Embracing Contraries

David Ehrenfeld

Embracing Contraries:

Embracing Contraries Peter Elbow, 1986 Peter Elbow's widely acclaimed and novel theories on the writing process set out in Writing without Teachers and Writing with Power have earned him the reputation of a leading innovator in the field. Now Elbow has drawn together twelve of his essays on the nature of learning and teaching which together form a comprehensive synthesis of his philosophy of education. At once theoretical and down to earth, this collection will appeal not only to teachers and students of education but to all those with a love of learning. What Elbow asks is natural in studying learning and teaching: What are our assumptions about how the mind ought to function in learning and teaching? Elbow explores the contraries in the educational process in particular his theory that clear thinking can be enhanced by inviting indecision, incoherence and paradoxical thinking. The essays written over a period of twenty-five years are engaged in a single enterprise to arrive at insights or conclusions about learning and teaching while still doing justice to the rich messiness of intellectual inquiry. Elbow discusses the value of interdisciplinary teaching, his theory of cooking as an interaction of conflicting ideas, the authority relationship in teaching and the value of specifying learning objectives. A full section is devoted to evaluation and feedback both of students and faculty. Finally, Elbow focuses on the need to move beyond the skepticism of critical thinking to what he calls methodological belief: an ability to embrace more than one point of view. About the Author: Peter Elbow is Director of the Writing Program at the State University of New York at Stony Brook. He has also taught at MIT, Franconia College, Evergreen State College and Wesleyan University. The famed innovator in writing instruction shares his philosophy of education. Everyone Can Write Peter Elbow, 2000-01-27. Writing without Teachers OUP 1975 and Writing with Power OUP 1995. Peter Elbow revolutionized the teaching of writing. His process method and its now commonplace free writing techniques liberated generations of students and teachers from the emphasis on formal principles of grammar that had dominated composition pedagogy. This new collection of essays brings together the best of Elbow's writing since the publication of Embracing Contraries in 1987. The volume includes sections on voice, the experience of writing, teaching and evaluation. Implicit throughout is Elbow's commitment to humanizing the profession and his continued emphasis on the importance of binary thinking and nonadversarial argument. The result is a compendium of a master teacher's thought on the relation between good pedagogy and good writing; it is sure to be of interest to all professional teachers of writing and will be a valuable book for use in composition courses at all levels. Vernacular Eloquence Peter Elbow, 2012-01-13. Since the publication of his groundbreaking books Writing Without Teachers and Writing with Power, Peter Elbow has revolutionized how people think about writing. Now in Vernacular Eloquence he makes a vital new contribution to both practice and theory. The core idea is simple: we can enlist virtues from the language activity most people find easiest (speaking) for the language activity most people find hardest (writing). Speech, with its spontaneity, naturalness of expression and fluidity of thought, has many overlooked linguistic and rhetorical merits. Through several easy-to-employ techniques, writers can marshal this wisdom of the tongue to produce stronger clearer more natural writing This simple idea it turns out has deep repercussions Our culture of literacy Elbow argues functions as though it were a plot against the spoken voice the human body vernacular language and those without privilege making it harder than necessary to write with comfort or power Giving speech a central role in writing overturns many empty preconceptions It causes readers to think critically about the relationship between speech writing and our notion of literacy Developing the political implications behind Elbow s previous books Vernacular Eloquence makes a compelling case that strengthening writing and democratizing it go hand in hand

A Pedagogy of Possibility Kay Halasek, 1999 In a book that itself exemplifies the dialogic scholarship it proposes Kay Halasek reconceives composition studies from a Bakhtinian perspective focusing on both the discipline s theoretical assumptions and its pedagogies Framing her discussions at every level of the discipline theoretical historical pedagogical Halasek provides an overview of portions of the Bakhtinian canon relevant to composition studies explores the implications of Mikhail Bakhtin s work in the teaching of writing and for current debates about the role of theory in composition studies and provides a model of scholarship that strives to maintain dialogic balance between practice and theory between composition studies and Bakhtinian thought Halasek s study ranges broadly across the field of composition painting in wide strokes a new picture of the discipline focusing on the finer details of the rhetorical situation and teasing out the implications of Bakhtinian thought for classroom practice by examining the nature of critical reading and writing the efficacy and ethics of academic discourse student resistance and critical and conflict pedagogy The book ends by setting out a pedagogy of possibility what Halasek terms elsewhere a post critical pedagogy that redefines and redirects current discussions of home versus academic literacies and discourses

