing focus in Conversation Analysis on turn taking and turn construction This volume brings together conversation analytic studies of turn initial particles in interactions in fourteen languages geographically widely distributed Europe America Asia and Australia The contributions show the significance of turn initial particles in three key areas of turn and sequence organization i the management of departures from expected next actions ii the projection of the speaker's epistemic stance and iii the management of overall activities implemented across sequences Taken together the papers demonstrate the crucial importance of the positioning of particles within turns and sequences for the projection and management of social actions and for relationships between speakers

Beyond Rhetorical Questions Irene Koshik, 2005-01-01 This book uses Conversation Analysis methodology to analyze rhetorical and other questions that are designed to convey assertions rather than seek new information. It shows how these question sequences unfold interactionally in naturally occurring talk in a variety of settings e.g. friends arguing over the phone, parents disciplining children, news interviews and second language writing conferences. The questions are used across these widely different contexts to perform a number of related social actions such as accusations, challenges to prior turns and complaints. Those used in institution settings such as teacher-student conferences orient to institutional norms and roles and can help accomplish institutional goals e.g. eliciting student error correction. Both the interactional context in which these questions are embedded and the known epistemic authority of the questioner play a role in our understanding of these questions i.e. what social actions the question is accomplishing in a particular interaction.
