Letters On Literature:

Letters on Literature Andrew Lang, 2015-06-26 Excerpt from Letters on Literature THESE Letters were originally published in the Independent of New York The idea of writing them occurred to the author after he had produced Letters to Dead Authors That kind of Epistle was open to the objection that nobody would write so frankly to a correspondent about his own work and yet it seemed that the form of Letters might be attempted again The Lettres Emilie sur la Mythologie are a well known model but Emilie was not an imaginary correspondent About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Letters on Literature Andrew Lang, 2007-05-04 In this collection of epistles Lang has addressed some fictitious characters Some of these correspondences are addressed to characters created by other authors others are to the author's own imagined personas Through these letters Lang has imparted criticism to such works of literature that otherwise would not have been possible realms and in which language systems aesthetic orders and genres struggle for dominance Rejecting facile talk of globalization with its suggestion of a happy literary melting pot Casanova exposes an emerging regime of inequality in the world of letters where minor languages and literatures are subject to the invisible but implacable violence of their dominant counterparts Inspired by the writings of Fernand Braudel and Pierre Bourdieu this ambitious book develops the first systematic model for understanding the production circulation and valuing of literature worldwide Casanova proposes a baseline from which we might measure the newness and modernity of the world of letters the literary equivalent of the meridian at Greenwich She argues for the importance of literary capital and its role in giving value and legitimacy to nations in their incessant struggle for international power Within her overarching theory Casanova locates three main periods in the genesis of world literature Latin French and German and closely examines three towering figures in the world republic of letters Kafka Joyce and Faulkner Her work provides a rich and surprising view of the political struggles of our modern world one framed by sites of publication circulation translation and efforts at literary annexation     Ancient Epistolary Fictions Patricia A.
