A halftone illustration of a woman in a red dress performing a limbo move over a large, dark, abstract shape. The woman is in a dynamic pose, with one leg raised and bent, and her arms extended. The background is dark and textured with a halftone pattern. The overall style is reminiscent of early 20th-century book cover art.

Limbo and Other Essays Vernon Lee, 2013-06-08 It may seem curious to begin with Dante and pass on to the Children's Rabbits House but I require both to explain what it is I mean by Limbo no such easy matter on trying For this discourse is not about the Pious Pagans whom the poet found in honourable confinement at the Gate of Hell nor of their neighbours the Unchristened Babies but I am glad of Dante's authority for the existence of a place holding such creatures as have just missed a necessary rite or come too soon for thorough salvation And I am glad moreover that the poet has insisted on the importance gente di molto valore of the beings thus enclosed because it is just with the superior quality of the things in what I mean by Limbo that we are peculiarly concerned And now for the other half of my preliminary illustration of the subject to wit the Children's Rabbits House The little gardens which the children played at cultivating have long since disappeared taken insensibly back into that corner of the formal but slackly kept garden which looks towards the steep hill dotted with cows and sheep But in that corner behind the shapeless Portugal laurels and the patches of seeding grass there still remains beneath big trees what the children used to call the Rabbits Villa Limbo: And Other Essays Lee Vernon, 2019-07-19

Limbo and Other Essays (1897). By: Vernon Lee Vernon Lee, 2017-10-17 Vernon Lee was the pseudonym of the British writer Violet Paget 14 October 1856 13 February 1935 She is remembered today primarily for her supernatural fiction and her work on aesthetics An early follower of Walter Pater she wrote over a dozen volumes of essays on art music and travel Biography Violet Paget was born in France on 14 October 1856 at Chateau St Leonard Boulogne to British expatriate parents Henry Ferguson Paget and Matilda Lee Hamilton née Abadam Violet Paget was the half sister of Eugene Jacob Lee Hamilton 1845 1907 3 by her mother's first marriage and from whose surname she adapted her own pseudonym Although she primarily wrote for an English readership and made many visits to London she spent the majority of her life on the continent particularly in Italy Her longest residence was just outside Florence in the Palmerino villa from 1889 until her death at San Gervasio with a brief interruption during World War I Her library was left to the British Institute of Florence and can still be inspected by visitors In Florence she knit lasting friendships with the painter Telemaco Signorini and the learned Mario Praz and she encouraged his love of learning and English literature An engaged feminist she always dressed la garonne During the First World War Lee adopted strong pacifist views and was a member of the anti militarist organisation the Union of Democratic Control She was also a lesbian and had long term passionate friendships with three women Mary Robinson Clementina Anstruther Thomson and British author Amy Levy She played the harpsichord and her appreciation of music animates her first major work Studies of the Eighteenth Century in Italy 1880 In her preface to the second edition of 1907 she recalled her excitement as a girl when she came across a bundle of 18th century music. She was so nervous that it wouldn't live up to her expectations that she escaped to the garden and listened rapturously through an open window as her mother worked out the music on the piano. citation needed Along with Pater and John Addington Symonds she was considered an authority on the Italian Renaissance and wrote two works that dealt with it explicitly Euphorion 1884 and Renaissance Fancies and Studies 1895. Her short fiction explored the themes of haunting and possession. The most famous were collected in Hauntings 1890 and her story Prince Alberic and the Snake Lady 1895 was first printed in the notorious The Yellow Book. She was instrumental in the introduction of the German concept of Einfühlung or empathy into the study of aesthetics in the English speaking world. She developed her own theory of psychological aesthetics in collaboration with her lover Kit Anstruther Thomson based on previous works by William James, Theodor Lipps and Karl Groos. She claimed that spectators empathise with works of art when they call up memories and associations and cause often unconscious bodily changes in posture and breathing. 6 9 She was known for her numerous essays about travel in Italy, France, Germany and Switzerland which attempted to capture the psychological effects of places rather than to convey any particular piece of information. citation needed Like her friend Henry James she wrote critically about the relationship between writers and their audience, pioneering the idea of critical assessment among all the arts as relating to an audience's personal response. She was a proponent of the Aesthetic movement and after a lengthy written correspondence met the movement's effective leader Walter Pater in England in 1881 just after encountering one of Pater's most famous disciples, Oscar Wilde. citation needed Her open resistance against World War I and her work Satanstoe led to her being ostracized by the younger generation of scholars and writers. Feminist research led to a rediscovery since the 1990s. Jaunting on the Scoriac Tempests and Other Essays on Fantastic Literature Brian Stableford, 2009-03-01. In this new collection of essays, well known critic Brian Stableford presents twelve pieces on science fiction and fantasy writers: M. P. Shiel, Edward Bulwer-Lytton, Humphry Davy, Robert Hunt, Vernon Lee, J. G. Ballard, James Morrow, Dean Koontz and Terry Pratchett.
