Letters From Siberia

Johann Erasmus August Carl Sievers

Letters From Siberia:

The Body in the Library Iain Bamforth, 2003-12-17 The Body in the Library provides a nuanced and realistic picture of how medicine and society have abetted and thwarted each other ever since the lawyers behind the French Revolution banished the clergy and replaced them with doctors priests of the body Ranging from Charles Dickens to Oliver Sacks Anton Chekhov to Raymond Queneau Fanny Burney to Virginia Woolf Miguel Torga to Guido Ceronetti The Body in the Library is an anthology of poems stories journal entries Socratic dialogue table talk clinical vignettes aphorisms and excerpts written by doctor writers themselves Engaging and provocative philosophical and instructive intermittently funny and sometimes appalling this anthology sets out to stimulate and entertain With an acerbic introduction and witty contextual preface to each account it will educate both patients and doctors curious to know more about the historical dimensions of medical practice Armed with a first hand experience of liberal medicine and knowledge of several languages Iain Bamforth has scoured the literatures of Europe to provide a well rounded and cross cultural sense of what it means to be a doctor entering the twenty first century

Letters from Siberia, and Other Poems Roger Mitchell, 1971 Letters from Siberia Johann Erasmus August Carl Sievers, 2018 Chekhov's Letters Carol Apollonio, Radislav Lapushin, 2018-10-15 This collection examines the letters of Anton Chekhov which have received relatively little scholarly attention The contributors approach the letters from a variety of angles biography psychology literary criticism poetics and history to characterize Chekhov's key epistolary concerns and to examine their role in his life

Soviet SCI_BERIA Ksenia Tatarchenko, 2024-10-03 At first glance the Novosibirsk Scientific Center or Akademgorodok appears as an outlier in academic excellence This science city is renowned for a preeminent university dozens of research institutes and a thriving technopark At home it is an emblem of Russian innovation abroad it is often portrayed as a potential threat a breeding ground of cyber soldiers Though Siberia has been the main source of post 1991 Russian carbon revenues its soviet history and cold war legacy of internationalism demonstrates that territorial and scientific dimensions interlocked the moment the Siberian Branch of the Soviet Academy of Sciences was created in 1957 Drawing on a wide range of previously unexplored archives Soviet SCI_BERIA focuses on how the post Stalinist Siberia was redefined and represented through the ideal of rational development the late socialist innovation practices and the relationship between experts and the state It offers a fresh insight into the transition from Soviet to post Soviet Akademgorodok In doing so Tatarchenko not only fosters a conversation between history area studies and science studies but also sheds new light on Soviet modernity and the limits of its transformative projects

M. S. Lunin Glynn Barratt, 2019-05-20 No detailed description available for M S Lunin Soviet Russia, 1920 The Legacies of Soviet Repression and Displacement Samira Saramo, Ulla Savolainen, 2023-04-21 This book explores the ways in which memories of Stalin era repression and displacement manifest across times and places through diverse forms of materialization The chapters of the book explore the concrete mobilities of life stories letters memoirs literature objects and bodies reflecting

Soviet repression and violence across borders of geographical locations historical periods and affective landscapes These spatial temporal and psychological shifts are explored further as processes of textual circulation and mediation By offering novel multi sited and multi media analyses of the creative political societal cultural and intimate implications of remembrance the collection contributes fresh interdisciplinary perspectives to both the field of memory studies and the study of Soviet repression The case studies in this collection focus on the personal autobiographical and intimate representations experiences and practices related to the remembrance of Stalinist repression and displacement as they are mediated through memoirs fiction interviews and versatile commemorative practices Taken together the book asks what happens to memories life stories testimonies and experiences when they travel in time and space and between media and are re interpreted and re formulated through these transfers What kinds of memorial forms are gained through processes of mediation What types of spaces for remembering telling and feeling are created negotiated and contested through these shifts What are the boundaries and intersections of intimate familial community national and transnational memories By analytically contextualizing the various case studies within broader memory discourses in a range of geographical and political contexts the book offers rich and multilayered interpretations of the enduring ramifications of communist repression The collection demonstrates that these multiply moving memories not only reflect Eastern European memory culture but also reach far beyond and have transnational and transgenerational significance As such this timely book will be essential reading for anyone with an interest in the former Soviet Union or memory studies more broadly The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

An Accented Cinema Hamid Naficy,2018-06-05 In An Accented Cinema Hamid Naficy offers an engaging overview of an important trend the filmmaking of postcolonial Third World and other displaced individuals living in the West How their personal experiences of exile or diaspora translate into cinema is a key focus of Naficy's work Although the experience of expatriation varies greatly from one person to the next the films themselves exhibit stylistic similarities from their open and closed form aesthetics to their nostalgic and memory driven multilingual narratives and from their emphasis on political agency to their concern with identity and transgression of identity The author explores such features while considering the specific histories of individuals and groups that engender divergent experiences institutions and modes of cultural production and consumption Treating creativity as a social practice he demonstrates that the films are in dialogue not only with the home and host societies but also with audiences many of whom are also situated astride cultures and whose desires and fears the filmmakers wish to express Comparing these films to Hollywood films Naficy calls them accented Their accent results from the displacement of the filmmakers their alternative production modes and their style Accented cinema is an emerging genre one that requires new sets of viewing skills on the part of audiences Its significance continues to grow in terms of output stylistic variety cultural diversity and social impact This book offers the first comprehensive and global coverage of this genre while presenting a framework in which to understand its intricacies Official U.S. Bulletin ,1918