Post-process Theory Thomas Kent, 1999 Breaking with the still dominant process tradition in composition studies post process theory or at least the different incarnations of post process theory discussed by the contributors represented in this collection of original essays endorses the fundamental idea that no codifiable or generalizable writing process exists or could exist Post process theorists hold that the practice of writing cannot be captured by a generalized process or a big theory Most post process theorists hold three assumptions about the act of writing writing is public writing is interpretive and writing is situated The first assumption is the commonsensical claim that writing constitutes a public interchange By interpretive act post process theorists generally mean something as broad as making sense of and not exclusively the ability to move from one code to another To interpret means more than merely to paraphrase it means to enter into a relationship of understanding with other language users And finally because writing is a public act that requires interpretive interaction with others writers always write from some position or some place Writers are never nowhere they are situated Leading theorists and widely published scholars in the field contributors are Nancy Blyler John Clifford Barbara Couture Nancy C DeJoy Sidney I Dobrin Elizabeth Ervin Helen Ewald David Foster Debra Journet Thomas Kent Gary A Olson Joseph Petraglia George Pullman David Russell and John Schilb

Ecological Ethics and the Philosophy of Simone Weil Kathryn Lawson,2024-05-13 This book places the philosophy of Simone Weil into conversation with contemporary environmental concerns in the Anthropocene The book offers a systematic interpretation of Simone Weil making her ethical philosophy more accessible to non Weil scholars Weil s work has been influential in many fields including politically and theologically based critiques of social inequalities and suffering but rarely linked to ecology Kathryn Lawson argues that Weil s work can be understood as offering a coherent approach with potentially widespread appeal applicable to our ethical relations to much more than just other human beings She suggests that the process of decreation in Weil is an expansion of the self which might also come to include the surrounding earth and a vast assemblage of others This allows readers to consider what it means to be human in this time and place and to contemplate our ethical responsibilities both to other humans and also to the more than human world Ultimately the book uses Weil s thought to decenter the human being by cultivating human actions towards an ecological ethics This book will be useful for Simone Weil scholars and academics as well as students and researchers interested in environmental ethics in departments of comparative literature theory and criticism philosophy and environmental studies For further discussion on the book please check out the following podcast and book launch links below <https://youtu.be/oOUEeSiMrh8> https://youtu.be/sIc1jIw_CW8 <https://youtu.be/xQPew4iK8vC3pnA> <https://youtu.be/jf12ZVRr3oY> <https://youtu.be/z7Z9xRdEn8fhaMGY>

Something Old, Something New Wendy Bishop, 1990-03-05 How do college writing teachers learn new ways to teach Most current composition research focuses almost exclusively on student writers ignoring the role the teacher plays in classroom development Here is the first book to focus on college writing teachers and the ways in which they are affected by graduate rhetoric pedagogy courses Wendy Bishop observed teachers enrolled in a doctoral seminar titled Teaching Basic Writing and then conducted case studies of five of those teachers in their college writing classrooms to investigate how their teaching practices changed and how their previous professional and personal histories influenced their ability to make those changes

Illegal Alphabets and Adult Biliteracy Tomás Mario Kalmar, 2015-03-02 How do illegal aliens chart the speech sounds of colloquial English This book is timeless in offering an unusually direct entry into how a group of Mexican fruit pickers analyze their first encounter with local American speech in a tiny rural Midwestern community in the United States Readers see close up how intelligently migrant workers help each other use what they already know the alphabetic principle of one letter one sound to teach each other from scratch at the very first contact a language which none of them can speak They see how and why the strategies adult immigrants actually use in order to cope with English in the real world seem to have little in common with those used in publicly funded bilingual and ESL classrooms What's new in this expanded edition of Tom's Mario Kalmar's landmark Illegal Alphabets and Adult Biliteracy are in depth commentaries from six distinguished scholars Peter Elbow Ofelia García James Paul Gee Herv Varenne Luis Vázquez León Karen Velasquez who

Teacher Evaluation Kenneth D. Peterson,2000-05-19 The original edition published in August 1995 challenges current teacher evaluation and school practice The book discusses stages of teacher choice teacher responsibilities for evaluation and suggests ways for teachers to become more involved and in control of their own evaluation Combining information and techniques from his academic studies and evaluation experiences Peterson presents a coherent field tested set of new practices for teacher evaluation The revised edition adds new chapters on the role of the principal in changed teacher evaluation how districts can transition from current practice to improved practices the use of national standards developments in using pupil achievement data and puts a new emphasis on developing sociologically The Internet as a resource for local development is encouraged 67 web sites are recommended as starting points New resources for local development have been added from extensive field testing and analysis forms have been improved and district level principles have been assembled Substantial material has been added on the topic of responding to deficient teacher practice Finally the research literature has been augmented Yoga Minds, Writing Bodies Christy I. Wenger,2015-05-01 This book argues for the inclusion of Eastern influenced contemplative education in writing studies as a means of exploring the active engagement writers maintain with their bodies throughout the composing process It explores how this engagement can be navigated by integrating yoga and mediation into the instruction and practice of writing Living in the Margins Terry A. Veling,2002-11-12 A gifted theologian sheds light on the meaning and value of intentional faith communities in the margins of parish life
