Language Across The Curriculum In The Elementary Grades:

Language Across the Curriculum in the Elementary Grades Christopher J. Thaiss, 1986 Grade level 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 k p e i t Resources in Education, 1999-04 Theorizing Composition Mary Kennedy, 1998-06-25 The last 25 years have witnessed extraordinary growth in the academic specialization variously described as composition studies or rhetoric and composition What was noticeable about the field in its infancy was a preoccupation with practice a lack of emphasis on theory and an exclusive reliance on the writing process As its disciplinary status has grown the field has become far more theoretical Composition studies has expanded its focus reconceptualized the writing process and embraced a wide range of critical perspectives The result of this change is that terms such as poststructuralism social construction gender and genre which were largely unknown in 1965 now dominate discussion This reference book is a guide to the multiplicity of theories that have emerged to form the disciplinary foundation of composition studies The volume consists of 66 entries each of which is written by an expert contributor and focuses on a particular theory or group of theories While the entries show how various individuals have contributed to theoretical movements very few concentrate on the work of a single theorist Each entry first provides a critical summary of a particular theory or group of theories including key elements basic concepts and claims and information about seminal or particularly influential works It then reviews the theory's critical reception in composition studies and discusses its significance in the field The bibliography at the end of each entry lists primary texts and major scholarship related to the theory and provides additional suggestions for further reading The volume closes with a selected bibliography of important works Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications United States.
Superintendent of Documents, 1990 Learning Journals in the K-8 Classroom Marcia S. Popp, 2012-11-12 Learning Journals in the K 8 Classroom is the first comprehensive presentation of how to use academic journals effectively for elementary level instruction The text outlines the theoretical foundations for using learning journals and provides step by step suggestions for implementing them in every content area and at all levels of elementary instruction Learning journals provide resources and support for reading aloud independent reading mini lessons cooperative study individual research workshops and the portfolio system The type of interactive writing students do in learning journals helps them explore complex ideas in the content areas using their own strengths of analysis and response the journals then become resources for future learning group discussions individual conferences learning assessment reports and progress Four introductory chapters show teachers how to create their own journals introduce journals to students integrate them with cooperative study and use them for assessment Additional chapters focus on the individual curriculum areas of literature writing mathematics science and social studies The text includes sample entries from student journals at all grade levels and in every content area and appendices of annotated resources to support journaling and interviews with teachers who use journals in their classrooms Monthly Catalogue, United States Public Documents, 1990 Writing in the Academic Disciplines David R. Russell, 2002

To understand the ways students learn to write we must go beyond the small and all too often marginalized component of the curriculum that treats writing explicitly and look at the broader though largely tacit traditions students encounter in the whole curriculum explains David R Russell in the introduction to this singular study The updated edition provides a comprehensive history of writing instruction outside general composition courses in American secondary and higher education from the founding public secondary schools and research universities in the 1870s through the spread of the writing across the curriculum movement in the 1980s through the WAC efforts in contemporary curriculums

Reading and Writing in the Primary Grades Maryann Murphy Manning, 1987 Arguing that reading and writing in school should be natural and enjoyable for children this book is based on the Piagetian theory that knowledge is constructed by each individual and the psycholinguistic view that learning takes place best when viewed as holistic and when instructional materials for children are authentic and purposeful The book describes the constructive nature of children's thinking reading and writing and the natural development of these processes Chapter 1 discusses a model of literacy learning and the role of teachers in creating sound literacy programs for their pupils Chapters 2 and 3 present instructional practices consistent with the whole language approach that support natural literacy development of young children The last chapter presents final comments Appendixes list children s books favorite books poetry collections big book publishers books used for cooking as an extended activity and predictable books A 26 item bibliography and a 17 item annotated bibliography are attached RS

Defining the New Rhetorics Theresa Enos, Stuart C. Brown, 1992-10-22 The evolutionary nature of what is called the New Rhetorics both sustains and hinders rhetoric as a discipline This original collection aims to locate and extend the various perceptions of the New Rhetorics in order to fully apply their richness and utility to composition studies and related disciplines The contributors have provided a wide ranging overview of contemporary rhetoric including perceptions of rhetoric as they pertain to argument metaphor ethics philosophy science technology linguistics gender cognitive studies culture and literary theory
