Is There Life Before Death:

Life Before Death Ann Cartwright, Lisbeth Hockey, John L. Anderson, 2024-05-10 Since death is an experience which will inevitably be common to us all we are often surprisingly uninterested in what services are provided for those people often the elderly and infirm who are at risk or who are on the point of death Originally published in 1973 this study describes the last twelve months in the lives of 785 adults Based mainly on the reports of close relatives it is concerned with the needs of the dying and the care they receive This includes the more emotional aspects such as awareness of dying and the effects of the death on relatives The book looks at the part played by hospitals general practitioners local authority health and welfare services and by relatives friends and neighbours The views of those who provide these services are also considered The picture that emerges shows up the gaps in the care that was given to people in the final year of their lives at the time

YogaMass Gena Davis, 2017-04-21 YogaMass Embodying Christ Consciousness bridges yogic principles and practices with Christian spirituality and worship as a path for bringing the whole self body mind soul and spirit to the experience of spiritual awakening The author an ordained Episcopal priest weaves together spiritual practices from different traditions with her own discovery that yoga's ancient truths are complementary with Christian beliefs taking one deeper into the spiritual life in ways that people of diverse faiths can embrace Blending yogic practices with Christian spirituality and worship the Reverend Gena Davis has co created an exciting and powerful new practice of spiritual ritual and celebration called YogaMass that leads to embodying Christ Consciousness On and off the yoga mat this book points the way to discovering a whole self spiritual experience and connecting with God through an awakened open mind and heart I loved this book The author the Reverend Gena Davis shares the story of her amazing spiritual journey that culminates in the creation of the world's first YogaMass service This alone would make the book well worth reading but throughout she integrates sacred writings stories and poems from spiritual masters of western and eastern spirituality all the while never losing sight of her own Christian heritage It is a remarkable accomplishment You will be blessed by this book and want to share it with others The Reverend Dr John K Graham president and CEO Institute for Spirituality and Health at the Texas Medical Center Houston I am delighted and privileged to encourage those who seek to worship God with all that is within to pick up and digest this spiritual teaching presented by the Reverend Gena Davis Gena has captured the importance of worshipping God with as the Psalmist uttered all that is within me I am fascinated by the interplay of yoga and liturgy within these pages and find myself wanting to go deeper into both I think the Reverend Davis is on to something that has been lacking in our Christian path and tradition The interweaving of her personal narrative and the spiritual insights she gained through the study and practice of yoga unveils how God's truth makes itself known through many different paths The Reverend Dr Richard Kleiman retired Presbyterian pastor Yoga is an exploration based on experiential processes It is defined by our own internal truth Making Yoga universal but deeply personal is something Gena Davis expresses so beautifully Robert Boustany Yoga instructor and

Death Thinking about death or even writing a book creates a different feeling To many readers the word may come across as a cold aloof and lossy unsettling word Some people hesitate to even say the word That the angel of death can be called Azrael After meeting with our publishing house editor for a long time we had planned to write a series of books on different subjects that would clear up the confusion Although I had been thinking about writing a book about death for quite some time putting it first was unexpected In general I did not think of such an order since all narratives are treated linearly as birth life and last death It suddenly occurred to me that it was more important to put aside the order of books and write about death I guessed that you have more extensive knowledge to write about this subject and that it will attract more attention unlike other books I will prepare However how much a book with death on it will sell is another matter of discussion In addition to interest it seemed to me as an important justification that it could be at the top of an urgent need list Because in this country thousands of people die every day and their relatives witness their deaths Many chronic and severe patients are also waiting for their death and their relatives are waiting with them Or we may come face to face with unexpected sudden deaths At that time death was prepared as a pre writable book on the subject as the first book in the series Death is an emergency for mortals and dying Even in a world of death nothing is as serious and remarkable as death Since the ultimate victory is death it is necessary to give priority to understanding it When was man s first thought about death This is difficult to know but a look at the long history of evolution yields some clues H neanderthalensis one of our relatives in the evolutionary family tree It emerged in the world 350 thousand years ago and their existence continued until 30 thousand years ago Despite their brains being considerably larger than we are now evolution this data confirms once again the importance of function not size of organs these hominids unable to survive and make technical progress seem to think as if they were thinking about death Perhaps because they were ice age people life was difficult for them and they died at an average of 40 Although they had big brains they did not have the clothes they had developed to protect them from the cold Although it has been suggested that Neanderthals buried their dead with religious rituals and floral ornaments it has been suggested that the data found later

