A Company of One Carrie M. Lane, 2011-03-15 Being laid off can be a traumatic event The unemployed worry about how they will pay their bills and find a new job In the American economy s boom and bust business cycle since the 1980s repeated layoffs have become part of working life In A Company of One Carrie M Lane finds that the new culture of corporate employment changes to the job search process and dual income marriage have reshaped how today s skilled workers view unemployment Through interviews with seventy five unemployed and underemployed high tech white collar workers in the Dallas area over the course of the 2000s Lane shows that they have embraced a new definition of employment in which all jobs are temporary and all workers are or should be independent companies of one Following the experiences of individual jobseekers over time Lane explores the central role that organized networking events working spouses and neoliberal ideology play in forging and reinforcing a new individualist pro market response to the increasingly insecure nature of contemporary employment She also explores how this new perspective is transforming traditional ideas about masculinity and the role of men as breadwinners Sympathetic to the benefits that this company of one ideology can hold for its adherents Lane also details how it hides the true costs of an insecure workforce and makes collective and political responses to job loss and downward mobility unlikely

High Tech and High Heels in the Global Economy Carla Freeman, 2000-03-15 High Tech and High Heels in the Global Economy is an ethnography of globalization positioned at the intersection between political economy and cultural studies Carla Freeman's fieldwork in Barbados grounds the processes of transnational capitalism production consumption and the crafting of modern identities in the lives of Afro Caribbean women working in a new high tech industry called informatics It places gender at the center of transnational analysis and local Caribbean culture and history at the center of global studies Freeman examines the expansion of the global assembly line into the realm of computer based work and focuses specifically on the incorporation of young Barbadian women into these high tech informatics jobs As such Caribbean women are seen as integral not simply to the workings of globalization but as helping to shape its very form Through the enactment of professionalism in both appearances and labor practices and by insisting that motherhood and work go hand in hand they re define the companies profile of ideal workers and create their own pink collar identities Through new modes of dress and imagemaking the informatics workers seek to distinguish themselves from factory workers and to achieve these new modes of consumption they engage in a wide array of extra income earning activities Freeman argues that for the new Barbadian pink collar workers the globalization of production cannot be viewed apart from the globalization of consumption In doing so she shows the connections between formal and informal economies and challenges long standing oppositions between first world consumers and third world producers as well as white collar and blue collar labor Written in a style that allows the voices of the pink collar workers to demonstrate the simultaneous burdens and pleasures of their work High Tech and High Heels in the Global Economy will appeal to scholars and students in a wide range of disciplines including anthropology cultural studies sociology women's studies political economy and Caribbean studies as well as labor and postcolonial studies

Cities, Classes, and the Social Order Anthony Lee, 2017-04-10 Cities Classes and the Social Order brings together nine conceptual and theoretical essays by the anthropologist Anthony Leeds 1925-1989 whose pioneering work in the anthropology of complex societies was built on formative personal and research experiences in both urban and rural settings in the United States Brazil Venezuela and Portugal Leeds brought to his anthropology a simultaneous concern for science and humanism and for explanation and interpretation He constructed a nuanced and intricate vision of the connections among ecology technology history evolution structure process power culture social organization and human creativity The essays in this book draw on his approach to demarcate the role of cities in human history the use and abuse of class analysis

the bases of power in complex societies and an agenda for ethnographic and social historical research in the contemporary world In addition to major but little known writings and an important essay on Marx here published for the first time in English a selection of Leeds's ethnographically and politically inspired poems are included as are several of his professionally exhibited photographs In addition introductory essays by R Timothy Sieber and Roger Sanjek chart the course of Leeds's career and the development of his theoretical viewpoint

