Fertility Transition And Womens Life Course In Mexico:

Fertility Transition and Women's Life Course in Mexico Marta Mier y Terán, United Nations. Department for Economic and Social Information and Policy Analysis, 1993 The Demographic Transition and Women's Life-course in Colombia Carmen Elisa Flórez Nieto, Rafael Echeverri Perico, 1990 Fertility Transition and Women's Life Course in Mexico, 1993 Fertility Decline in Developing Countries, 1960-1997 Samuel Agyei-Mensah, 1999-04-30 With the emergence of fertility declines in the greater part of the developing world study of the phenomenon has increased profoundly over the last three decades and a voluminous amount of literature has emerged Yet our knowledge of the decline is scattered in numerous publications making sources difficult to find This bibliography provides a guide to the literature on fertility decline in Latin America Asia and Sub Saharan Africa It will be an invaluable asset for population experts and students wishing to do research on fertility decline Covering the literature from 1960 to 1997 the book draws on extensive sources including books articles in leading population journals research papers and dissertations The opening chapter covers the literature on theories and concepts underlying fertility decline The next three chapters are devoted to the major geographical areas Latin America Asia and Sub Saharan Africa and the final chapter looks at general literature on fertility declines in developing countries UNDOC, Current Index, 1995 The Structure of the Life Course: Standardized? Individualized? Differentiated? Ross Macmillan, 2005-07-14 Current debates in life course studies increasingly reference theories of individualization standardization and differentiation in the structure of the life course This volume brings together leading scholars from a variety of fields to assess the theoretical underpinnings the empirical evidence and the implications of existing arguments The contributions include comparative historical work demographic analysis and detailed survey research The topics covered include historical cross cultural and racioethnic variation in the transition to adulthood the school to work transition educational careers retirement activity characteristics over the life span and the life course context of psychological well being The various contributions expand our understanding of the contemporary life course and its implications The authors offer innovative theoretical and methodological approaches that demonstrate the utility of holistic approaches to conceptualizing the life course and understanding its implications for modern society Women's Education & Fertility Behaviour United Nations. Department for Economic and Social Information and Policy Analysis. Population Division, 1995 A Population History of North America Michael R. Haines, Richard H. Steckel, 2000-08-15 Professors Haines and Steckel bring together leading scholars to present an expansive population history of North America from pre Columbian times to the present Covering the populations of Canada the United States Mexico and the Caribbean including two essays on the Amerindian population this volume takes advantage of considerable recent progress in demographic history to offer timely knowledgeable information in a non technical format A statistical appendix summarizes basic demographic measures over time for the United States Canada and Mexico A Life Course Approach to Women's Health Gita Mishra, Rebecca Hardy, Diana Kuh, 2023-06-25 The second edition of A Life Course Approach to Women's Health is a timely addition to the literature reflecting extraordinary gains in the evidence on women's health across the life course. This new edition provides an up to date and comprehensive review of scientific evidence and methodological developments in life course epidemiology as well as new fields of research such as integrative omics. This text reflects the focus of recent research advances in technology and the evolving nature of the field with its application in practice and policy. There are new chapters on endometriosis, lung function, cognition, gynaecological cancer, integrative omics, structural sexism, violence, health service use and knowledge translation. Each chapter reflects the views of individual authors within a common life course framework to provide a consistent approach across the book. This conceptual framework is summarised in the introductory chapter with an outline of each topic covered. Key findings, common themes and theoretical and methodological challenges are highlighted in the concluding chapter. Over 50 international researchers working on women's health and well being from diverse fields have contributed to this new edition which is highly recommended as essential reading for anyone with an interest in women's health.