cannot be interpreted so precisely that the flower pollen found may have been carried there by the wind or that it may have come from the boots of the workers working in the excavation Whatever the story here in the event that a thinking human s hunting friend dies while hunting or his wife with whom he has made love and had a child suddenly dies it is likely that in his moonlit caverns by the waters where did the living running and hunting person go His questioning was by looking at the stars Because only yesterday she was out there hunting with him and looking after his children What had happened to him then that he could not move speak or react Therefore the perception of death is not new to the evolutionary scene It is very likely that it emerged when hominids began to pretend to be someone else to see their own reflection in the water or to remember their dreams But when exactly There is no one you can answer a question like In the later periods when socialization increased with living in groups death began to pass into both mythologies and written documents as a part of life We begin to see the first written documents about death in the Egyptian society that lived on the banks of the Nile 3500 years ago and then it became a subject in different ways in Sumer Assyria Hittite and all other societies On the other hand the concept of death and after death creates an inseparable unity of questions and question marks seem to lie back to back Where death is mentioned the discussion of an afterlife which starts with death and giving life is also going on With the emergence of monotheistic religions death and afterlife became one of the most important parts of theology for a long time since the afterlife became the promised life With the birth of not only theology but philosophy it became one of the longest and most important topics of discussion Although it was suggested by some philosophers that it would not be the subject of philosophy because it does not belong to life it has become one of the important and even essential topics of philosophy arising from the mind brain soul body discussions For centuries the mind brain and soul body debates continued and still do Although the main question philosophy seeks to answer is how the mind brain connection is achieved whether there is a mind separate from the material flesh and brain after all if there is a structure that exists apart from the material body whatever its name is mind consciousness or spirit what will happen with death comes after Life after death has been an area of interest not only for religions but also for spiritualism and this interest has led to the birth of modern parapsychology Although this trend which started in the West in the 1800s began to reach its consistency in the late 1950s in our country the concept of the afterlife and death remained the main area of interest of spiritualism The answer they were looking for what kind of continuity is there in the afterlife has provided a more moderate approach to the subject of death for the limited number of people who are interested in the subject although they do not directly examine what death is Many professionals have emerged who are committed to learning from the spirits of the psychic dead and understanding the order of the other side Among them there were people who were educated in scientific knowledge schools and even received the Nobel Prize The experiences at the moment of death and the extraordinary events that took place during the deaths were recorded It was tried to be put together in a frame and mold For a long time death was ignored by western philosophers and it was not considered and systematically examined considering it a subjective situation close to metaphysics Even the famous Wittgenstein claimed in his Tractatus that death is not an event of life and that it cannot be talked about meaningfully For example Spinoza says in his Ethics that the free person does not think about death he contemplates on life This saying is also an escape On the other hand for some death is the real muse of philosophy and they mostly focused on concepts such as death anxiety what death is and how people learn about death Conversely August Comte said that if there is only one philosophical truth it is death Socrates accepted philosophy as preparation for death According to him philosophy would not be easily possible without death Voltaire on the other hand says that we do not know what eternal life is while present life is a terrible joke He points out that the human species is the only species that is aware of death and knows that it will die when the day comes Tirasaymakos on the other hand makes a remarkable emphasis in Philalethes speech If my individuality does not continue I will not even give metallicity to what you mumble about as immortality He is right but in today's sense individuality means our personality our memory of experience and our awareness of ourselves The other world where this does not exist must not be very desirable More recently the issue of death has become an area of interest in medicine due to the development of organ transplants and the demand for organ harvesting from deceased people Because organs could be taken from people who died not from living people and what exactly death meant had to be defined for physicians For this purpose brain death diagnostic criteria were started to be developed by neurologists in the not too distant 1970s Although these criteria have changed over time the concept of brain death as a general pattern has settled in medicine and has been accepted as the legal definition of death The diagnosis of brain death meant death medically and legally and the same nomenclature is still valid today except for some minor details Again developing health technologies improving the storage conditions of tissues taken from humans and after many animal experiments Can we freeze humans and keep them in order to wake them up again in the future approaches emerged The same question was asked whether it could be done by putting astronauts or passengers to sleep with some kind of deep cooling during sending humans to Mars or distant planets In this case the freezing process which was applied required a definition of death as it required a starting point On the other hand people paid money to wake up after death by freezing himself whole body or just the head in the hope of being cured sometime in the future Body ice cream companies were established in different parts of the world It required a reconsideration of the concept of death when it started as it had to be applied legally as soon as the diagnosis of death was made Parapsychologists were interested in near death experiences but for the last ten years physicians working in hospitals have also started to take part in research topics Discussions began to be published in scientific journals on the subject about why near death experiences could occur and what could happen in the brain neurologically physiologically and chemically at that time In other words death and near death experiences can also be revealed and researched with the scientific method In this way we have come to understand better a concept called clinical death which has been emphasized We have added clinical death to the concept of brain death Spiritualism continue to be a subject of interest and discussion today as it was in the past Aside from saying I used to be this you are not my parents when children are 3 4 years old self helpers and regression healers have come to the point of giving people one or more past lives as gifts The immortality implied by the rebirth cases and the state of being reincarnated in the world after death continue to be an important belief issue both in our country and in the world even today It is a matter of both belief and debate among people at all levels of education More recently recordings of cerebral blood flow and brain waves EEG of deceased persons at the time of death were made and these were published and presented to other scientists for their opinions However physical and physiological examination of deceased persons at the time of death is a very rare situation in science and the first experiments were carried out almost a hundred years ago It was reported in the newspapers that 21 grams were lost from the body with death Even if the film was made in the intervening time the scientific confirmations did not give the same result But when the movie was released the 21 grams issue occupied the minds and asked Is the soul only 21 grams Oh does it only weigh as much as a piece of chocolate had been asked Since quantum physics pervades our daily lives its implications have made us rethink the issue of death and extinction I haven't observed the same thing for quantum physicists at universities dealing with solid matter A hundred years ago everything was a particle Then it was introduced into our minds that there were no particles but only concentrations of energy Today however we understand that neither particles nor energy concentrations Everything that makes up matter is actually information and temporary existences in the universal quantum field or wave function At that time our structure is not a decaying depleted matter but a structure that has continuity according to quantum physics but only transitions from state to state In this case what would be the meaning of bodily or cerebral death The question was asked and comments were written and drawn by opening the curtain on life after death Therefore the meaning of the word death began to be perceived and felt differently Today the issue of death is one of the most important issues in the minds of modern people whether they live in the village or in the city However it is discussed in the secret subconscious but in open conscious conversations Although most people do not talk about the subject you must have had a mandatory recollection of death either at night or during the death of their relatives or during the burial You have probably asked yourself one or more of the questions you will see in the chapter titles of our book not just remembering You've probably just asked yourself and silently Unbeknownst to anyone Even while thinking about death in your mind you must have thought quietly so that death would stay away In this book we will begin to find answers to questions about death in the minds of readers and perhaps even unintentionally to create new questions We can cause some people to reconsider the truths they believe in Our main aim is to consider and discuss death by considering more scientific information today without ever addressing the theological concept of death and the afterlife The question of why theological debates do not exist in this book is a separate issue and is of interest to theologians In this land where tradition and religion are almost inextricably intertwined thankfully many academic theologians in our universities can make this distinction very well from the perspective of the Qur'an it would be best not to discuss religion and death the afterlife For example a subject such as the promise of Paradise for Abraham is not covered in detail in the book Another issue is what a neurologist who is the author of this book can have to do with death Neurology is a field of medicine dealing with brain and spinal cord diseases After all I am one of the mortals On the other hand neurologists are one of the specialties that diagnose medical death and brain death Neurologists are the first to give consent for organ transplantation when the diagnosis of brain death is made Neurology is one of the specialties with the highest number of deaths and deaths in hospitals Apart from that near death experiences out of body experiences and some other abnormal death related phenomena are related to the nervous system and brain Perhaps most importantly neurologists who are scientists deal with the concepts of consciousness memory and personality All of these things somehow originate in the brain and what happens to them when the brain dies are a question on the neurologist's mind For this reason the neurologist who is a physician and scientist does not ask or even can ask where the soul goes when he dies he asks whether consciousness memory personality continues The question to ask is do we die when we die And proving that our existence continues after death means revealing the most important secret for us After all you are mortal as a living being that comes to life When we are born and even from the mother's womb there is a seal on our butt mortal Since we are created and in other words we are not creators we will die According to the Islamic religious belief we will be laid alone on the musalla stone we will be buried under the ground alone Even further our universe will face death at some future time A very dark and incredibly cold universal death