In Gotham's Shadow Alexander R. Thomas, 2012-02-01 In what may be the first explicitly comparative study of the effects of globalization on metropolitan and rural communities In Gotham's Shadow examines how three central New York communities struggled over the last half century to survive in a global economy that seems to have forgotten them Utica formerly a city of one hundred thousand experienced the same trends of suburbanization deindustrialization and urban renewal as nearly every American city with the same mixed results In Cooperstown and Hartwick two small villages forty miles south of Utica the same trends were at work though with different outcomes Hartwick may be seen as an example of how small towns have lost their core while Cooperstown may be seen as an example of how a small town can survive by transforming itself into a tourist destination Thomas provides extensive historical background mixed with newspaper excerpts and lively interviews that add a human dimension to the transformations these communities have experienced

Rethinking the Labour Movement in the 'New South Africa' Franco Barchiesi, 2019-01-15 Title first published in 2003 In recognition of the power of organised labour the ANC Government elected in 1994 granted South Africa's unions unprecedented legal and constitutional rights Despite these gains the country's unions have faced a fresh set of challenges many of them emanating from their political allies in Government From Parliament to the factory floor South Africa's unions are now confronted with threats as dangerous as those they confronted when organising illegally in the heyday of apartheid The purpose of this book is to examine how South African unions have responded and how well prepared they are to meet the challenges that confront them in the new millennium

Metal Fatigue Robert Forrant, Charles Levenstein, John Wooding, 2017-03-02 On February 4 1986 the lives of thousands of workers changed in ways they could only begin to imagine On that day United Technologies Corporation ordered the closure of the 76 year old American Bosch manufacturing plant in Springfield Massachusetts capping a nearly 32 year history of job loss and work relocation from the sprawling factory The author a former Bosch worker and the business agent for the union representing nearly 1 200 Bosch employees when the plant closed interjects his personal recollections into the story For more than 150 years Springfield stood at the center of a prosperous 200 mile industrial corridor along the Connecticut River between Bridgeport Connecticut and Springfield Vermont populated with hundreds of machine tool and metalworking plants and thousands of workers This book is a historical account of the profound economic collapse of the Connecticut River Valley region with a particular focus on Bosch its workers and its union The shutdown is placed in the context of the wider region's deindustrialization The closure marked the watershed for large firm metalworking and metalworking unions in the Connecticut River Valley The book also describes how the United States in a ten year period from the mid 1970s to the mid 1980s went from being the world's leading exporter of machine tools to its leading importer and how that sharp decline affected the region's leading city Springfield Massachusetts which by 2005 was in danger of bankruptcy Exit Zero Christine J. Walley, 2013-01-17

Interweaving personal narratives and family photos with a nuanced assessment of the social impacts of deindustrialization in Chicago Exit Zero is one part memoir and one part ethnography providing a much needed female and familial perspective on cultures of labour and their decline Critical Junctions Don Kalb, Herman Tak, 2005 A book about theory and method in the humanities and social sciences It reacts to what has become known as the cultural turn a shift toward semiotics discourse and representations and away from other sorts of determinations that started in the early 1980s and that has dominated social thinking for a long string of years The book is based in a reconsideration of the meeting of two disciplines that helped to launch the cultural turn anthropology and history Specifically it criticizes the ideas of hermeneutics and thick description Clifford Geertz that have come to play a key role in the encounter of anthropology and history and then in the cultural turn It led to the renewed cherishing of what Gupta and Ferguson have called paradigms of peoples and places saturated pictures of universes both small and large of meaning in a more or less frozen standstill an intellectual precursor to the cultural xenophobia of our times Against this the present book embraces praxis and critical junctions the connections in space in and out of a relations of power and dependency and what Eric Wolf has called the interstitial relations between apparently separate institutional domains In this way the book adds to the current revival of institutionally based global ethnography which studies up and outward the journal of Ethnography is a good example Preface , Cultural Anthropology John H. Bodley, 2011-04-16 This introductory text introduces basic concepts in cultural anthropology by comparing cultures of increasing scale and focusing on specific universal issues throughout human history Cultural materials are presented in integrated ethnographic case studies organized by cultural and geographic areas to show how ideological social organization and material features fit together in specific sociocultural systems Bodley explicitly seeks a balance between ecological materialist and cultural ideological explanations of sociocultural systems while stressing the importance of individual power seeking and human agency Part One examines domestic scale autonomous tribal cultures Part Two presents politically organized class based civilizations and ancient empires in the imperial world Part Three surveys global industrial market based civilizations in the contemporary commercial world Cultural Anthropology uniquely challenges students to consider the big questions about the nature of cultural systems Crisis of the State Bruce Kapferer, Bjørn Enge Bertelsen, 2009