Gender and the Life Course Alice Rossi, 2018-01-16 Gender and the Life Course is an interdisciplinary collection of essays on the lives of women and men as they are affected by history, culture, demography, economic and political stratification and the biopsychological processes that attend maturation and aging. The book covers three major topics. Part I, which examines gender and the life course in broad historical perspective, includes a summary of recent work in biological ecology and primatology and an analysis of the persistence of cultural and gender differences in role organization in societies undergoing the transition from agrarianism to industrialism. Other essays trace the changes in sources of household income of industrial workers over the life span and review temporal and gender differences in life span transitions. Part II examines gender differentiation in a variety of contexts: psychological, psychobiological and sociological. Alice Rossi's ASA Presidential Address reviews recent work on fathering and mothering and argues that sociological explanations of such gender differences need supplementation by concepts from evolutionary theory and the neurosciences. Three essays deal with gender and economy: one shows how gender stratification took hold in the early stages of industrialization in France, another demonstrates the persistence of gender stratification in modern economies, the third focuses on ideology in relation to gender and political power. Part III examines various aspects of the aged in contemporary society, including an argument for an interpretive social science that uses diverse methods to improve our ability to describe and interpret many facets of the lives of elderly men and women, a review of the methodology used to study changes in the aged population over time and an overview of existing data sets that permit further cohort and longitudinal analyses of the aged. The final essays review social policies as they affect the elderly with particular attention to the fact that most very old people are women and the impact of the greatly expanded life course for family and kin relations. Gender and the Life Course is a state of the art assessment of the best work currently being done on gender and age as maturational factors and is essential reading for anyone interested in adult development and gender roles Latin America Juan Manuel Pérez, 2004 This is a general bibliography on Latin America covering a wide variety of subjects from pre Columbian civilizations to Columbus to Castro to the foreign debt to pollution ect This work will not only be of use to the general casual reader on Latin America but also to the more specialized researcher The book contains over 800 topics with over 8 000 titles identified

The Craft of Life Course Research Glen H. Elder, Janet Z. Giele, 2009-08-03 This book brings together prominent investigators to provide a comprehensive guide to doing life course research including an inside view of how they designed and carried out influential longitudinal studies Using vivid examples the contributors trace the connections between early and later experience and reveal how researchers and graduate students can discover these links in their own research Well organized chapters describe the best and newest ways to Use surveys life records ethnography and data archives to collect different types of data over years or even decades Apply innovative statistical methods to measure dynamic processes that result in improvement decline or reversibility in economic fortune stress health and criminality Explore the micro and macro level explanatory factors that shape individual trajectories including genetic and environmental interactions personal life history interpersonal ties and sociocultural institutions Mobilities and Inequality Hanja Maksim, Manfred Max Bergman, 2016-04-22 This book opens up the debate on the interrelations between space and mobilities with regard to different dimensions of social inequality Based on the premise that the dynamics caused by modernization globalization migration and social change affect the structuring of the social fabric the focus of the book is to illuminate these processes of social and spatial re structurings A leading team of contributors from the Cosmobilities network highlight different aspects of inequality in relation to mobilities such as gender supplying transport infrastructure job related relocations multi locality social network geography and socio spatial development Women's Status and Fertility in Pakistan Zeba A. Sathar, United Nations. Department for Economic and Social Information and Policy Analysis, 1993 Egalité entre femmes et hommes , 1995 Fertility Patterns of Native- and Foreign-born Women Ann I. Glusker, 2003 Annotation Glusker epidemiology U of Washington and Seattle and King Country examines the determinants of the fertility of immigrants as compared with native born women in the US She investigates whether the differentials are due to socioeconomic and cultural differences and specifically whether the differentials are reduced with nativity ethnicity or race duration of residence and or across generations of residence in the US Her data is from the Current Population Survey June 1986 and June 1988 Annotation c 2003 Book News Inc Portland OR booknews com United Nations Publications , 2000 Globalization, Uncertainty and Women's Careers Hans-Peter Blossfeld, Heather Hofmeister, 2006-06-27 Globalization Uncertainty and Women's Careers assesses the effects of globalization on the life courses of women in thirteen countries across Europe and America in the second half of the 20th century The book represents the first ever longitudinal analysis of micro level data from these OECD countries focusing exclusively on women's relationship to the labor market in a globalizing world The contributors thoroughly examine women's employment entries, exits, and job mobility and present evidence of women's increased labor market attachment and reduced employment quality in most of the countries studied. They also systematically consider the life course changes influenced by larger transformations in society and in doing so explicitly link the phenomena of globalization to individual women's lives in Europe and North America. Catalogue of United Nations Publications