Other Realm Research Periods It is possible to divide the researches on the other world into four time periods These periods can be grouped as 1880-1930 1930-1960 1960-1990 and 1990 to present It is the first period between 1830-1930 It is the period of collecting classifying and analyzing the spontaneous experiences of people who have seen the ghosts of dead people The accumulation of knowledge that started with psychics also coincides with this period As the 1930s approached many case examples were accumulated and concepts such as extrasensory perception and super psi were written Although parapsychology resorted to experimental methods between 1930 and 1960 many parapsychologists did not engage in much research and experimentation on the afterlife It can be said that they even neglected such a topic While this period in the West was the period of experimental parapsychology in our country the spiritism movement that was about to end in the West Dr It is the period when it started to grow with Bedri Ruhselman In the next period Dr Ruhselman sifted his flour on spiritism and hung his sieve He had left behind enough knowledge Between 1960 and 1990 methods were developed to prevent telepathy from their living relatives in an effort to gather information from beyond death Information was collected by these methods Death has become the subject of science Especially with the start of organ transplants definitions of what death is and the concept of brain death began to be made Although science was not interested in the afterlife parapsychologists continued to gather information Between 1985 and 1995 many people were trained and emerged in the field of parapsychology in our country New associations were formed and many publishers emerged Since the 1990s the otherworld has continued to be the subject of philosophy and other research fields if not more positively of science In addition to the positive discussions quantum physics was also included in the event Personal developments also did not stay away from the event and made all efforts to send people to the beyond The concept of the afterlife is still one of the taboos for science Well memories can persist somewhere else that persists after physical death Because looking at some case reports some reported incidents should not exist if the materialism is true Darwin's theory of evolution cast doubt on the belief that man has a soul Despite this Alfred R Wallace one of the founding fathers of the theory of evolution was an ardent spiritualist and never deviated from his belief that human beings would exist after death Yet Darwin had encircled the throne on which the soul sat and brought it down But we know that the belief or idea that something resembling this life will continue forever and untimely in the afterlife continues to bother some Questions questions and questions Are you ready to ask aloud questions about death talk and discuss scientific information Surprise and bewilderment are the most important stimulant sources that enable learning In your warm brain inside your heads I'm sure you have many questions and you don't have the answers What is the death that these people and I will experience Do I really die when I die Or is something going on Is it possible to remain Is there such a thing as I think therefore I am outside of our body Will my personality and memory remain the same after death When death knocks on the door does everyone have to open it or do some return from that door Does a person die because he is sick or because he is alive Is disembodied awareness possible Is there an experience without a brain Does the experience continue after death If it continues is it a continuation of our personality before we die In the next world will we be able to wake up here as we wake up every morning Believing in the afterlife means affirming eternal life but if time has an end how will it be Will we feel alive when our organic body is destroyed Do we change space with death or does our consciousness change environment or state Did we sanctify the afterlife because absence is not a bearable feeling Are near death or near death experiences real Are people who claim to be born again lying or are they mentally ill Soulless immortals are vampires real Are there ghosts that cause spirits to cause confusion in this world Is the life after death only virtual like walking in one's own mind or is it an objective life Will we remember our memories before we die Will it be a private world or a public and open world to all Will everyone have their own dream Is it beyond the knowledge of positive science that works with the senses Can science claim that there is no continuity after death Is burning in hell more acceptable than non existence Is it death that really scares people or is it the possibility of our existence being completely lost Where is the other world as space If the existence of the other world is confirmed will it be necessary to change the marriage vows to forever not until death do us part If we get conclusive evidence that psychics connect with the souls of the deceased on the other side wouldn't we have to develop a new law on the legal rights of the deceased on this side On the other hand if the famous scientists who died are not going to stay in the other world and they pursue discovery and invention

