Making Black History Dominique Haensell, 2021-10-04 This study proposes that rather than trying to discern the normative value of Afropolitanism as an identificatory concept politics ethics or aesthetics Afropolitanism may be best approached as a distinct historical and cultural moment that is a certain historical constellation that allows us to glimpse the shifting and multiple silhouettes which Africa as signifier as real and imagined locus embodies in the globalized yet predominantly Western cultural landscape of the 21st century As such Making Black History looks at contemporary fictions of the African or Black Diaspora that have been written and received in the moment of Afropolitanism Discursively this moment is very much part of a diasporic conversation that takes place in the US and is thus informed by various negotiations of blackness race class and cultural identity Yet rather than interpreting Afropolitan literatures merely as a rejection of racial solidarity as some commentators have they should be read as ambivalent responses to post racial discourses dominating the first decade of the 21st century particularly in the US which oscillate between moments of intense hope and acute disappointment Please read our interview with Dominique Haensell here <https://blog.degruyter.com/de-gruyters-10th-open-access-book-anniversary-dominique-haensell-and-her-winning-title-making-black-history>

Gendering Modern German History Karen Hagemann, Jean H. Quataert, 2007-08-01 Writing on the history of German women has like women s history elsewhere undergone remarkable expansion and change since it began in the late 1960s Today Women s history still continues to flourish alongside gender history but the focus of research has increasingly shifted from women to gender This shift has made it possible to make men and masculinity objects of historical research too After more than thirty years of research it is time for a critical stocktaking of the gendering of the historiography on nineteenth and twentieth century Germany To provide a critical overview in a comparative German American perspective is the main aim of this volume which brings together leading experts from both sides of the Atlantic They discuss in their essays the state of historiography and reflect on problems of theory and methodology Through compelling case studies focusing on the nation and nationalism military and war colonialism politics and protest class and citizenship religion Jewish and non Jewish Germans the Holocaust the body and sexuality and the family this volume demonstrates the extraordinary power of the gender perspective to challenge existing interpretations and rewrite mainstream arguments

DiCenzo,2010-11-24 Highlighting the contributions of feminist media history to media studies and related disciplines this book focuses on feminist periodicals emerging from or reacting to the Edwardian suffrage campaign and situates them in the context of current debates about the public sphere social movements and media history Must We Divide History Into Periods? Jacques Le Goff,2015-09-08 We have long thought of the Renaissance as a luminous era that marked a decisive break with the past but the idea of the Renaissance as a distinct period arose only during the nineteenth century Though the view of the Middle Ages as a dark age of unreason has softened somewhat we still locate the advent of modern rationality in the Italian thought and culture of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries Jacques Le Goff pleads for a strikingly different view In this his last book he argues persuasively that many of the innovations we associate with the Renaissance have medieval roots and that many of the most deplorable aspects of medieval society continued to flourish during the Renaissance We should instead view Western civilization as undergoing several renaissances following the fall of Rome over the course of a long Middle Ages that lasted until the mid eighteenth century While it is indeed necessary to divide history into periods Le Goff maintains the meaningful continuities of human development only become clear when historians adopt a long perspective Genuine revolutions the shifts that signal the end of one period and the beginning of the next are much rarer than we think What is History? and Other Late Unpublished Writings Eric Voegelin,1990 This volume contains the most significant pieces of unpublished writing completed by Eric Voegelin during an important time of his career Spanning the period from the early 1960s to the late 1970s these selections supplement the body of work Voegelin published after the appearance of the first three volumes of Order and History in 1956 and 1957 The five texts included here are What Is History Anxiety and Reason The Eclipse of Reality The Moving Soul and The Beginning and the Beyond In their introduction to the volume Thomas A Hollweck and Paul Caringella place these writings in their proper context and discuss the ways in which they reveal clues to the evolution of Voegelin s thought In What Is History Voegelin considers the development of a transcendent structure of history while simultaneously rejecting the notion that history can have a universal meaning Anxiety and Reason focuses on Voegelin's critically important theory of historiogenesis which links events in pragmatic history with legendary and mythical events leading back to the beginning of the cosmic order. In The Eclipse of Reality Voegelin presents a critique of modernity by analyzing the work of Sartre, Schiller, Comte and others. The Moving Soul a thought experiment inspired by a remark Henry Margenau makes in The Nature of Physical Reality attempts to reformulate the connections between physics and myth. The most important of these essays is Me Beginning and the Beyond Here. Voegelin meditates on the universality of experience formed by the tension of existence under God. Publication of these previously unpublished writings will enable scholars to trace the genesis of many of the concerns that occupied Voegelin during a period in which the conception of his main work was undergoing frequent and perhaps fundamental changes.

The Global History of Portugal Carlos Fiolhais, José Eduardo Franco, José Pedro Paiva, 2021-12-06 For thousands of years Portugal has been the point of arrival and departure for peoples, cultures, languages, ideas, fashions, behaviours, beliefs, institutions and produce. While its miscegenation and global multimodal activity enriched the world in many ways, it also provoked violence, war, suffering and resistance. The Global History of Portugal contains 93 chapters grouped into five parts: Pre history, Antiquity, Middle Ages, Early Modern period and Modern World. Each chapter begins with an event interpreted in the light of global history. Each part opens with an introduction offering a perspective of the period in question. The three Editors, five Scientific Coordinators, João Luís Cardoso, Carlos Fabião, Bernardo Vasconcelos e Sousa, Catia Antunes and António Costa Pinto and ninety Contributors offer a critical and analytical synthesis of the history that originated in Portuguese territory or passed through it, stimulating the process of encounter and dis encounter in today's global world. The history presented gives special attention to the world that moulded Portugal and the Portuguese and to the ways Portugal configured the world. It seeks to identify and understand the transversal entanglements of historic impact and the impulses these gave to the construction of Portugal and the world. Contemporary reflection and academic scholarship on the global history of leading nations has stimulated a rethinking of the past and a more comprehensive recognition of legacy. Historians can no longer overlook the wider world with which their country of investigation has interacted. Portugal's role in the dynamic circulation of peoples and ideas makes its global history not only unique by way of what took place but also in terms of a potential academic template for better understanding of how the past shapes the present and more particularly the importance of acknowledging a country's past historic mis steps and how these are dealt with by contemporary populations.

A Short History of Brexit Kevin O'Rourke, 2019-01-31 Crisp, clear and quietly devastating. Guardian. Excellent, authoritative, highly readable. Irish Times. A succinct expert guide to how we got to Brexit. After all the debates, manoeuvrings, recriminations and exaltations, Brexit is upon us. But as Kevin O'Rourke writes, Brexit did not emerge out of nowhere; it is the culmination of events that have been under way for decades and have historical roots stretching back well beyond that. Brexit has a history. O'Rourke, one of the leading economic historians of his generation, explains not only how British attitudes to Europe have evolved but also how the EU's history explains why it operates as it does today and how that history has shaped the ways in which it has responded to Brexit Why are the economics the politics and the history so tightly woven together Crucially he also explains why the question of the Irish border is not just one of customs and trade but for the EU goes to the heart of what it is about The way in which British Irish and European histories continue to interact with each other will shape the future of Brexit and of the continent Calm and lucid A Short History of Brexit rises above the usual fray of discussions to provide fresh perspectives and understanding of the most momentous political and economic change in Britain and the EU for decades