Analyzing both historical contexts and geographical locations this volume explores the continuous reformation of state power and its potential in situations of violent conflict The state otherwise understood as an abstract and transcendent concept in many works on globalization in political philosophy is instead located and analyzed here as an embedded part of lived reality This relationship to the state is exposed as an integral factor to the formation of the social whether in Africa the Middle East

South America or the United States Through the examination of these particular empirical settings of war or war like situations the book further argues for the continued importance of the state in shifting social and political circumstances In doing so the authors provide a critical contribution to debates within a broad spectrum of fields that are concerned with the future of the state the nature of sovereignty and globalization From Steel to Slots Chloe E. Taft,2016-04-06 Bethlehem PA was synonymous with steel But after the factories closed the city bet its future on casino gambling Chloe Taft describes a city struggling to make sense of the ways global capitalism transforms jobs landscapes and identities While residents often have few cards to play the shape economic progress takes is not inevitable Reading the Bible in an Age of Crisis Bruce Worthington,2015 We live in an age in which economic ecological and political crises are not the exception but the rule The Cold War polarities that shaped an earlier political exegesis have been replaced Bruce Worthington argues that increasingly crisis is the engine of a global turbo capitalism In this volume edited by Worthington biblical scholars and activists describe and exemplify the shape of a biblical interpretation that takes contemporary crisis seriously as its most important context Succinct opening essays summarize the salient aspects of our critical situation especially in relation to the dominance of capitalism and its pervasive values in later parts contributions address themes of economic political and environmental crisis in dialogue with texts from the First and Second Testaments Throughout the volume the authors are careful to describe the basis for making interpretive analogies across historical cultural and socioeconomic distances between the world of the Hebrew Bible the New Testament and our own Richard A Horsley writes a postscript pointing to next steps in political interpretation Growing Up Fast Joanna Lipper,2015-06-02 Growing Up Fast tells the life stories of Shayla Jessica Amy Colleen Liz and Sheri six teen mothers whom Joanna Lipper first met in 1999 when they were enrolled at the Teen Parent Program in Pittsfield Massachusetts Less than a decade older than these teen parents she was able to blend into the fabric of their lives and make a short documentary film about them Over the course of the next four years she continued to earn their trust as they shared with her the daily reality of their lives and their experiences growing up in the economically depressed post industrial landscape of Pittsfield Massachusetts Theory Construction and Model-Building Skills James Jaccard,Jacob Jacoby,2020-02-06 This book provides young scientists with tools to assist them in the practical aspects of theory construction We take an informal journey through the cognitive heuristics tricks of the trade and ways of thinking that we have found to be useful in developing theories essentially conceptualizations that can advance knowledge in the social sciences This book is intended to provide the instructor with a useful source for helping students come up with ideas for research and for fine tuning the resultant theories that emerge from such thinking An objective of this book is to move toward a needed balance in the emphases given to theory construction and theory testing More Than Class Ann E. Kingsolver,1998-04-02 More Than Class examines the changing texture of power relations in U S workplaces focusing on sites ranging from security booths to bedrooms to mining shafts rather than the traditional shop floor The contributors see class analysis as a powerful tool for thinking about and addressing inequalities at the core of U S economic and social organization They also take a look at ways to use new approaches e g analysis of the intersections of identity and empowerment or disempowerment through constructions of race ethnicity and gender to study subtle and not so subtle power relations in workplaces
