Language Politics And Social Interaction In An Inuit Community:

Language, Politics, and Social Interaction in an Inuit Community Donna Patrick, 2013-06-10 Since the early 1970s the Inuit of Arctic Quebec have struggled to survive economically and culturally in a rapidly changing northern environment. The promotion and maintenance of Inuktitut, their native language, through language policy and Inuit control over institutions have played a major role in this struggle. Language Politics and Social Interaction in an Inuit Community is a study of indigenous language maintenance in an Arctic Quebec community where four languages, Inuktitut, Cree, French, and English, are spoken. It examines the role that dominant and minority languages play in the social life of this community, linking historical analysis with an ethnographic study of face-to-face interaction and attitudes towards learning and speaking second and third languages in everyday life.

Language and Identity Politics Christina Späti, 2015-11-01 In an increasingly multicultural world, the relationship between language and identity remains a complicated and often fraught subject for most societies. The growing political salience of questions relating to language is evident not only in the expanded implementation of new policies and legislation but also in heated public debates about national unity, collective identities, and the rights of linguistic minorities. By taking a comprehensive approach that considers both the inclusive and exclusive dimensions of linguistic identity across Europe and North America, the studies assembled here provide a sophisticated look at one of the global era's defining political dynamics.

Bilingualism: A Social Approach M. Heller, 2007-05-01 Arguing against a common sense view of bilingualism as the co-existence of two linguistic systems, this volume develops a critical perspective which approaches bilingualism as a wide variety of sets of sociolinguistic practices connected to the construction of social difference and of social inequality under specific historical conditions.