there how will the patent right be provided When the certainty of life after death is revealed how will we respond to people who intend to commit suicide and who want death euthanasia in incurable illness and what will be its place in law Again when psychiatric patients come to psychologists and psychiatrists how many souls will they bring with them How will the visit fee be determined in this case and from whom will it be requested There are also questions about the desire for immortality and the psychology of death What psychology enters someone who learns that you have a deadly disease and that you have a number of days left and what stages does he go through emotionally Is the sadness that we mourn after the death normal How long does it take how long does it take to become a diseased condition Even if I cannot become immortal one day if I keep the genetic codes of my brain unchanged can I be brought back to life hundreds of years from now If I want to freeze my brain or body in time so that it does not change is the price different The death words and questions that I write a lot I recommend you to read this book again Because from the beginning of the topic until the time you read it except you 100 people died in the world and 1 person in Turkey Although the world population is constantly increasing and cities are more crowded this does not mean that there are no deaths The numbers are only increasing because the birth rate is higher than the death rate Cities are growing In the next 100 years the current world population of 7 215 731 300 people will die With the open number these seven billion two hundred and fifteen thousand imperfect people will be included in this number as the author of this book and you as the reader But we re going to die somehow from heart disease but from cancer but from a stroke in the brain or some other disease One end of the storyboard is birth the other end is death Are you ready to watch the end of the movie     Letters to a Dying Friend Anton Grosz,1989-01-01 When Anton s Grosz s friend Peter died suddenly much too young while jogging with his dog Max Grosz was struck by how little prepared Peter had been to make a conscious exit These letters are what Grosz would have told him if he had been given the chance about the process of dying and what comes next Fortunately we do have the opportunity to read these moving letters and to discover how the ancient wisdom of the Tibetan Book of the Dead and its corroboration in the near death studies of today s researchers can help us This knowledge can make us better prepared and help us to prepare those we love to leave life with conscious grace and faith in the life to come     The Black Comedy of John Guare Gene A. Plunka,2002 This book the first full length study of Guare s theater will make his plays more accessible through an examination of the often unnerving type of black comedy that makes his plays work     I'm Losing You Bruce Wagner,2024-07-23 An epic novel that brings together a motley crew of characters including porn stars in love celebrity chore whores plotting dermatologists masseurs and shrinks among many others cast in the debauchery of Hollywood I m Losing You follows the rich and famous and the down and out as their lives intersect in a series of coincidences A masterfully told story of decadence that examines the psychological complexities of Hollywood reality and fantasy soaring far beyond the reaches of Robert Stone s Children of Light and Nathaniel West s The Day of the Locust     The Coming of God Jürgen Moltmann,Margaret Kohl,2004-07-27 Winner of Grawemeyer Award In this remarkable and timely work in many ways the culmination of his systematic theology world renowned theologian Jurgen Moltmann stands Christian eschatology on its head Moltmann rejects the traditional approach which focuses on the End an apocalyptic finale as a kind of Christian search for the final solution He centers instead on hope and God's promise of new creation for all things Christian eschatology he says is the remembered hope of the raising of the crucified Christ so it talks about beginning afresh in the deadly end Yet Moltmann's novel framework deeply informed by Jewish and messianic thought also fosters rich and creative insights into the perennially nettling questions of eschatology Are there eternal life and personal identity after death How is one to think of heaven hell and purgatory What are the historical and cosmological dimensions of Christian hope What are its social and political implications In a heartbreakingly fragile and fragment world Moltmann's comprehensive eschatology surveys the Christian vista bravely envisioning our horizons of expectation for personal social even cosmic transformation in God

Make Poverty Personal (ēmerſion: Emergent Village resources for communities of faith) Ash Barker, 2009-02-01 Poverty is one of the great challenges of the 21st century But poverty is not new And neither is God's deep concern for the poor it is a theme deeply woven throughout the Bible Yet sadly churches and individual Christians have too often been blind to this emphasis or they have been paralyzed into inaction by feelings of helplessness In this urgent provocative book Ash Barker offers both challenge and hope Pulling out and reflecting on significant passages from both testaments he reveals what the Bible says about both the nature of poverty and about how God calls his people to respond These studies ideal for either individual or small group use are interlaced with personal reflections first hand accounts from fifteen years of ministry among the poor

My Life is a Weapon Christoph Reuter, 2004 What kind of people are suicide bombers How do they justify their actions In this meticulously researched and sensitively written book journalist Christoph Reuter argues that popular views of these young men and women as crazed fanatics or brainwashed automatons fall short of the mark In many cases these modern day martyrs are well educated young adults who turn themselves into human bombs willingly and eagerly to exact revenge on a more powerful enemy perceived as both unjust and oppressive Suicide assassins are determined to make a difference for once in their lives no matter what the cost As Reuter's many interviews with would be martyrs their trainers friends and relatives reveal the bombers are motivated more by how they expect to be remembered as heroic figures than by religion infused visions of a blissful life to come Reuter who spent eight years researching the book moves from the broken survivors of the childrens suicide brigades in the Iran Iraq war of the 1980s to the war torn Lebanon of Hezbollah to Israeli occupied Palestinian land and to regions as disparate as Sri Lanka Chechnya and Kurdistan He tells a disturbing story of the modern globalization of suicide bombing orchestrated as his own investigations have helped to establish by the shadowy Al Qaeda network and unintentionally enabled by wrong headed policies of Western governments In a final hopeful chapter Reuter points to today's postrevolutionary post Khomeini Iran where a new social environment renounces the horrific practice in the very place where it was enthusiastically

Death, Distress, and Solidarity Robert Kastenbaum, 2019-03-25 In preparing this special issue of Omega The Journal of Death and Dying we choose to consider solidarity in a somewhat larger perspective than the other one usually adopted by a clear majority of social support studies This perspective gives priority to microscopic immediate direct transactions between a focal individual the one affected by the prospect of soon to come death and two classes of people those included in the core of that person's personal network and the health care personnel treating and accompanying soon to die people many of them already advanced into agony
